Davis for Dry Law Enforcement

Today

A Quiet May Day.
Russia, Italy, Peace.
Workers Live Longer.
She Pays Her Way.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IT IS WISE not to sit on the safety valve. Yesterday New York's "patriots" had their parade, and the "Reds," or radicals, had theirs, with no interference by the police. There had been no violence when this was written at 4 o'clock yesterday.

Let men talk and print, and they will be contented. Forbid them to talk, and they'll do something worse.

VERY PATHETIC in New York's radical parade were the young children, some only five or six years old, parading in dusty streets under a hot sun.

Nothing is to be gained by exhibiting children. Well meaning fathers and mothers would have been wiser had they sent them to play in the parks, while their fathers and mothers paraded.

YESTERDAY WAS a calm May Day everywhere. In London, Budapest, Vienna, Berlin, big parades were all peaceful.

Needless to say Italy was quiet. Mussolini wouldn't let it be otherwise. May Day celebrations took the form of religious festivals.

WHILE IT LASTS, dictatorship seems the simplest form of government. Everything is peaceful in Russia where everybody is radical. Russia has a dictator.

Everything is peaceful in Italy where nobody is allowed to be radical.

Italy has a dictator.

IN RUSSIA, reversing the theories of Karl Marx, and managed by extremely able men, the people are quiet, obedient.

In Italy, where Karl Marx would not be publicly mentioned, a nation, naturally radical, is told that there has been too much talk about liberty, and people are obedient.

The question is "HOW LONG?"

A Frenchman, falling from the twentieth story, is said to have remarked as he passed the tenth floor:

"It's all right as long as it lasts."

How long will it last?

A REPORT PUBLISHED by Mr. Frederick H. Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, concerning 19,000,000 industrial policy holders in the United States and Canada, shows that workers are living longer than they used to.

Thanks to science and prosperity the death rate among wage earners has diminished. Mr. Ecker's statistical bureau shows a new low death rate of 9.4 per 1,000 during March.

More adults that live, fewer babies that die is a good program.

MRS. RUTH HANNA McCORMICK believes in paying her own bills. You cannot say as much of all male politicians.

Fighting for the senatorial nomination in Illinois, she spent $257,[illegible]2.00, all her OWN MONEY. Other funds spent in the campaign came from close relatives.

Those that vote for Mrs. McCormick this fall will know that they are voting not for the nominee of any corporation, but for a woman who pays her own way in politics, and sets a good example.

YOU MAY SAY it is outrageous to spend so much in a primary campaign. So it is. But it was not spent, in this case, for bribery of voters.

An expensive primary is better than the old-fashioned convention, with bosses of both parties appointing the nominees of both parties, in obedience to corporations controlling both parties.

ENGLAND, FRANCE and Belgium have reduced the rediscount rate, which means that you can get money more cheaply there.

You could get it in Paris under 4 per cent while American buyers of stocks were paying 15 per cent.

Our Federal Reserve reduces its rediscount rate in the New York district to 3 per cent.

"CALL MONEY," with which stocks are bought, will be cheap for the present.

Nevertheless, stocks were weak yesterday.

Some apparently were wise enough to know that even cheap money is dear, if you use it to gamble.

Six months ago, 3 per cent call money would have meant 10,000,000 share days on the stock exchange.

THE WESTERN WORLD will hear with regret of another earthquake in Tokio, unusually strong.

Japan is on the edge of a gigantic submarine canyon, deepest in the Pacific Ocean. Frequent ocean landslides explain the earthquakes that have numbered as many as 1,500 in one year. The courage of the Japanese is admirable.

THE PRICE OF sugar for future delivery sold yesterday at the lowest price on record since the Civil War, raw sugar selling for 1.53 cents a pound. Sugar men are worried about the tariff here and in Great Britain.

PROHIBITION VIEWS BACK HOOVER

Questoinnaire Reveals Stand As Labor Secretary Flies Here for Meeting Tonight

Secretary of Labor Davis let it be known today that he was heartily in favor of law enforcement and supports the views of President Hoover on prohibition.

The secretary's stand was taken in answer to a questionnaire sent him by the Pittsburgh chapter of the Crusaders' Anti-Prohibition organization.

Davis' answer, as announced today by B. A. Thomas, organizer for the Crusaders, said:

"There never should be any doubt as to my stand on the Prohibition question. I was a delegate to the Kansas City convention which nominated Mr. Hoover for the Presidency. At that time I pledged myself to support Mr. Hoover and his administration. I was honored by selection to Mr. Hoover's cabinet. I am still a member of that cabinet. I have been a member of the cabinets of two other presidents, neither of

PINCHOT ISSUES DEFI TO BROWN

Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot today broadcast over KDKA a reply to charges made by his opponent, Francis Shunk Brown, that Pinchot inferentially, was a "fakir, mountebank and a charlatan." Pinchot invited Brown to repudiate allegely crooked political leaders in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia who are supporting Brown for governor.

Pinchot said:

"Francis Shunk Brown charges me, without mentioning my name, with being a fakir, mountebank and a charlatan, as well as a man without honor and without shame. All of this is on account of a statement and a question, for both of which I am responsible.

ISSUES CHALLENGE

"The statement was that I was filled with indignation (and I am still) over Mr.

M'DERMOTT OVERCOME BY TROOPS

Mellett Slayer in Solitary For Hurling Bricks; Prison Enlivened by Outbreaks

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., May 2.—Pat McDermott, serving a life term for the murder of Don Mellett, Canton newspaper editor, was seized by National Guardsmen and thrown into solitary confinement today as sporadic flareups enlivened military rule at Ohio State Penitentiary today.

McDermott, one of 600 "hard-boiled" mutineers confined in the barbed wire stockade in the prison yard, was caught in the act of hurling bricks at other convicts at work nearby.

OVERPOWERED BY TROOPS

As the troops rushed up and overpowered him, McDermott cried out:

"Don't throw me back in the hole (solitary confinement). You'll have to kill me first."

A bayonetted gun at his ribs, McDermott was led to a cell and put in solitary.

Convicts quartered in the stockade had been throwing bricks in furtive fashion. McDermott was the first one caught.

PLATES PELT GUARDS

Plates were thrown at prison guards in the mess hall at breakfast. The culprits were not caught.

A .45-caliber automatic revolver was filched from a National Guardsman's holster. This was causing Col. Robert Haubrich, commanding the troops, some concern. The colonel said many of the prisoners "are still sullen and stubborn."

Deputy Warden J. C. Woodard said several other prisoners also had been put in solitary confinement for infractions of the prison rules.

SEVERAL AT LIBERTY

Woodard also expressed the opinion that several prisoners escaped aster the disastrous fire of the night of April 21 when 320 convicts lost their lives. He added

South Hills Community Increases 500 Per Cent; Nearby Districts Report

Census figures for nine Allegheny County districts, announced today, show gains in every case.

With an increase in its population of almost 500 per cent, Mt. Lebanon Township was reported as the most rapidly growing suburb of Pittsburgh and one of the largest home owning communities in the country. With one small district missing the population is 12,200 against 2,258 in 1920.

The figures were announced by A. D. Levy, supervisor of the Thirteenth Pennsylvania census district.

Coraopolis borough showed an increase of 73.8 per cent with returns of 10,715 against 6,162 in 1920.

Other returns are: Carnegie, 12,548 against 11,516 in 1920; Dormont, 13,139 against 6,455; McKees Rocks, 18,242 against 16,713; Stowe Township, 13,216 against 10,665; Scott Township, 6,213 against 4,927, and Etna, 7,492 against 6,341.

McKeesport's population increased 16 per cent.

The present population is 54,443 as compared with 46,781 in 1920, according to the enumerator's tabulations.

Second only to Pittsburgh among the municipalities of Allegheny County, McKeesport ranks at the top of third-class cities in Southwestern Pennsylvania.

Steady growth in the last decade is attributed to consistent industrial development of the district.

DEATH TOLL 24 IN TORNADOES

Twenty-four persons were reported killed today as middle and northern states took toll of damage done by sporadic tornadoes which struck nine different states last night and early today.

In addition to these deaths, six persons are reported missing and are believed dead. Scores of persons are injured.

Seven persons were killed in Missouri and one was killed in Kansas by the storm. Norborne, Mo., was the town hardest hit, with four persons killed and at least 15 injured. Three persons were killed at Hardin, Mo., by the twister.

At Kickapoo, Kan., Lawrence Kern was killed when the cyclone picked him up and hurled him through the air for more than a mile.

Two men were killed, several persons were injured, and damage estimated at $150,000 was wrought in the Chicago area.

Mrs. Louis Bishop was killed and eight persons, including a family of seven, badly injured near Russell, Ia.

A farm home near Valley Falls, Kan., was blown away and five

Aide Sues Langdon For Part of Profits

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 2.—(INS.)—A suit to collect $3,412 was on file here today against Harry Langdon, screen comedian. William H. Jenner, Langdon's former business manager, was the complainant.

Jenner was employed at salary of $500 a week, according to the complaint. He was also to receive a percentage of the profits from the motion pictures in which Langdon took part. The complaint alleges that the salary was paid, but not the percentages.

Army Flier Missing, Feared Storm Victim

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., May 2.—(INS.)—Fear was entertained today for the safety of Lieut. Richard E. Cobb, 10 hours overdue on a flight from Scott Field at Belleville, Ill., to Selfridge Field, near this city.

Cobb may have been caught in storms of cyclonic violence raging over the state last night. He took off from Scott Field at 4 p. m. yesterday and was due at Selfridge at 9 o'clock last night. No plane had arrived this morning.

BLUE LAW POLL EXTENDED

The Blue Law poll of Pittsburgh by the Sun-Telegraph is extended today to the East End, Lawrenceville, Butler street and Morningside districts as the work of preparation and mailing is speeded up by a larger clerical staff.

The second group of ballots is consigned to registered voters of the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh wards, under the plan of canvassing one-fourth of the districts of each ward before commencing the cycle anew for each of the remaining quarters.

PIRATES RELY ON KREMER

Back in second place, a few degrees below the Giants, the Pirates today were anxious for revenge on the lively Braves of Boston, who pushed the home boys off their perch yesterday.

Manager Ens will use Remy Kremer on the mound this afternoon. Willie McKechnie, the new skipper of the Braves, will rely upon Ben Cantwell, a young righthander.

Walter Berger, a newcomer from the Coast League, hit a pair of homers over the left field wall to give the Braves their victory yesterday. Flip Neun also connected for a homer, the Boston victory carrying a 4 to 3 score.

Larry French pitched runless ball for six frames and then faltered. Glenn Spencer finished. Harry Seibold traveled the distance for the Braves.

Burleigh Grimes will oppose his former pals tomorrow, according to an announcement made by Manager McKechnie.

Paddock Declares He And Girl Parted

WABASH, Ind., May 2.—(AP.)—Charles W. Paddock, sprint star, who was in this city last night to deliver a lecture, said that he and Miss Madeline Lubetty, who has filed suit against him in New York, charging breach of promise, had meet in California last October and had decided it would be best for them to remain "just friends."

The sprinter said he could say nothing more concerning the suit. Any further statement must come, he said, from his New York attorney.

George Beeks, Rail Builder, Dies at 72

TORONTO, May 2.—(AP.)—George Beeks, railroad builder in the United States and Canada, is dead at 72. He laid the rails for the Michigan Central, from New York to Chicago and the Illinois Central, from Chicago to New Orleans, and had just finished for the Canadian government the laying of tracks for a rail outlet to Hudson Bay in Northern Manitoba.

A letter he left stipulated no public announcement of his death should be made and no obituaries published.

Pre-War Liquor Has Woman Puzzled

RALEIGH, N. C., May 2.—(AP.)—In one cellar in town are 120 quarts of pre-war bottled in bond and the owner does not know what to do with it. A lawyer revealed the fact without disclosing the name of his client other than that she is a widow whose son was killed in the war. Before entering the service the son shipped the liquor to his mother's home. The lawyer told her possession was legal.

President Requests $6,000,000 Funds

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—President Hoover called upon Congress today to make available quickly almost $6,000,000 to cover deficiencies in government departments. Of this $250,000 is for the law enforcement commission's expenses.

Radio Man, Navigator, Pilot, Lindy Whole Crew

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—To his other accomplishments, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has added that of radio operator.

On his way today from Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, with the first seven-day northbound airmail from Buenos Aires on the Pan-American Airways, the colonel tapped out himself the 10:10 a. m. (E. S. T.) position of his plane.

The message said:

"10:10 a. m. dead reckoning position 19 degrees, 38 minutes north, 82 degrees 44 minutes west.

"Lindbergh."

Then the following message from the regular radio operator, B. A. Denickey:

"The colonel reported yesterday afternoon that he could send about 15 words a minute and receive about 10, so today he decided to try it out over our system personally."

The colonel now is a one-man flying crew—being pilot, navigator and radio operator.

"Lindbergh undoubtedly was taught the international code while a student at Kelly Field several years ago, but so far as known had not used his knowledge for some time."

MIAMI, May 2.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Havana at 12:50 p. m. (E. S. T.), after a flight of five hours and 55 minutes from Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, according to a message received by the Pan-American Airways here.

The distance of 638 miles was accomplished at an average speed of approximately 108 miles an hour.

ANTI'S NOTE READ INTO RECORD

Lobby Investigators Shown Republican 'Liquor Bill;' Testimony Worries Davis

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 2—President Hoover was charged with being politically dry "as a matter of vote-getting" in a letter written by Capt. William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, read into the record of the Senate lobby investigating committee today.

The letter, sent to Herbert L. Clark, of Philadelphia, read in part:

"From what I hear, Mr. Hoover has made up his mind that the drys are of that temperament which impels them to somewhat fanatically regard the wet-and-dry issue as being superior to all questions of government and of morals, and consequently a dry will always scratch from the ticket a man who does not do lip service to the dry cause.

"At the same time, Mr. Hoover, I learn, believes that the wets are of a different temperament and he thinks that he can get votes from the wets without espousing their cause and that, therefore, as a matter of vote-getting, he had better take the dry side.

"If he were sincerely a dry, one might hope to convince him by argument or statement of facts, but as I know that he is not at heart a dry, I fear I must approach the conclusion that he is a dry because of the prospective profit in votes and nothing that has to go with right and wrong or with facts will make any impression upon him."

"BILL FOR LIQUOR"

At today's session of the inquiry Caraway produced a liquor bill found in Stayton's files for a banquet given former Senator James W. Wadsworth (Rep.), of New York, in April, 1928, at the University Club, Baltimore, when Wadsworth was a member of the Senate. Stayton said he knew nothing about it.

The dinner, it developed later on questions by Senator Blaine, (R.) of Wisconsin, anti-dry, was to celebrate the nomination of President Hoover, and Wadsworth was the principal speaker.

Stayton said he had no knowledge liquor was served because he was ill, and did not go.

THREAT OF BULLETS

Senator Robinson (R.), of Indiana, a dry, read an extract from a pamphlet written by Arthur W. Machen, Jr., of Baltimore, to the Maryland member of the association.

It read:

"If the dry tyranny is not overthrown by ballots now it is bound to be destroyed by bullets hereafter. The patriot must be up and stirring while peaceful means are still possible."

Machen's pamphlet was dated January 30 of this year.

"Is that your opinion?" Robinson asked.

"That is a strong statement and I would not have made it," replied Stayton.

DAVIS PERTURBED

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who is opposing Senator Joseph R. Grundy (Rep.) in Pennsylvania's senatorial primaries, was unsuccessful today in an attempt to have the records of the Senate Lobby Committee changed to refer to him as "hardly" an anti-prohibitionist.

Senator Caraway (Dem.), Arkansas, the chairman, told Capt. Stayton that a friend of the Secretary had asked him if Stayton did not want to alter his testimony.

Stayton replied he included Davis among the six members of the Hoover cabinet "who believe the prohibition law is a failure," but conceded that Davis is "hardly anti-dry, personally."

The testimony Davis sought to change was Stayton's reply to a question of the committee yesterday if he considered "Davis anti-dry."

The witness said, "Yes, sir," then changed it to "hardly."

Davis' "friend" had asked that the words "yes, sir" be deleted, but the record remained unchanged.

$162, Minus $100 Fine —Lottery Profit, $62

Ezekial Moon, Negro, arrested writing clearing house lottery numbers, was fined $100 in East End Police Court today—which leaves him a balance of $62, for, he told police, he was arrested five minutes after he had "hit" the lottery for $162.

British Embassy to Resume Rum Use Under Lindsay

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—Officials of the British embassy said that importation of liquor by the embassy for the official and personal use of the ambassador and the embassy staff, stopped some months ago by the former ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, before his retirement, is to be resumed.

One of the first questions asked the new ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, on his arrival in New York from England to assume his post at Washington was what his attitude would be on the question of the use of liquor at the British embassy here. He was not prepared to make a reply at the time, but now has reached the conclusion the matter is entirely a personal one, not affecting the action of anyone else or diplomatic privilege.

Therefore, embassy officials said, importation of liquor into the United States for the use of the ambassador and the members of the embassy staff will be resumed.

Liquor will be served at social functions given by the ambassador in the embassy on any such occasions as he may desire in accordance with the custom which has prevailed heretofore.

HYDE FOR NEW POWER BOARD

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde advocated a new independent organization to regulate the nation's power resources today before the House Interstate Commerce committee.

The proposed agency would supplant the Federal Power Commission, now composed ex-officio of the secretaries of agriculture, interior and war.

The secretary said it was vitally necessary for Congress to provide for an independent commission that could deal with the power problem.

It was impossible, he added, for the present commission to give detailed attention to the work.

DELAY SOUGHT IN PARKER VOTE

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS.)—Administration leaders, apparently believing the Senate is prepared to refuse confirmation of Judge John J. Parker as an associate Supreme Court Justice, today sought to postpone the final vote until next week.

All indications point to rejection of Parker if the vote is taken today, although the nominee's fate actually rested in the hands of eight Senators now classed as "doubtful." The men who can either confirm or reject Parker by their votes were Black, Brock, Connally, Sheppard and Tydings, Democrats; Jones, McMaster and Thomas, Idaho, Republicans. All had been classed as anti-Parker but administration leaders insisted most of them would vote for his confirmation.

Because of the Senate fight over Parker, President Hoover this morning decided to postpone until tomorrow his departure for a week-end of fishing at the Rapidan Camp.

WHALEN PAPERS CHARGE RED PLOTS IN U.S.

Phostats of Documents Seized by N.Y. Police, Held Forgeries by Communists

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—Police Commissioner Whalen today made public photostats of Russian documents seized by his secret police which he declared showed the Communist International of Moscow was directly responsible for the fomenting of strikes and riots in the United States.

There are references in the documents to expenditures for outbreaks and support of strikers.

30 NAMES LISTED

One of the documents is on the letterhead of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, official purchasing agent in the United States for the Soviet government.

This letter lists the names of 30 men and women sent to New York by Moscow as being hard to replace and states that the recall of any one of them might result in a serious handicap in the work.

CHARGES DENIED

Commissioner Whalen said the list of 30 names includes that of one Delgass, whom he described as the most dangerous of the undercover criminal secret police of Moscow and one time personal secretary to Dzerginsky, organizer of the Russian Cheka.

The Amtorg corporation promptly branded Whalen's "documents" forgeries. Boris E. Skvirsky, director of the Soviet Information Bureau at Washington, made a similar statement.

Government Won't Bother Peaceful Communists

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS.)—Justice and labor department officials declared today that unless Communists actually violate Federal laws the government will not take any action against them.

Robe Carl White, assistant secretary of labor, said that so far as the department was informed the Amtorg Association was conducting a legitimate business and its agents were legally in this country.

"We must have direct evidence of violation of the immigration laws before we can deport anyone," White said. "Photostat copies cannot be used as evidence in court proceedings involving deportation."

Jurcak was struck on the head, his body thrown to a railroad track and run over by a train.

Hospital Contract Awarded at $90,000

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 2.—Paving the way for the erection of a $175,000 addition to the City Hospital, the trustees awarded a general contract to Carl Shimp, of Wheeling, W. Va., on his bid of $90,450. The William Clark Company of New Castle, Pa., submitted a low bid of $30,950 for the ventilating.

Suspect Captured In Triple Slaying

MODESTO, Cal., May 2.—(AP.)—Object of a four-day hunt as the suspected slayer of three ranch hands, Charles Wiley, alias Charles Dodge, was captured at Crows Landing, near here, early today. Officers who arrested Wiley said he had confessed killing Jack Murphy, Deloice C. Fultz and Joseph Barton in a ranch cabin last Monday morning.

ELECTION TEST HOLDS COUNTY BAR BODY

Opposition for President Develops First Time in 60 Years; Factions Active

For the first time in the 60 years of its existence the Allegheny County Bar Association has a contest on for the presidency.

Vice President Arthur M. Scully is the "logical" candidate for the chief executive office. If custom were followed he would be elected without opposition. But an insurgent group has taken the field and nominated John A. Laughlin, dean of the Duquesne University law school, for the position.

SPIRITED CANVASS

The insurgents call themselves the "proletariat" and the "lowbrows" and their opponents the "aristocracy" and the "highbrows."

A spirited canvass of the 1,500 or more members of the association is being conducted by both sides. The election will be held late today.

There are two candidates for the vice presidency—William F. Stadtlander and John O. Frazer, a son of Supreme Court Justice Robert S. Frazer. It has been the custom since the association organized in 1870 for the vice president to succeed to the presidency, and it is in the election of the vice president that there has usually been a contest.

Harry G. Tinker, the secretary, is a candidate for re-election, without opposition.

TEN CANDIDATES

For five places on the executive committee there are 10 candidates—John G. Buchanan, William H. McNaugher, James H. Duff, Louis Caplan, Thomas Marshall, Roy G. Bostwick, T. F. Ryan, Lawrence D. Blair, Maurice Chaitkin and John O. Wicks.

Three trustees are to be elected, and there are but three candidates—Edwin W. Smith, William S. Dalzell and Joseph Stadfeld.

DRIVER CAUGHT WITH GUN

Ernest Firestone, 36, a taxi driver, of 621 Seagirt street, was arrested at Sixth avenue and William Penn way, police say, for brandishing a revolver. Police picked him up when he attracted a crowd, and lodged him in Central Station on a charge of being a suspicious person.

When he was unable to produce a drivers' license Kenneth McLain, 26, of 56 Olivia street, a taxicab driver was arrested at Sixth avenue and Grant street today. His taxi collided with an automobile. He was charged with violating the automobile laws.

Believing he was to be attacked by occupants of three automobiles who followed him to Rebles who followed him to Rebels' Corner, near Perrysville, a Yellow Cab driver appealed to the state highway patrolmen yesterday. When police arrived they found the machine surrounded by a curious crowd.

After patrolmen had dispersed the crowd the driver proceeded with his fare to West View. The cab had been engaged in Pittsburgh by a man who asked to be driven to West View. En route, the driver observed three machines following and believing himself about to be attacked, decided to drive on until he could find aid. At Rebels' Corner he telephoned to police. No trace could be found of the occupants of the machines.

KIDNAPED MAN'S KIN GUARDED

CHICAGO, May 2.—(INS.)—Police today guarded the wife and children of Angelo Gerbanas, warehouse owner, who was kidnaped Monday from the courtroom of Judge John Sbarbaro when he appeared to testify against three alleged safe-blowers.

Gerbanas had started toward the bench to offer his testimony against three defendants when he suddenly disappeared. Courtroom attendants recall seeing two men seated beside Gerbanas who looked like gangsters.

The three defendants—Michael Gallicho, Joe Muscato and Sam Lasasso—are charged with robbing the safe in Gerbanas' warehouse.

nue, Hill and Oakland districts. Approximately 10,000 ballots have been addressed to voters in these sections who registered last fall.

The Blue Law poll is in marked contrast to polls previously conducted by the Sun-Telegraph in Pittsburgh, Allegheny County and Pennsylvania, and conducted otherwise through the nation. Those have been straw vote polls, with indications based on returns yielded by a substantial proportion of the voting population.

The straw vote polls of Pennsylvania in the presidential campaign of 1928 and of Pittsburgh in the mayoralty campaign last year, conducted by the Sun-Telegraph, were remarkably accurate, the winner and his ratio of the total vote being indicated almost exactly in each case.

FIRST COMPLETE CANVASS

In the Blue Law poll, ballots are mailed to every registered voter in each election district of the city as it is embraced in the poll, the first time that a complete canvass of citizens eligible to vote has been conducted in this city.

The same safeguards of secrecy and impartiality have been thrown about the Blue Law poll. The three questions balloted upon, the continuance, modification or repeal of the Blue Laws, afford each voter an opportunity to register his sentiment. To vote it is merely necessary that the citizen mark a cross opposite one question only and detach and mail the ballot half of the postcard, the return postage being paid.

Merely Tasting Beer Held Reckless; Girl Fined

EVANSTON, Ill., May 2.—(AP.)—The beer out here is very potent, said Magistrate Barber to Miss Helen Lynch yesterday.

The charge of reckless driving against her was regarded by Miss Lynch as "ridiculous."

"Why," she said, "I had only one small glass of beer."

"You mean to say," interrupted Prosecutor Stolle, "that you consumed a glass— an entire glass—of beer? Why, that makes a complete case against you. A whole glass of beer—an automobile—reckless driving. It's an inevitable combination."

"That is correct," said the court, fining Miss Lynch $100. "Any person who drinks as much as a teaspoonful of the beer now in circulation hereabouts is reckless, very very reckless."

PERIL PAST, HOOVER ASSERTS

Delegates to National Commerce Session Hear Plan to Prevent Panics

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—America's men of affairs in the world of commerce and industry were on their way home from Washington today, bearing with them a program of stiff further economic tasks imposed by President Hoover.

The chief executive brought the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce to a close last night with the assurance that the nation has weathered the storm of last fall's stock market crash, but he told the industrial leaders that every one of the agencies and forces set up in the "great economic experiment" must be maintained with unrelenting pressure for some time.

LISTS FIVE POINTS

At the same time, Hoover gave the departing delegates food for thought by calling attention to five points in the national economic structure which the depression had shown to be weak, and in need of prompt attention. He promised "when the situation clears a little," to organize a body representative of business, economics, labor and agriculture, to undertake their closer examinations.

The new-found needs, born of the experiences of the last six months, the President listed as follows:

1. A method of accurately and comprehensively gauging unemployment at all times.

2. Provision of adequate agencies to place the unemployed in touch with possible jobs.

3. A more thorough consideration of the so-called "technological unemployment" problem, brought about by the advance of scientific research, the simplicity of inventions and increasing efficiency of business.

4. Assurance of a steady flow of capital to the home builder—something to be worked out by the great loan associations.

5. An exhaustive review of the whole bearing of interest rates upon speculation and stable production.

FIGURES AS BAROMETER

Conclusive employment figures, available from month to month, Hoover pointed out, would serve as barometer which would forecast far in advance the coming of any such depression as was climaxed last fall.

Taking note of the great diminution of residential construction while all other forms are booming ahead, the executive declared that, from a social point of view, the maintenance of an unimpeded flow of capital to home builders was "one of the most vital segments of credit."

RECRUITS RUSH TO GANDHI

LONDON, May 2.—(AP.)—Plans for Mahatma Gandhi to lead his civil disobedience movement personally in Bombay if 100,000 followers can be assured him were regarded here today as portending possibly the most serious developments of the present unrest.

While there has been no act tending to confirm published statements yesterday that arrest of the leader was imminent, there was general opinion that the government could not hold its hand much longer if the Mahatma persists in this intention.

Gandhi has thousands of followers in Bombay already enrolled, with recruits coming in constantly.

In Gujerat, Gandhi now is making definite appeals to the Moslems to join the cause and help the fight against the salt tax, drink and to promote khaddar or homespun.

Hero, Trying to Save Boy in Pool, Drowned

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 2.—In an effort to save from drowning an 8-year-old boy, who had jumped into the Atlantic Refining Company's pool at New Geneva yesterday, Elmer Engle, 16, lost his life. The younger boy managed to get out alone. The boy and others were playing around the pool when Charles Citulik leaped into the pool. Engle plunged in after the boy. Heavy boots weighed him down and he sank within a few seconds.

SOCIETY WOMEN HERE OPEN FIGHT FOR BIRTH CONTROL

EDUCATORS ACTIVE IN LEAGUE

Maternal Health Centers Work in Foreign Districts Contemplated by Leaders

Prominent society women, physicians, educators and others are sponsoring a new movement for birth control in this district, according to announcement today.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., 5427 Forbes street, the Birth Control League of Allegheny County was formed, as a unit of the Pennsylvania Birth Control Federation.

This organization will take the place of the former Allegheny County Birth Control League, it was explained.

OFFICERS NAMED

These officers were chosen: President, Dr. H. C. Westerfelt; vice presidents, Mrs. Raymond Kaufmann, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Mrs. Mark Acheson, Phineas Whiting, Mrs. David Alter, Dr. Davenport Hooker, Mrs. Horace Forbes Baker, Mrs. James G. Pontefract, Prof. Roswell H. Johnson; Mrs. Helen G. Tyson, secretary; Miss Katherine M. Edwards, treasurer.

Mrs. Thaw was named chairman of the ways and means committee; headquarters committee, Mrs. John W. Lawrence; membership, Mrs. Dudley Pendleton; meetings, Mrs. Julian Kennedy, Jr.

Downtown headquarters will be established and a series of educational meetings is planned, according to Mrs. A. C. Martin, executive director of the Pennsylvania Birth Control Federation, who is here temporarily in the interest of the new organization.

POOR SEND PLEAS

Mrs. Martin said:

"The principal thing that brought me here was the fact that hundreds of letters have been received at our headquarters in Philadelphia from the poor of Pittsburgh asking us if we could direct them to a birth control center in Pittsburgh.

"We hope by means of the new unit formed here to be able to establish maternal health centers, similar to those in many other large cities, operated under the supervision of physicians. The work will be largely among the foreign population.

"Birth control really becomes a measure of social welfare. Something must be done to relieve the state from paying out such enormous sums for the care of the needy and helpless."

'STEAL' HOTEL ROOM; 2 FINED

Three persons occupying a room in the Bulger Hotel, 219 Collins avenue, without knowledge of the proprietor and taken into custody when police bobbed in to arrest another person, were given hearings in Morals Court today.

They were Joseph Firoe, 22, 1630 Westmoreland street; Louise Safka, 18, of 7155 Kedron street, and Anna Andrzjewska, 22, of Rankin.

The proprietor of the hotel testified at the hearing that he did not know that the trio had been staying in one of the rooms of his establishment. They admitted that they had just gone in and occupied a room without his knowledge.

Magistrate Thomas D. Jones fined Fiore and the Andrzjewska girl $25 each on charges of being suspicious persons and ordered the Safka girl held for her parents as a runaway.

50 Hurt as Madrid Police Fight Crowd

MADRID, May 2.—(AP.)—Fifty persons were reported injured last night in Madrid when police broke up a demonstration in honor of the arrival of Miguel de Unamuno, celebrated Spanish author and philosopher, from Salamanca, where he is rector of the university. De Unamuno returned to Spain about three months ago from several years' exile in France under the De Rivera dictatorship.

Search Continued For Pair in Lifeboat

GALVESTON, Tex., May 2.—(AP.)—Coast guardsmen from here to Port Aransas, Point Isabel and Corpus Christi today continued a search for Capt. Albert Bailey and a member of the crew of the motor vessel M. P., believed adrift in a lifeboat.

Bailey and the unidentified sailor set out in the lifeboat to obtain aid after the M. P. became disabled.

that it was impossible to find out their names.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman's report of the state's investigation into the penitentiary fire which claimed 320 convict lives, together with more than 200 typewritten pages of testimony, was turned over to Gov. Myers Y. Cooper today. The Governor immediately began to study it.

Charles A. Jones, the Governor's secretary, announced shortly afterward that no comment would be forthcoming from the executive offices until after the Governor had read the report through. At the same time, Jones intimated, Gov. Cooper would make some statement concerning the report of State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill, which has been in the Governor's hands since early this week.

TROOPS TO REMAIN

Meanwhile, military rule of Ohio State Penitentiary will continue indefinitely—possibly for 30 days, it was announced.

The old prison, wrecked by fire and by mutinous convicts, will be repaired gradually, and when the cells are again ready for occupancy all of the 3,900 prisoners will be locked up. They are now housed in a stockade, hastily erected by the troops, and in various buildings. From time to time the overcrowded condition of the penitentiary will be relieved and, slowly but surely, normalcy will be restored.

Whether Warden Preston Thomas will lose his job, which he has held for 17 years, still was problematical today, but there were unmistakble indications that he would not. The veteran warden himself insists he will not quit under fire and the clamoring of convicts for his removal has died down to a whisper. Even the warden's political enemies have ceased firing.

Body of Strangled Man Found on Dump

BECKLEY, W. Va., May 2.—(AP.)—The body of Benjamin Moss, 42, coal cutter, of Cranberry, was found near the slate dump of the Wickham Coal Company, near here, by two small boys. His necktie was knotted closely about his neck. Coroner W. J. Lyons said he had been strangled and that he had been dead about 12 hours. A large bruise was found on the head, and a blood-stained rock was nearby.

PRISON BOARD PRICES UP

An increase of 50 per cent in the rate for federal prisoners kept in the Allegheny County jail is contained in a contract received today from Washington by U. S. Marshal J. C. McGregor.

The old rate, 50 cents a day, is raised to 75 cents a day, under the new contract which bears the signatures of Warden John McNeil of the jail and the superintendent of federal prisons, at Washington. The increased charge is effective as of January 1. At times from 150 to 200 federal prisoners are housed in the jail, serving terms or awaiting trial, mostly on liquor charges.

German Ambassador To Be Here May 15

Frederick W. von Prittwitz, the German ambassador, has accepted the invitation of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce to give the principal address at the chamber's annual dinner here May 15, it was learned here today. Congressman Stephen G. Porter, of Pittsburgh, extended the invitation in Washington yesterday.

PENNSTUDENTS NOW AT PEACE

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(INS.)—Several hundred University of Pennsylvania students gathered again last night on the Penn campus and nearby streets, but when the watching bluecoats failed to charge them, they disbanded without any disturbances.

Several bonfires were lighted, but when no one objected to them, the students soon lost interest in the blazes. A long line of some of the more daring of the students formed in a single file, trailing several of the policemen with cries of "Hep, hep, flat-feet." But when even their hoots failed to attract the attention of the pre-occupied guardians of the law, the parade soon disbanded.

Several score of patrolmen had been marshaled at the Thirty-second street and Woodland avenue police station, fearful of another outbreak of rioting similar to the events of early Thursday which resulted in the arrest of Maj. Lemuel B. Schofield, director of public safety, after he had assumed personal charge of the clubbing of several hundred noisy, milling students.

Officers Re-elected By Lutheran Synod

Officers of the Central Conference of the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America were re-elected at the closing session of the spring convention held yesterday in the Calvary Lutheran Church, Natrona Heights. It was announced that the next convention would be held in the Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bellevue.

The clergymen re-elected are: President, the Rev. Frank P. Fisher; secretary, the Rev. P. M. Weber; treasurer, the Rev. Fred Stueber. W. S. Kregar was named lay representative to the executive committee of the synod.

Retreat Morgan Used After Raids Restored

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 2.—(AP.)—The home of Gen. John Hunt Morgan, famed Confederate Civil War leader, restored to its ante-bellum appearance, was opened to the public today. Firearms he carried and the saddle he rode while leading his band of raiders through Kentucky and adjoining states have been placed in the home, as have other relics of the general.

Constructed in 1811 by John W. Hunt, and until now the home of his descendants, the residence is said to have often furnished an avenue of escape for Gen. Morgan when he was being pursued by Federal troops.

BOY FLIER OFF TO TUCSON

EL PASO, Texas, May 2.—(AP.)—Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old transcontinental flier, left here at 7 a. m. today for Tuscon, Ariz., on another leg of his flight from Westfield, N. J., to Los Angeles.

Mechanics worked most of the night repairing a wing on his plane, "The American Boy." The ship was damaged when it struck a telephone pole as Goldsborough took off yesterday morning in the desert, 100 miles east of El Paso.

Church Burns, Loss Placed at $250,000

PORT MAURICE, Que., May 2.—(INS.)—Damage amounting to $250,000 was done here today when fire destroyed the Church of the Parish of St. Leonard. The convent and the presbytery also were damaged. The parish is in a northeastern suburb of Montreal.

FLIERS TO HUNT SLAYER BURKE

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(AP.)—Police search for Frederick Burke, 36, and August (Augie) Winkler, 32, alleged Chicago gangsters, was intensified today following action of a fourth hold-up victim who positively identified Burke as one of two men who robbed him of $3,000 in diamonds.

Three speedy pursuit planes were placed in readiness at airports here for the manhunt.

Burke and Winkler, sought since the St. Valentine's Day massacre of seven men in Chicago last year, were believed to have several associates with them in Los Angeles, Capt. Stensland said. Rewards approximating $100,000 are offered for their capture.

Swiss to Boycott American Products

GENEVA, May 2.—(INS.)—While the press here today launched an attack on the United States for the 300 per cent tariff increase on watches under the new tariff schedule, the Swiss national Chamber of Commerce decided to institute a boycott against United States products, particularly automobiles. The chamber declared itself ready to open a tariff war. The Swiss federal council announced it would lodge protest with Washington.

California Youth Freed Over Accident

CALIFORNIA, Pa., May 2.—Edward Wright, 19, of California, was absolved from blame in connection with the death of W. S. Nicodemus, of California, banker, who died in a Pittsburgh hospital from injuries sustained when struck by the youth's car.

Weather Conditions.

The northwestern disturbance is now centered north of the Great Lakes, lowest barometer reported, 29.28 inches, at White River. The disturbance is causing considerable cloudy weather this morning over the Ohio Valley states and northward over the lakes, and thunderstorms occurred during yesterday and last night over the eastern plains, the Mississippi valley, the Ohio valley and the lake region. The rainfall was light, except at Kansas City and at Columbia, Mo. Another disturbance appears in the far Northwest and relative low pressure extends southward over the plateau section.

High barometer developed over the central plains and the eastern high is still over the South Atlantic states. The skies are clear over these sections. Over the eastern half of the country there was a slight change in temperature towards warmer, while over the Plains states the change was towards cooler.

COLLEGIANS OVERTHROW SELF-RULE

Westminster Pupils Charge Despotism by Faculty And Kindergarten Tactics

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 2.—Charging that the college authorities have usurped all the authority of the student self-government and that the organization is merely a "hollow shell," students at Westminster College at New Wilmington, voted 257 to 141 to dissolve the student tribunal.

Student speakers quoted college officials as stating that student self-government was a secondary consideration and that the student tribunal should merely give assent to decrees of the college.

The student weekly paper also joined the controversy. It said in an editorial that "there is no institution the Westminster student government association resembles more closely than a carefully trained kindergarten playing in a sand box with toy blocks," and added that "all the little children scatter when the teacher shakes his finger."

Dr. W. Charles Wallace, president of Westminster, declared today that the college authorities would take no action in the situation. He said:

"The function of student governments in all colleges is to make recommendations to the faculty or officials, not to wie supreme authority."

He added that the stu could submit recommendati the faculty at Westminster declared the action of the dents in voting to disban council was entirely a matt the hands of the students, would bring no action from lege authorities.

Student self-government at Westminster College was instituted in 1918.

RANKIN OFFICER OUT ON BOND

Patrolman John Camillo, of Rankin police, today was back at work, following his release under $1,000 bond in the fatal shooting of William Martin, 16, Negro, of Monongahela avenue, Swissvale, whom, the officer said, he was chasing following an attempted holdup of the Rankin Auto Company early Wednesday.

Bertillon photographs of Camillo were taken yesterday by county detectives, who said it was a matter of routine, as they seemed satisfied the officer had shot after Martin had fired at him. Efforts were made yesterday to ascertain positively that the revolver found near Martin was the property of the youth.

SIX IN LOTTERY ROW ARRESTED

Downtown crowds today saw six men arrested at Fifth avenue and Wood street after an argument on failure to pay the winners in the clearing-house lottery, police reported.

J. A. Kleas, 33, of Walnut street, and Edward Smalley, 56, of Chance way, complained that although they had "hit the pool," the four operators had refused to pay. When all six met by chance downtown, an argument ensued. Jail followed.

The other four arrested were Charles Gable, 26, of Elm street; Joseph Lappa, 27, of Bluff street; B. Whiting, of Second avenue, and J. Jones, of Mt. Lebanon.

Beaver Plumbers Go Out on Strike

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., May 2.—More than 150 journeymen plumbers of Beaver County walked out yesterday when the Master Plumbers' Association failed to sign a new wage agreement calling for a five-day week with six days' pay, it was announced by Frederick Webster, president of the master plumbers.

Plumbers of the county are now receiving $55 per week of six days, it is said. Moving day in the valley was hard hit.

Bishop Burleson Gets Council Post

Woman Denied Citizenship Despite Life in Dakota

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS.)—The novel story of how an American woman became an alien without going out of her native town in North Dakota and is now barred from American citizenship will be told the House Immigration Committee on May 8.

Her case will be used as an argument for the bill of Representative Griffin (Dem.), of New York, to permit naturalization of aliens who refuse to take an oath to bear arms for the United States.

Mrs. Mary Harris Boe, victim of the strange transition, in Iowa, married a Norwegian pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Kenmare, N. D., and lived in that town for 25 years.

When she married a Norwegian, before the Cable act was passed, she became a Norwegian.

About three years ago her preacher-husband was naturalized an American citizen.

When it was discovered last year that she was still a Norwegian, although born in America of native parents, she sought naturalization under the Cable act.

But when Judge Lowe, of Minot, N. D., was about to naturalize her, an examiner asked her if she would bear arms in defense of the Constitution. She said she would not, since it was against her religion.

The Supreme Court having decided in the Rosika Schwimmer case that such a refusal was a bar to naturalization, she was denied citizenship. Thus she is still a Norwegian, although American-born, while her Norwegian-born husband of the same church belief is now an American.

She is declared liable to deportation to Norway.

Block Gives Yale $100,000 For Journalism Studies

NEW HAVEN, May 2.—(AP.)—Paul Block, of New York, newspaper publisher, has given Yale University $100,000 for a program of studies and series of lectures in journalism, President James Rowland Angell announced.

"The purpose of the studies will be to promote an understanding of the press as a powerful factor in human affairs and as a major business enterprise," Dr. Angell said.

"The plan does not contemplate the development of courses of a vocational nature, but it is expected to bring the students, both graduate and undergraduate, to a clearer understanding of the role of the press in the complex social and political life of the modern world."

PINCHOT HURLS CHALLENGE AT BROWN

Philadelphian Called Upon To Repudiate Organization Leaders in Governor Race

Brown's effort to hide his ignoble straddle on the prohibition question behind the names of Lincoln and Roosevelt. Mr. Brown is to speak this evening before the League of Women Voters at Pittsburgh.

"I challenge him to say that Roosevelt in Brown's place would have dodged the prohibition question by coming out for a referendum or would have failed to take a manly, clear-cut and definite position on this issue.

"Among Roosevelt's many great qualities, his courage and his frankness were easily first. Would he have straddled this issue? Let Mr. Brown make the answer.

QUESTION ASKED

"My question to Mr. Brown is this: Will he at the meeting of the League of Women Voters announce that if elected governor he will repudiate the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh machines to which he would owe his election and refuse to take counsel with them?

"Mr. Brown asserts with great violence that he is a free man and that he stands for the best things in government. I call his particular attention to a heaven-sent opportunity to prove it.

"Two of his four most important backers in Philadelphia have just been caught with the goods in attempted election frauds.

"In three of the wards controlled by Tom Cunningham and Charlie Hall, the registration board has just stricken off [illegible]23 fraudulent names.

"These names of dead people, [illegible]antoms and others ineligible by vote, every last one of them [illegible]d have voted for Francis [illegible]k Brown. That was the [illegible]is intention.

[illegible]DIATION DARED

"[illegible]ow I invite Mr. Brown at the meeting of the League of [illegible]men Voters this evening to repudiate these two leaders of his who have just been caught with the goods, drive them out of his army and make it to that extent cleaner and more in harmony with his professions.

"And having done that, I suggest that he continue the good work by driving out also the Pittsburgh equivalents of Cunningham and Hall, of whom there are plenty.

"Having thus disposed of the greater part of the forces which are now supporting him, Mr. Brown would have the satisfactory consciousness of having immeasurably raised the quality of his support while immeasurably reducing its size."

Pinchot and Brown met in the lobby of the Penn Albert Hotel, in Greensburg, last night and after shaking hands, retired to their rooms in the hotel. After the meeting Brown learned of the attack made upon him by Pinchot. He replied with a statement in which he branded the charges as false and worthy of "a fakir, mountebank and charlatan."

MALONE SPEAKS

Earlier yesterday, Pinchot spoke in Reel's Corners, Somerset, Meyersdale and Uniontown.

Former President of Council James F. Malone broadcast last night over station KDKA a speech in support of Pinchot. He said in part:

"I want all my friends in Allegheny County and in Pennsylvania to know that I heartily back Pinchot for governor. It will pay them to jump into line and do everything they can in this cause. Allow no organization to scare you. He will be nominated and elected.

"When my term in Council was nearing its close, it was my privilege to become a candidate for Mayor. There was also another candidate for Mayor aside from the incumbent, and he and I were fighting for the same principles and along the same lines.

CANDIDACY INDORSED

"The independent vote of Pittsburgh became divided. The people who were anxious for clean government were divided. One of the reasons I am for Pinchot for governor in this campaign is because I know he stands in Pennsylvania for the same principles that the late Judge Richard W. Martin and I stood for last September."

Speaking later at the Greensburg Pinchot meeting, Malone said he had been offered the chairmanship of the Allegheny County campaign for the Davis-Brown ticket and had refused it because he "could not stand being associated with men who are supporting that crowd."

Replying to Malone, Pinchot said that when Malone came out for him it was the turning point in his campaign.

The Railroaders Club of Pittsburgh has indorsed the candidacies of Pinchot and his lone running mate, C. F. Armstrong, aspiring to be lieutenant governor. The club is composed of members of the Order of Railway Telegraphers employed on all lines entering Pittsburgh. Ward O'Neill is president and H. O. McCarthy is secretary of the club.

Shot During Holdup, Store Robber Dies

AKRON, O., May 2.—(INS.)—Leon Carroll, 37, of Milwaukee, Wis., died in a hospital here today from bullet wounds received last Tuesday when he was shot while fleeing from a grocery store which he had held up and robbed. C. W. Wimer, manager of the grocery store, fired the shot. Carroll said he had a wife and two children living at 633 Potter avenue, Milwaukee.

George is here in person at least he was spending a quiet vacation away from screen producers. He sojourned with a brother, C. S. Bancroft in The Fairfax, Fifth avenue and Craig street, who reports the star has left town after a few days' visit.

Golf togs were George's attire yesterday afternoon several hours after he was to have departed. Maybe he's gone and then again maybe not. He's that elusive.

VIEWS ON LAW BACK HOOVER

which did other than support the law and the constitution.

"In view of these circumstances, I do not see how I can decently say that I favor anything other than the law and law enforcement. It may be said, too, that I am heartily in accord with the President's views on the subject of prohibition."

DAVIS FLYING HERE

The Davis stand was made known today at about the same time as news from Washington that the Secretary would fly from the Capital to Pittsburgh to speak tonight at a mass meeting of the League of Women Voters. He expects to reach Pittsburgh at 6 o'clock.

The same questionnaire on prohibition was sent to Senator Grundy, whom Secretary Davis seeks to defeat for the Senate, and Gifford Pinchot, candidate for governor, who had made previous announcements of their attitudes.

GRUNDY'S ANSWER

Senator Grundy said:

"As a delegate to the Republican national convention in Kansas City in 1928 I voted for the Republican platform which pledged the candidate to an investigation of existing conditions covering law enforcement under the Eighteenth Amendment. Since that time I have been designated by Gov. Fisher as a member of the United States Senate.

"When the commission appointed by President Hoover completes its investigations as provided by the Republican platform and recommends concrete legislation in harmony with it, I shall give the proposed legislation my most serious consideration when it reaches the Senate.

"In the meantime I propose to support existing laws upon the enforcement problem; and should I be successful in the campaign now on to succeed myself for the ensuing two years, I shall, during that period, follow the same course of action as outlined above."

PINCHOT'S STAND

In one sentence, Pinchot, a strict prohibitionist when he was governor, said:

"My position on the wet and dry question is precisely the same as it was during my four years at Harrisburg, with which you are doubtless familiar."

ANTI-DRY GAINS PREDICTED

P. E. Shaughnessy, western chairman for the Phillips-Bohlen-Dorrance anti-dry ticket, today said that the strength of opposition to prohibition that is expected to be demonstrated in the primary election will confound organized politics in Pennsylvania.

Quoting H. B. Foulkrod, who was here for the last two days with the bus caravan for the anti-dry ticket, Shaughnessy said:

"As we visit more counties in the tour of the state it is unmistakable that a remarkable increase in anti-prohibition sentiment has come during the past two years.

"We have a singular opportunity to ascertain wet and dry views as we roll along. In addition, a reliable comparison is afforded because of our tour through the state in the presidential campaign of 1928.

"Politicians have always adopted the safe theory that it was expedient to ignore the wets and play to the drys. They will be rudely awakened when this campaign is over.

"It is common knowledge in Pittsburgh that Gov. Alfred E. Smith carried the city despite a suppressed registration in organized wards and the meager lead credited against him."

WOMEN TO HEAR CANDIDATES

With one exception candidates for major offices in the coming Republican and Democrat primary election will explain their platforms tonight at a League of Women Voters' dinner in McCreery's. Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, league chairman, will present Mrs. John O. Miller as toastmistress.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong and Mayor Charles H. Kline are expected to attend.

Speakers will include James J. Davis and Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Republican candidates for United States senator; Gifford Pinchot, Francis Shunk Brown and Thomas W. Phillips, Republican candidates for governor; J. Sedgwick Kistler, Democrat candidate for United States Senator, and John M. Hemphill, Democrat candidate for governor.

Francis H. Bohlen, anti-dry candidate for Senate—Phillips' running mate—is unable to be at the meeting, and will submit a written statement.

DAVIS LAUDED AS CARAVAN NEARS CITY

Labor Secretary Eulogized On Radio; Brown, Drew Tour Monongahela Valley

The Davis-Brown caravan touring Western Pennsylvania was to arrive here late today bringing Francis Shunk Brown, candidate for governor, and Judge James B. Drew, slated for one of the two nominations for judge of Superior Court.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, candidate for United States Senator, left the party at New Castle yesterday to return to his duties in Washington. He expected to return to Pittsburgh to attend the candidate's dinner tonight in McCreery's dining room under the auspices of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters.

The caravan was to leave Greensburg early today and meetings were scheduled in Monessen, Monongahela, Washington and Canonsburg.

Tomorrow the party will attend meetings in Mt. Pleasant, Somerset, Cresson and Ebensburg with a stop at Johnstown for the final rally of the Western campaign.

Attorney W. H. McNaugher, member of the executive committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association and former county commander of the American Legion, is scheduled to urge support of the Davis-Brown slate in a speech at 7:30 tonight over Station WJAS.

Senator Frank P. Harris addressed a mass meeting in Beaver, Pa., last night in behalf of the Davis-Brown ticket. Judge Drew also spoke. Both men were introduced by President Judge Frank E. Reader of New Brighton.

GRUNDY VISITS KENSINGTON

Senator Joseph R. Grundy, candidate to succeed himself, left here today to deliver an address in the Liberty Theater, New Kensington. Ralph M. Feery will preside, and Burgess Daniel Burns will introduce the candidate.

Samuel C. Jamison, chairman of Grundy's western campaign, declared that delegations of working men and women in addition to representative business and professional men had made arrangements to attend the meeting.

Grundy is expected to return to Pittsburgh to explain his platform at a League of Women Voters' dinner for all major state candidates at 6:30 p. m. today in McCreery's dining room.

State Senator James J. Coyne, Allegheny County chairman for Grundy's campaign, said the candidate would leave here tomorrow for a meeting in Erie and would start for Philadelphia tomorrow night.

Grundy yesterday told an audience in Warren that Pennsylvania's agricultural pursuits placed the state in an outstanding position independent of its factories and mines.

The Colored Independent Voters of the Fifth Ward have indorsed Grundy for re-election, according to Senator Coyne. Officers of the organization are Charles Simms, chairman; Frank Miller, vice chairman; W. C. Bryant and Mrs. Louise Nettles, secretaries.

Attorney Manuel Kraus broadcast a speech in behalf of Grundy's candidacy over station WJAS last night.

DAVIS, GRUNDY PROBE SET

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS.)—The revelation from Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick that she spent more than $250,000 to win the Republican senatorial nomination in Illinois a few weeks ago, occasioned but little comment in the Senate today, chiefly because all the money came from her own pocketbook.

This attitude toward Mrs. McCormick was in strange contrast to the roar of outraged disapproval that swept the Senate a few years ago when another senatorial committee revealed that Truman H. Newberry had spent $195,000 to win the Republican senatorial nomination in Michigan, and all from his own pocket.

The Newberry expenditure so aroused the Senate that it came within a few votes of expelling him and a little later, forced him to resign.

The committee was prepared to open its inquiry into the pending Pennsylvania senatorial primary. Nye said he might call Senator Joseph R. Grundy and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, along with other candidates for the Republican nomination, early next week.

Once Grundy and Davis are heard and file reports of their expenditures, the committee may take a trip to several Pennsylvania cities to hear additional witnesses.

Haynes Announces Assembly Platform

William T. Haynes, of 3164 Griffith street, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination as Assemblyman from the Third Legislative District, comprising the Fourth and Fifteenth Wards. If elected, he pledges his support to old age pensions, election reforms, protecting child labor and other humane legislation.

PAPERS OPPOSE CHEAT PROJECT

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 2—(AP.)—Decision to oppose "with all possible vigor" through the press of the state and before the Public Service Commission immediate action upon the pending application of the West Virginia Power & Transmission Company for a permit to develop the Cheat River watershed was reached here at a conference of newspaper publishers and editors of the state together with prominent citizens. Hearing the application will be resumed before the commission at Charleston next Monday.

Daily newspapers who joined in the resolutions either by their publishers or editors included: The Wheeling Intelligencer, H. C. Ogden, publisher; the Wheeling News, Thomas O'B. Flynn; the Fairmont Times, C. E. Smith; the Morgantown News Dominion, Charles E. Hodges; the Wheeling Register, C. S. Taney; the Grafton Sentinel, Howard Holt; the Huntington Adviser, J. H. Long, publisher; the Clarksburg Exponent, H. G. Rhawn; the Morgantown Post, Brooks Cottle; the Parkersburg Sentinel, John W. Ficher; Martinsburg Journal, G. C. McKown.

STOLEN JEWEL SALES TOLD

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—Harry Winston, Fifth avenue jeweler, testified here at the trial of Mrs. Marie J. Leslie, charged with grand larceny, that he had made two purchases of jewels from Mrs. Leslie, who was a former housekeeper of Mrs. Isaac Emerson, wife of a Baltimore drug manufacturer.

Winston said Mrs. Leslie had a letter and card of Mrs. Emerson with a notation indicating authorization of the sale of the jewels. He said he paid her $52,000 for several gems June 5, 1928, and a few days later $38,000 more for an emerald ring and pearl necklace.

He said he became suspicious when Mrs. Leslie returned and wanted to borrow some of the jewelry for Mrs. Emerson to wear on a certain occasion and stopped payment on the last check. Mrs. Leslie told him, he testified, her employer wanted money to pay off a debt.

The jewelry was later recovered by Wanamakers' store, he testified. Mrs. Emerson, under cross-examination, reiterated she did not authorize Mrs. Leslie to purchase or sell jewelry for her.

Man, 100, Obtains License to Wed Second Wife

BASTROP, Tex., May 2—(AP)—Victor S. Castillo, who said he was 100 years old last March 6, yesterday obtained a license to marry Juanita Cordova, 65. This will be Castillo's second marriage. His first wife having died six years ago at the age of 106.

DEFENDS DRYS DRINKING

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., May 2—(AP)—Rep. John D. Clarke of the Thirty-fourth Congressional District in a speech Wednesday night in Endicott defended the right of a public official to vote dry and drink wet and declared the private life of an official "nobody's damn business but his own."

Clarke's stand on the wet and dry question was taken at the annual banquet of the Veterans of Foreign Wars after Monroe Curtis, of New York department commander, said abruptly during a speech on patriotism:

"I understand, that Congressman Clarke drinks wet and votes dry. I drink dry and vote wet."

When Clarke's turn to speak came he reopened the question at once. He said:

"The private life of a public official, in my opinion, is nobody's damn business but his own. This is America."

"I have fought the Eighteenth Amendment, but my district under the state referendum voted dry. The previous speaker apparently did not understand that this is representative government and it is my duty to reflect the majority sentiment in my district, when it is known."

CROWDS STORM JAPANESE POST

TOKIO, May 2—(AP)—Rengo News Agencies dispatches from Harbin, Manchuria, today said that a mob of Chinese and Korean radicals attacked the Japanese consulate at Harbin last night, throwing stones, smashing windows and damaging office equipment. No casualties were reported. Chinese police arrested 32 members of the mob.

Ten Korean students, alleged to be members of the Koma Independence League, the purpose of which is to overthrow the Japanese regime in Korea, were among those arrested. The Chinese arrested were mostly members of the Anti-Imperialism League. A few Korean women were reported among the rioters.

CLERGY SPLITS ON DRY LAW IN POLL

Digest Shows Teachers Dryest, Lawyers Wettest Of Professional Groups

NEW YORK, May 2.—School teachers of America are the dryest and lawyers are the wettest professional groups in America, according to the returns of The Literary Digest's special classified polls, as published in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

The clergy of the entire country vote strongly for enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, although over 34 per cent of this group favor a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Voldstead Act, according to the votes received in this supplementary poll.

The bankers vote 34,518 for repeal and 35,210 for enforcement, with the balance of 15,096 voting for modification.

DOCTORS FAVOR REPEAL

Practically one-half of the physicians vote for repeal in this poll, while 30 per cent favor strict enforcement and the other 20 per cent register their opinions for modification.

In the special poll of the Literary Digest subscribers the vote of this group for repeal is practically the same ratio as that of the main prohibition poll, but the vote for enforcement is considerably higher, while the percentage for modification lags behind the tabulations in the 20,000,000 ballot poll.

In the poll of nearly 500,000 educators the vote for enforcement is higher, 60 per cent, than that of the dryest state in the main poll, Kansas, and the vote for repeal is less than 25 per cent of the educators' total vote.

Over 55 per cent of the votes in the lawyers' poll are for repeal while the returns for enforcement are under 30 per cent.

VOTE IN PENNSYLVANIA

In Pennsylvania 3,317 bankers voted for enforcement, 1,094 for modification, 3,458 for repeal, 2,156 clergymen for enforcement, 294 for modification, 1,698 for repeal, 9,185 educators for enforcement, 2,098 for modification; 4,741 for repeal; 1,179 lawyers for enforcement, 548 for modification, 2,545 for repeal; 1,839 physicians for enforcement, 1,139 for modification, 3,352 for repeal.

In Ohio 1,791 bankers voted for enforcement, 681 for modification, 1,539 for repeal; 1,547 clergymen for enforcement, 226 for modification, 826 for repeal; 5,891 educators for enforcement, 1,210 for modification, 1,374 for repeal; 1,165 lawyers for enforcement, 681 for modification, 2,093 for repeal; 1,169 physicians for enforcement, 797 for modification, 1,687 for repeal.

NO MAIN POLL RETURNS

No returns on the main poll are announced this week, the current issue being devoted exclusively to the classified returns which total nearly one million votes.

A noticeable trend in these extra polls, which were conducted somewhat later than the main poll, is the heavy decrease in the vote for modification.

The Digest finds practically the same number of bankers voting for enforcement and for repeal, 35,210 for the one and 34,518 for the other, with 15,096 taking the middle ground for modification.

"The clergy, on the other hand, are concerned over our spiritual welfare. All faiths and all creeds are represented in our poll, and all are deeply anxious over this perplexing problem," says The Digest, editorially.

"We find 26,867 voting for enforcement, 3,864 for modification, and 15,912 for repeal. Thus a clear majority are for enforcement.

"When we scan the figures in the table, State by State, however, we find the bone-drys in the minority in some places, and actual majorities for repeal in the District of Columbia, Louisiana, Nevada, New York, and Wisconsin. This at least shows the complexity of the great wet and dry enigma.

"The educators cast 95,422 ballots for enforcement, 22,165 for modification, and 38,956 for repeal. Connecticut and New York stand out as the only two states where the teachers cast more votes for repeal than for enforcement.

LAWYERS HEAVILY WET

"The lawyers evidently differ sharply with the clergy and the teachers, for they show a clear majority for repeal. They vote 18,101 for enforcement, 9,743 for modification, and 34,886 for repeal, the only one of the six groups to show a clear majority for repeal.

"The states where their enforcement vote tops repeal can be counted on the fingers.

"Nearly a majority for repeal is returned by the physicians, who come forward with 19,936 for enforcement, 13,568 for modification, and 32,235 for repeal, out of a total of 154,670 ballots sent out."

Drenched With Rum, Wife Tells Court

The wife of Walter Psuty, 19, of Sarah street, testified in Morals Court today that he had knocked her to the floor of their home and poured moonshine liquor over her as a celebration of their first wedding anniversary yesterday. Psuty was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was discharged by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones with a reprimand.

Boarder Sentenced 30 Days in Fraud

Harry E. Lee, 40, of Kansas City, was sentenced by Judge Harry E. Rowand in Criminal Court today to serve 30 days in jail on a charge of defrauding a boarding house keeper. He was alleged to have failed to pay a bill of $10.85 at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Firemen Fight Blaze Between Innings

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 2.—Between innings of a baseball game today, the firemen of Dauphin, near here, took time out to drive several miles to a farm and extinguish a fire.

The firemen were lined up in a practice game when Harry Sweigert, of Fishing Creek Valley, telephoned that his barn was burning. Gloves and bats were discarded as the players clambered aboard their truck for the run to the farm. The barn was destroyed, but the flames were prevented from reaching the other buildings.

The firemen then returned and resumed practice for the opening of their baseball season Saturday.

SLAYER OF TWO CONVICTED

BALTIMORE, May 2—(AP)—Vincent Siacco last night was convicted of second degree murder in connection with the shooting of Robert Klinefelter, of Lebanon, Pa., April 6. The jury, which received the case at 7:30 o'clock, following a day's testimony, deliberated four hours. Pronouncement of sentence was deferred pending filing of a motion for a new trial.

Siacco was indicted by the grand jury for the murder of Klinefelter and Cyrus Bachman, also of Lebanon, but was only tried for the murder of the former. The state demanded an unqualified first degree conviction.

The shooting occurred at 10 o'clock on a Sunday morning and Baltimore police contended it was the result of a quarrel between the three men over Miss Virginia Lite, a former New York show girl.

Miss Lite and Miss Norma Bowen, the only other witness to the shooting, testified Siacco fired while the men were sitting down.

HEAD OF D. A. R. HITS PLAN TO ENSNARE U. S.

Forceful Plea for America to Avoid European Tangles Made in Radio Address

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, May 2.

"If we have existed through the lean years without accepting offers of propagandists to unite with Europe in entangling alliances, why is it necessary, now that we are a prosperous nation, to do so?"

This is the ringing challenge before the American public today. It was sounded by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a radio address last night.

Speaking over a National Broadcasting Company network, the D. A. R. head made an eloquent and forceful plea that the American government hold to the separatist principles adopted by the nation's founders.

"They sought separation and attained it. It rests with us as their descendants to maintain that separation," said Mrs. Hobart.

Firm on Principles

Revealing that pressure is often brought to bear to have the D. A. R. abandon the high principles for which it has always stood, Mrs. Hobart added:

"Our answer to such pleas is emphatic. Everyone familiar with the basic objectives of our society knows that there is no necessity for changing the original pronouncements of the founders. We were organized for the purpose of perpetuating the principles of the men and women who served their country in the revolutionary period. These principles are as firmly fixed in human history as are the pyramids of Egypt.

"Style mongers and astute propagandists advocate change. It is a blessing, however, to realize fundamental policies of life should be unchangeable.

"A new idea in human relations has matured in this country. Its development has come about because the early statesmen had the vision to establish what amounted to a 'policial quarantine.' Our republic has survived because it has not been involved with complex associations with any other systems of government."

Taking cognizance of the insidious propaganda conducted by extremist organizations among the young, the militant head of the D. A. R. said:

"It would be folly to ignore the attacks which are now being made upon our institutions in an effort to discourage our citizens so that they will lose faith in the future outlook.

Propagandists Flayed

"Propagandists are teaching the young to criticize our existing economic system. Even adults are influenced to the extent of listening to fictitious stories about America's faults.

"Our republic is a reality. Some would have us imperil it through abrupt change of policy and complication. We acknowledge the foresight of the early leaders of our nation in demanding isolation. By the same logical reasoning we adhere to the belief that as separation has been helpful in the past, it will continue to be wise in the future."

By keeping American policies truly American, the United States will be in a stronger position to help, in time of emergencies, other nations that are handicapped and burdened with their traditional handicaps, Mrs. Hobart emphasized, adding:

"It has been proved that America does not refuse to aid just because she maintains her independent policy. On the contrary, the spontaneous records of her past reveal generosity and sympathetic kinship."

Morrow Awarded Medal for Service

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow last night was awarded the medal of honor of the Town Hall Club for having contributed most "toward the enlargement and enrichment of life" during the past year by his services as ambassador to Mexico and as delegate to the London naval limitation conference.

Other candidates for the award were Margaret Sanger, leader of the birth control movement, who was a close second in the balloting; Eva Le Gallienne, founder of the Civic Repertory Theatre; Prof. William Lyon Phelps, of Yale, and Daisy Fisk Rogers, of the New York Association for the Blind.

FOX DIVIDEND POLICY STANDS

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—Harley L. Clarke, president of Fox Film Corporation, last night announced that the policy of the corporation would be to continue the quarterly dividends of $1 a share, payable in cash, upon the Class A and Class B stocks of the corporation.

He said the board of directors would meet in a few days to take action upon this. He also announced that arrangements had been made to redeem the scrip stock which was issued in payment of the dividend upon the common stock last January.

Earlier in the day Standard Statistics revealed that the Fox Film Corporation has passed its quarterly dividend, due April 15. It was explained at Clarke's office that at that time the old management had become practically inactive and the new management had not yet taken control, so no dividend meeting was held.

Walter, Ex-Editor Of Magazine, Weds

GLENDALE, Cal., May 2.—(AP.)—William E. Walter, 59, of Pasadena, Cal., former editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, and Mrs. Judith Scott Fields, 42, socially prominent in Portland, Ore., were married Wednesday night. Walter was divorced a year ago from Mrs. Caroline Sergent Walter, whom he married in St. Paul, Minn., in 1897.

171 MACHINES IN MAY VOTE

HARRISBURG, May 2—(AP)—One hundred and seventy-one voting machines will be used in various election districts throughout Pennsylvania in the state-wide primary on May 20, it was revealed by Robert R. Leads, secretary of the commonwealth.

In Cumberland County the Borough of New Cumberland, with three districts, and the four districts comprising East Pennsboro Township have returned machines. In the other districts the machines will be purchased. The list follows:

Philadelphia County, 50 machines; Mercer County, 15 machines for use in eight districts in Farrell Borough and seven districts in Greenville Borough; Erie County, 13 machines for use in Amity Township, Conneaut Township (two districts), Concord Township and seven districts of Corry; Warren County, 16 machines for use in nine wards of Warren Borough; Clearfield County, six machines in Dubois; Lackawanna County, 30 machines for use in Abington Township, Archbald Borough, Benton Township and Blakely Borough; Somerset County, four machines for use in Somerset Borough; Luzerne County, 30 machines, and Cumberland County, seven machines.

Voting machines have been adopted in the entire counties of Allegheny, Cambria, Delaware, Erie, Fayette, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Philadelphia and Schuylkill.

STANDARD TIME FOR SCHOOLS

BALTIMORE, May 2.—(AP)—Baltimore's public schools will operate on standard time for the present at least, it was announced by William L. Rawls, president of the school board, following a meeting of the body. The president said the board had reached the decision to operate the schools on standard time after hearing both sides of the question. He said it was the feeling of the members that the sentiment of the city had not developed sufficiently to enable the board to know what the convenience of the community required. He added the board would continue to study the question.

Those favoring the placing of the schools on daylight saving time said the new time was effective in virtually the entire city. L. J. Emory, president of the City Council Parent Teacher Associations appealed for daylight saving on the ground that children of the elementary schools under present conditions return home from schools on standard time which throws them into the city's heaviest traffic.

CANADA ADOPTS U. S. TARIFF

OTTAWA, Ont., May 2.—(AP)—The countervailing duties provided in the budget announced in the House of Commons by Finance Minister C. A. Dunning will make Canadian duties the same as those of the United States on all products which Canada both imports and exports to her neighbors.

The new sliding rates will take effect at once on the basis of the present United States tariff and on the new tariff if it goes into effect. Although the United States is not specifically named, it is the only nation with which Canada maintains both an import and export business in the same commodities to any appreciable degree.

Cast iron pipe is the only non-agricultural item in the list of commodities affected by the countervailing duties. The list includes wheat, flour, rye, oats, livestock, eggs, butter, meats, cut flowers, potatoes and soups.

OBITUARY

France Funeral

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for John France, 43, burgess of Forest Hills, who died yesterday in his home at 617 Lenox avenue, that borough. The services will be held in his late residence and burial will be private. Mr. France had been burgess of Forest Hills since the borough was incorporated in 1919. He was candidate for the Republican nomination for Legislature from the Tenth District. Burgess France was born in Ingram and had lived in the Forest Hills district 17 years. He was engaged in the contracting business. He was a member of Orient Lodge No. 590, F. and A. M.; Syria Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S.; the Syria Temple Automobile Club and the Forest Hills Presbyterian Church. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Tillie Bremm France; two sons, William and John France, Jr.; a daughter, Miss Gladys France; his mother, Mrs. Martha France; three brothers and four sisters.

Mang Funeral

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Joseph A. Mang, of 1308 Goe avenue, North Side, World War veteran who died in the Bellevue Hospital, New York, Tuesday. Services will be held in St. Cyril's Catholic Church, North Side, and burial will be in the North Side Catholic Cemetery. Mr. Mang served 18 months with the United States forces overseas and was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Mang, and a sister, Miss Henrietta Mang, at home.

BEGIN M'CANN E. END BRANCH

Extensive remodeling was started today by McCann & Co., downtown retail grocers, on the old Rittenhouse, Highland avenue and Broad street, for the establishing of an East End branch.

The property was taken over on a long-term lease yesterday. The remodeling of the landmark will transform the first floor into a modern food market, devoted entirely to the sale of foods. The mezzanine floor will be utilized with a McCann restaurant.

The second floor ballroom, used for social functions for many years, will be redecorated and made available within a short time for the same purpose. Other floors of the building will be converted later into modern office suites.

3 SHOT, HUNT STILL OWNERS

BECKLEY, W. Va., May 2.—(AP)—County and state officers today continued a search for two alleged still operators wanted after three persons were injured in a gun battle at a still near here Wednesday night. Physicians described the condition of J. L. Nealy, Slab Fork constable, as critical. Others injured were J. M. Wheatley, Raleigh County deputy sheriff, and Marion King of Winding Gulf, who said he was merely a bystander. King was in custody pending an investigation.

Wheatley said the shooting started when he and Nealy ordered two men near the still to halt and they replied with pistol shots.

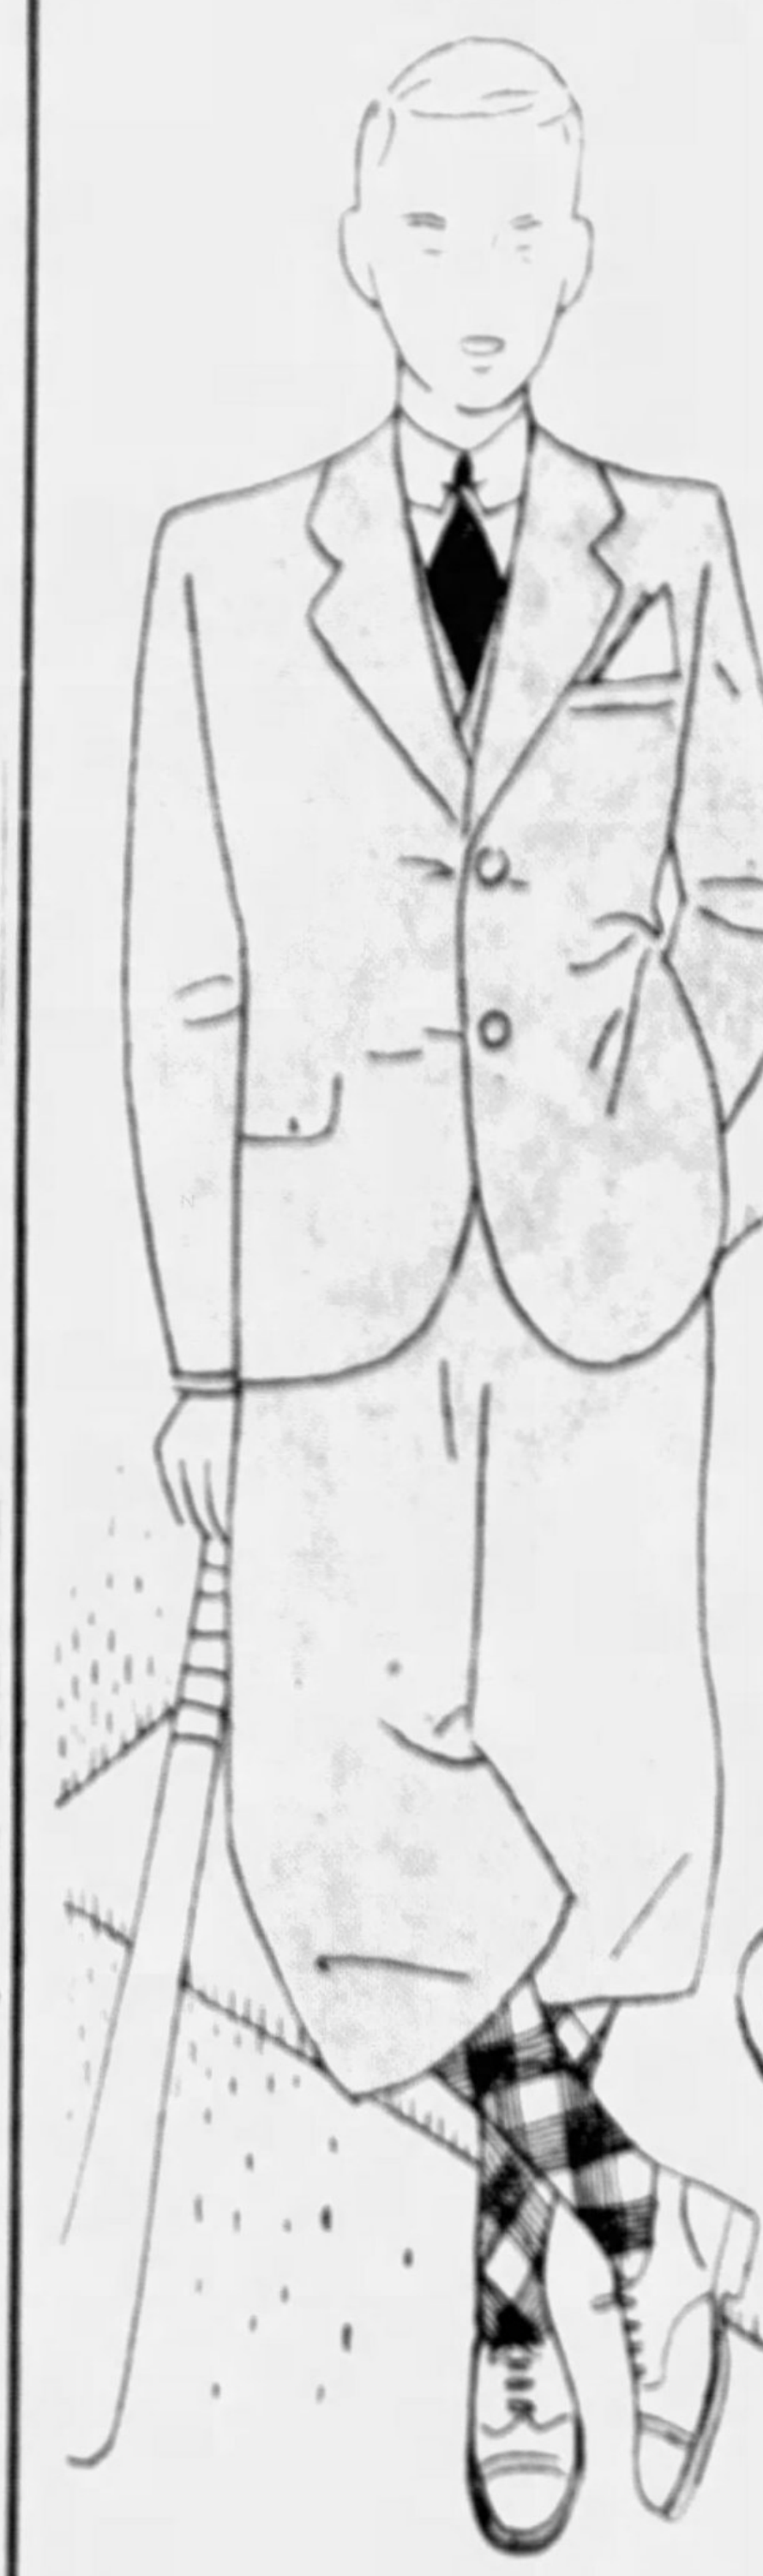
Blue Cheviot Suits
For Dress-Up Wear—For Confirmation and Graduation
$16.75

Blue cheviots that give boys that clean-cut, well-groomed look they expect of their best suits.

Carefully tailored, particularly well-fitted, single and double breasted suits with two pairs amply cut plus-fours. Sizes 7 to 18 years.



Bouclette Berets

Berets look so perky on any girl . . . and these new ones are lovely enough to wear with almost every outfit.

Lustrous hand-made bouclette berets—in a beautiful range of pastels—including egg-shell, royal and copen blues, pink, green, maize, orchid, and white.

Pull-Over Sweaters

A Braeburn sweater "special" at Horne's is always an occasion that brings boys in by the scores for new sweaters for sports or school.

Sweaters that sell ordinarily at higher prices—are of finest wool yarns, in the bold figures, and the popular small-patterned designs—in new spring colorings. Round, crew, and V neck styles—in sizes 28 to 36.

Woolen Knickers, $2.95

Mothers needn't worry about these knickers "giving out" under the strain of marble games, or any of the tumbling boys do . . . because they're of strong, durable wool mixtures—full lined, with points of strain securely bar-tacked, and seams taped to add strength. Attractive gray and tan wool mixtures. Sizes 7 to 18 years.

Children's Three-In-One
Knit Brevities
3 for $1.65

Your child should wear these because

1. They have short legs that won't show under the shortest suits and dresses.
2. They are three garments in one—combining shirt, panties and pantie waist.
3. They have rubber buttons that won't break in the wringer.
4. They have taped buttons for adjusting button-on suits and frocks.
5. They wash easily and require no ironing.
6. They won't chafe — every part is roomy and well-shaped.
7. They are inexpensive enough to order by the dozen.

Comfortable, practical union suits of fine ribbed cotton—of spring and summer weight. Sizes 2 to 12 years.

SCHEME TO CUT GAS TAX HIT

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP)—No individual or organization can secure exemption or reduction of gasoline taxes for those who under law act as agents for the commonwealth in collection of such taxes, Benjamin G. Eynon, commissioner of motor vehicles, said here.

"It has come to our attention," Eynon said, "that at least one organization has represented that for gasoline vendors who purchase membership cards it can secure a reduction of 2 per cent in the amount due the state. The promise is quite without foundation."

Eynon continued to quote the law, which became effective a year ago and expires next July 1, providing for a 4-cent gasoline tax, and he pointed out that this law does not say that an individual dealer may reduce the amount owed to the state by any amount for spillage, leakage, evaporation or any other cause. It has been the custom of the auditor general and the Department of Revenue to allow proved losses sustained by the dealer, it being their opinion that some wastage really occurs.

Aimee's Daughter Ill After Fall On Ship Deck

ISTANBUL, May 2.—(AP)—The daughter of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, is ill in a hotel here with a high fever, the result of a fall from the upper to the lower deck of the French ship Ankor, which came here from Palestine. The boat arrived yesterday.

The evangelist had intended to pass through Istanbul and join her [illegible] at Oberammergau, Germany, but now must await the recovery of her daughter's illness.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 2.—Stephen Stewart, 73, farmer and former oil and gas worker, is dead at his home near Waynesburg. He was ill three months.

RICH 'CAPTIVE' HELD IN DAZE

MEDIA, Pa., May 2.—(AP)—Death of a stroke of paralysis might take down Aaron Unger, wealthy retired candy maker, if he were removed from the Upper Darby apartment of Miss Amelia Phillips, where his family alleges he is being held captive, a physician told Judge W. Roger Fronefield in the Delaware County court.

Dr. Creighton H. Turner of Philadelphia, specialist in diseases of the circulatory system, testifying before Judge Fronefield at resumption of the habeas corpus proceedings by which the candy manufacturer's family sought to have him brought to court from the apartment of the blonde divorcee, said Unger is in a daze and does not know where he is and knows nothing that occurs around him.

Elias Unger, a brother, Mrs. Aaron Unger, wife of the alleged captive, and his son Bernard, a junior at Harvard, were in court. Miss Phillips also attended the meeting.

Dr. Turner denied under cross examination that the wealthy manufacturer is being held a captive in the apartment by force.

Lightning Starts $100,000 Barn Fire

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., May 2.—(AP)—Fire caused by a bolt of lightning last night destroyed the large barn on the Glenhardie estate of John R. K. Scott, Philadelphia attorney. Scott estimated the damage in excess of $100,000. More than 100 head of registered cattle and 25 prize-winning horses were led to safety by farm hands, but a large quantity of valuable machinery was destroyed.

Two on Yacht Freed By Court Over Rum

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 2.—(AP)—Capt. Paul Nielson and Richard Peacock, both of Miami, charged with conspiring to violate the national prohibition laws, were freed in Federal Court here when Judge I. M. Meekins directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

The two men were indicted in connection with the seizure of the yacht Eolis off Beaufort, N. C., several months ago, while it was outside the 12-mile limit.

Youth Playing With Gun Kills Brother

ELLWOOD CITY, May 2.—Harold, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Householder, of Daugherty Township, near Zelienople, was shot and killed by his brother, John, 13, while at play with a rifle.

The father had taken the gun to shoot crows and left it lying in the yard.

Wins $23,000 for Damage to Farm

Robert Brierly was awarded a $23,000 verdict in Common Pleas Court yesterday against the Duquesne Light Company for the erection of an electric line across the Brierly farm in Mifflin Township, near Homestead, in 1928. Viewers had awarded $7,000 damages, from which an appeal was taken, the case being heard before Judge Elder W. Marshall. Brierly is an heir of the Brierly estate, the Monongahela Trust Company participating in the suit as trustee. The farm has been in the Brierly family for more than 100 years.

WARTIME BOATS PUT IN SERVICE

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(AP)—Twenty-one destroyers which had been on a decommissioned status at the Philadelphia Navy Yard since the end of the World War have been placed in commission. The destroyers will become an active part of the scouting fleet on the Atlantic Ocean.

The vessels replace 21 destroyers which had been in service with the scouting fleet but which have worn out and will be sold for scrap. The boats commissioned were built during the war and most of them were in war service.

The destroyers comprise three divisions of six each, a mine-laying division of two and an experimental boat. Commander F. R. Berg commands the mine-laying boats, and the three divisions are commanded by Capt. F. A. Todd, Commander D. L. Howard and Commander John C. Cunningham. They will form Squadron Seven of the scouting fleet, displacing Squadron Nine, composed of the 21 destroyers to be scrapped.

LAUNCH FIRST OF 8 BARGES

MAHONING, Pa., May 2.—The first of a fleet of eight barges being built for the Allegheny River Sand Corporation's plant at Reesedale was launched Tuesday. It will be two to three months until the fleet is completed. The barges are 16 by 90 feet, and are built of fir and oak. The fir used in the barges was shipped from Washington. The sticks were 90 feet in length.

A number of persons gathered to see the barge, the Speedwell, launched. It is expected that the second, which will be known as the John Quincy Adams, will be launched tomorrow or Monday.

Hitch-Hike Accuser Arrested in Holdup

Pittsburgh Hikers Name New Officers

Members of the Pittsburgh Hiking Club will walk from Smiths Ferry along the Little Beaver River to Grimms Bridge Sunday afternoon. The hikers will leave Pittsburgh in the morning for the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station for Beaver. Miss Laura Aires will be leader. At the last meeting of the club the following officers were elected: J. I. Hommel, president; Miss Laura Aires, vice president, and Miss Elizabeth Fichtl, secretary and treasurer.

Aged Pair Cast Out Penniless By Children

BELLAIRE, O., May 2.—(AP)—Allegedly cast out by relatives on his eightieth birthday, William Reister, Sr., and his wife, Elizabeth, 78, were found sitting on the steps of the city building. They were penniless.

The aged couple told police their children had refused to care for them. They are being cared for in the county infirmary.

Macfarlane Holds Oldest Commission

Judge James R. Macfarlane, of Common Pleas Court, has handed down an order setting forth that as he holds the oldest commission of the judges of the court, "is the president judge of this court." The elevation is by right of succession. The retirement of Judge John A. Evans from the bench, who was the president judge, automatically made Judge Macfarlane president by an act of Assembly.

To Make a Friend of Every Buyer

Inspired by a sincere desire to make a friend of every buyer of Richman Brothers Clothes, 3800 members of the Richman "family" bring to their daily tasks a degree of skill, energy and loyalty without parallel in the entire clothing industry.

Everyone connected with Richman Brothers, from porters to executives in the office, is paying out of salary for the fourth subscription to the company's stock at $50 a share . . . the same stock that is listed on the stock exchange at $90 . . . just one of the reasons for the superb quality and great value in the clothes we make.

You'll readily see this quality and value in our new spring suits and topcoats . . . you'll see the faultless styling, the fabric richness, and the beautifully finished tailoring characteristic of costly clothes . . . in fact, they could not be sold at our price except for the economies of volume production, and a direct-from-factory selling plan which saves you the middleman's profit.

The variety of styles, fabrics and colors is so wide that any man, or young man, may be sure of a pleasing selection, in a size and model that fits him perfectly.

HELD AS PAPER SWINDLER

SOMERSET, Pa., May 2.—(AP.)—Edward Schermer, under indictment in Wilkes County, N. C., on a charge of embezzlement in connection with an alleged newspaper promotion project, was in jail here last night awaiting the arrival of the sheriff of the North Carolina county.

Local authorities said Schermer also was wanted at Philipsburg, Pa., and Meadville, Pa., in connection with the promotion scheme. His arrest was brought about through the activity of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

It was charged that Schermer contracted to get out special editions termed "commercial biographies," collected money from merchants and then disappeared. Later, it was said, he mailed the copy collected to the publisher who had contracted for the promotion, and in most instances the publisher, to keep faith, printed the special edition without receiving compensation.

FEAST STAGED BY LAW CLUB

More than 225 students, alumni and prominent members of the legal profession were present at the twelfth annual Duquesne University Law Club banquet at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association last night. "Legal Education and Admission to the Bar" was discussed by Attorney Walter Douglas, Jr., for many years a member of the state board of law examiners.

Attorney Frank C. McGirr, who is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his admission to the bar this year, addressed prospective lawyers. Others speakers were—Judge Frank P. Patterson, of Common Pleas Court; the Very Rev. M. A. Hehir, president of Duquesne University; Dean John P. Egan, of the law school, and John E. Laughlin, vice dean.

Eighty-Four Man Held Up on Road

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 2.—David Sechler, of near Eighty-Four, was robbed of $39 by a pair of holdup men. Sechler was returning to his home when the men flagged him down. One of the men stuck a gun in his ribs, and the other rifled his clothing.

"KONJOLA WAS A BLESSING TO ME" SAYS LOCAL LADY

Suffered for Fifteen Years From Rheumatism—New Medicine Brings First Relief.

Here is abundant cheer and hope for all who suffer from neuritis and rheumatism and who may fear that there is no hope of escape from the pangs of these dreaded diseases. Konjola, the new and different medicine, is daily winning victory after victory over these ailments, when given a fair trial by men and women who take it systematically. Most sufferers should be treated for several weeks, and six to eight bottles are recommended for usual cases. How Konjola works its seeming wonders is being explained daily by the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. Just the other day the Konjola Man said:

MRS. ELIZABETH BRUBACH

"Konjola is a medicine that might have been compounded by Nature, for it works with Nature in cleansing and invigorating the ailing organs. Daily many call on me to say that in years of suffering and searching for relief, Konjola was the only medicine that benefited them. In many cases Konjola has proven vastly more effective than any previously known medicine."

How Konjola works is graphically shown by the statement that Mrs. Elizabeth Brubach, 3645 Wadlow Street, Pittsburgh, made to the Konjola Man:

"Konjola was a blessing to me for it was the only medicine that gave good results. I suffered from rheumatism for fifteen or sixteen years, but my condition has so improved after only three weeks' treatment of Konjola that I am glad to indorse it to others. I had such severe pains in my limbs that I could not bend my knees. The rheumatism was all through my body, in my legs, arms, hands and feet. I had terrible pains in the back of my neck. Many nights I did not sleep at all. I would get out of bed each morning feeling exhausted. My appetite was very poor, too.

"I had read about Konjola and how it had benefited countless thousands of men and women and so I started the treatment. I noticed a decided improvement in my condition before the first bottle was gone. Since taking Konjola for three weeks I sleep soundly, my appetite has improved, I eat my meals regularly and best of all, the rheumatism has been almost banished. In the past three or four nights I have not felt it at all, and that is something I have not experienced in years. I get up feeling more refreshed and do not tire as easily. I get around fine and the sharp, shooting pains are gone. I go to town whenever I wish. I can certainly recommend Konjola to all who suffer as I did."

The files of Konjola are filled to overflowing with such sincere and grateful indorsements and what it has done for others it will do for you.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is sold also by all Dow Drug Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

"Cutting the Corners"—The Modern Way to Shop: Save Time, Steps, Energy

From Diamond and Smithfield Streets to Fifth Avenue and Cherry Way is two city blocks by speedometer, pedometer or what have you. But as the crow flies, it's much, much shorter—the hypotenuse of the right triangle that you learned about at school.

Kaufmann's brings the geometry indoors for you; and on our new First Floor you save countless steps, precious minutes and a lot of energy in getting from where you are to where you want to be.

Paris, laid out by Napoleon, with the Arc de Triomphe as a center, has its streets radiating, spoke-like, in exactly the way the aisle-streets of our new First Floor are arranged. Paris is an ideal city to get around in—the model for all the world, the model for Kaufmann architects.

And not merely do you save time, steps and energy. For display cases arranged on the bias bring the displays into vision quickly—and permit more displays in any given area. You not only see the goods faster—you see more of them! More time, steps and energy saved! Enter Kaufmann's by any of the eight street entrances—and you find yourself eligible to make a new "world record" for speedy shopping.

PRESTES' TRIP BEGINS MAY 20

RIO JANEIRO, May 2—(AP)—An official announcement from Sao Paulo said that President-elect Julio Prestes will leave Brazil for his long-expected visit to the United States on May 20.

The President-elect will be accompanied by members of his family, his physician, several secretaries and diplomatic attaches. The party plans to remain in Washington for two days during which Prestes expects to have an interview with President Hoover and will then spend eight days in visiting various cities.

After consultations with bankers and business men, the party will leave for Europe.

Bonidy Honored At Italian Dinner

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 2—Prominent figures in state, judicial and political circles honored Joseph Bonidy, of Parnassus, an assistant district attorney, at a banquet sponsored by the Italo-Americans of Westmoreland County here.

Among those attending the dinner were Judge Eugene V. Allessandroni, of the Common Pleas courts of Philadelphia; Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, of Punxsutawney; Attorney Frank J. Zappala, of Pittsburgh; John A. Puggassi, of Pittsburgh, and Michael M. Musmanno, legislator from Allegheny County.

BROADWAY AND HOLLYWOOD IN REVIEW; ALSO LOCAL STAGE NOTES

About Mr. Neilan's Laugh And Tom Patricola's Paper-Selling

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.

Tom Patricola (Broadway star [illegible] who has "made good" in the gabloids) stopped to [illegible] a newspaper from the newsboy in front of the Roosevelt hostelry. He gave the lad a five dollar bill. Musta been payday. Nevertheless, he did. The newsboy asked Tom to keep an eye on his papers while he got change. Whilst Patricola obeyed orders, an elderly lady asked for a paper. Tom gave it to her. She handed him 5 cents and said he could keep the change. Mr. Patricola [illegible] paper work.

"Mickey" Neilan

"Mickey" directing Mary Pickford in "Forever Yours." Neilan has the most infectious laugh in the colony. Kind of a giggle mixed with a chuckle if you're still with me.

THAT CAESAR!

'Tother eve Al Jolson's new outfit "Mammy" debuted at the Warners downtown theater. 'Tis a backstage minstrel song-romance with Al doing his stuff. The old songs in the film listen better than the new pieces Irving Berlin wrote. Far better. The flick starts off swell, but takes an oozing marshmallowy detour that may make careless tear ducts do a Niagara.

Al Jolson

At the conclusion of the film Jolson took the stage and fired off a typical Jolson life-o-patter. That boy is a footlight wow. The highlight of Al's speech was mention of Universal's "All Quiet on the Western Front." He had seen it the night before and the picture made a tremendous impression. Al said Warner Brothers deserved some credit—indirectly to be sure—for "All Quiet." That had not Warners had the pioneer spirit to make "The Jazz Singer" talkies wouldn't be today.

As Al left the theater with Mrs. Jolson a youngster rushed him for an autograph.

Arthur Caesar, also on his way out, stopped and stage-whispered a Jolsonism:

JUNE MOON FOR FILMS

Since the Ring Lardner-George S. Kaufman comedy hit, "June Moon," hit the local boards, there has been some talk as to who will celluloid it. George Holland is producing this stage laugh in Los Angeles by arrangement with its New York sponsor, Sam H. Harris. Weeks ago, when Harris came to Hollywood to discuss an affiliation with a studio, it was believed he would transpose "June Moon" into a talky as his initial offering. But Harris returned east to busy himself with his fall stage prospects. Latest developments shift the possibility of film producer from Harris to George Holland. This department understands a deal is on tab now whereby Holland will take charge of a screen version of "June Moon" as soon as the play ends its local run.

From behind the sensitive recording ear-muffs tuned in to a flick microphone William Davis rises to elucidate:

"A bottle of bees, all buzzing, sound like a squadron of airplanes."

Carrick Graduates To Present Play

The June graduating class of Carrick High School will present A. E. W. Mason's three-act comedy, "Green Stockings," in the school auditorium May 8 and 9. E. F. M. Patton, a teacher in the school and one of the class sponsors, is in charge of the play. Mr. Patton is assisted by a committee of four pupils.

PAIN
so easily relieved!

How to treat
Headaches
Neuralgia
Neuritis
or check a Cold

WHY are some women so patient with pain? Shopping with a head that throbs. Working when they ache all over. Sometimes it's hours before they take Bayer Aspirin and get relief! Most men take these tablets the moment that some ache or pain threatens their comfort. So should you. Genuine Aspirin is perfectly harmless; cannot depress the heart. The tablet stamped Bayer is always genuine Aspirin, always the same, always safe. So it isn't sensible to suffer with a headache, a cold, neuralgic pains, or anything else that these tablets relieve almost as soon as swallowed. Buy by the bottle and save money. Any drugstore has the 100-tablet size.

"I have used a good deal of your medicine and always find it gives wonderful help. I was feeling so weak and miserable that I had to lie down very often and I could hardly do my housework. I read in the paper how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped other women who were in the same condition so I said I will try it for myself. I am very much better now and I recommend this medicine."—Mrs. J. W. Albertson.

"I have taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and can honestly say I feel much better in every way. I used to feel so lifeless and had no interest in anything and had to lie down often because of female weakness. Friends told me about the Vegetable Compound. Now I have a new hold on life again. My husband can see a great difference in my appearance."—Mrs. Wm. Mueting.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Man About Town

What probably will prove a sensation in the Park Avenue belt will be Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.'s book, "Park Ave.," due on June 16. The advance proofs scorched this desk and very likely they will sizzle the libraries in the tony territory, for most of the characters, according to the author's intimates, are based on living natives and actual happenings.

The Vanderbilt victims are thinly disguised to hear the whisperers tell it. The character "Strawbridge" being an exaggerated Sigourney Thayer, now the groom of Emily Davies Vanderbilt. "Schuyler Van Cortland" could be a composite of Mrs. Edmund L. Baylies and Emily Post. "Hugh Sandley" is obviously Louis Wiley of the New York Times. "The girl Violet" is a composite of some of the author's alleged friends. "Ernie Bonel" is Bernard Sobel, now a radio executive, but for many years the exploiter for Herr Ziegfeld.

"Percy Lyme" might be Billy Hoffman of the National City Bank. "Hawkins" is the deceased Gerald Goodman, long in the service of the Vanderbilt mansion. "Aubrey" is perhaps Craig Biddle. "De Lavelle" is not Kessler as might be believed, but the late Hans Stengel, who committed suicide in a similar manner, and "Gertrude James" resembles Zita Johann, the actress. The author calls himself "Schuyler Van Cortland" in his expose of the set he despises. "The Baroness de Marchienne" is the well-known Mme. de Cartier de Marchienne, the much wedded squaw of a former Belgian Ambass to the U. S.

The revelations incidentally remind us that "The New Broadway Brevities," which suspended publication a few years ago, will be revived late next month, backed by a mountain of Wall street coin.

It appears that Sir Harry Lauder didn't buy those seats to "The Green Pastures," as was recorded here. They were given to him by a friendly male admirer, who also provides the distinguished comedian with an apartment at the Mayflower while he is in New York. Lauder isn't so Scotch, either. All the royalties of his book, "Roamin' In the Gloamin'," go to orphans of war vets. His own son, you know, was killed in action. But Lauder won't give your little boy any taffy. "Children," he says, "should never be given candy."

He's Lauder and Funnier that way.

That promising young prima donna who used to rate your esteem now has to be carried out of the night clubs. . . . In one of the rowdier asylums the other ante meridian her escort was just as drunk and was no aid. . . . It must be the blazing brand of stuff. . . . Within an hour five different men and women collapsed on the dance floor. . . . The drunk who escorted the woman who had her molars knocked out (by an East Side gangster) was a Central Office detective.

The shake-up in Life's editorial rooms was the most devastating known in magazine circles. Almost the entire staff was fired. The new editor is last-named Mallory and comes from the Erwin-Wasey Advertising Agency's Pacific branch. . . . That ad outfit, it appears, prepared Life's anti-prohibition campaign and so pleased Clair Maxwell, the publication's president, that he decided Mr. Mallory would be more Life-like than the deposed editor, Norman Anthony.

Mr. Anthony, incidentally, who quit Judge for Life, is seeking a job as columnist, as if he hasn't enough trouble.

The spenders that infest Broadway have a spark, at any rate. Dorothy Dawn, of Mr. Carroll's "Vanities," who doubles at the Club Abbey after hours, was notified the other 5 a. m. that her grandmother, who raised her, had succumbed in Texas. The grief-stricken kid didn't have a sou. Two hours later, however, she was on a rattler, bound for the Lone Star State, with round-trip coin supplied by a Times Squareguy.

Miss Ethel Barrymore's criticism of New York "wisecracking critics" is companioned by Franklin P. Adams, of the N. Y. World, in which Miss Barrymore's interview with Paul Sifton appeared the other Sabbath.

You may recall that the actress said among other things: ". . . one or two of them ought to be shot at dawn. It is a sad comment on American manhood that Walter Winchell is allowed to exist." We replied that we found it difficult to believe that she ever said anything of the sort or even mentioned our name, because we called her "America's greatest actress" when we saw her for the first and only time two years ago in "The Constant Wife."

Mr. Adams, however, defends Miss Barrymore with: ". . . we will bet anything to nothing that Miss Barrymore's expressed wish to have Mr. Winchell annihilated was not founded upon his views on the drama. What many persons want Mr. Winchell exterminated for is his gossip column. Their notion is that he invades what tradition, and often a sense of decency and good taste, have taught them to think inviolable. . . . It is unlikely that she would have the slightest feeling for or against Mr. Winchell's dramatic critiques."

Well, a pair of tut-tuts and a pish-tush. The World, which employs Mr. Adams, last year desired the sort of gossip column that Mr. Adams would have you believe he doesn't devour. The World, or one of its executives, offered a job to us at a wage that was topped by another rag, and the executive at the time clearly asserted: ". . . we do not care what sort of a column you write all week, so long as you do that gossip stuff for us every Monday." The job also called for dramatic reviews as assistant to St. John Ervine.

But what we started out to report was that the Public Library files reveal that The World published the verbatim testimony of Evelyn Nesbit's seduction by Stanford White, printing more of it than any of its contemporaries. That apparently wasn't considered "poor taste" by Mr. Adams, whose employer, the late Joseph Pulitzer, said, in dictating the paper's policy: ". . . never be satisfied with merely printing the news, always be drastically independent. . . ."

And, anyway, we enjoy being in this sort of controversy, having envied the spotlight that was focused on Hannen Swaffer, the London critic, after so obscure an actress as Lillian Foster slapped his face.

School Called Off To Let Pupils Go Fishing

TOMAH, Wis., May 2—(AP)—The trout season opened yesterday, so the Tomah High School closed. Tired of too many unexplained absences on May 1 of each year, school officials decided to dismiss students for the day.

HAMPDEN TO PRESENT THREE DRAMAS NEXT WEEK

Seats are on sale at the Alvin box office for the one week engagement, commencing Monday night, of Walter Hampden. He will present three of his notable plays, "Richelieu," Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings; "Caponsacchi," Wednesday matinee and night and Saturday night, and "Hamlet" Saturday matinee.

Pittsburgh will be the scene of the final performance of William Gillette's farewell tour in "Sherlock Holmes." Having broken all records in a score of cities, including New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, the actor comes to the Nixon to conclude his tour in a final engagement of one week, commencing Monday, and on Saturday evening, May 10, Sherlock Holmes, in the person of William Gillette, will walk off the stage forever.

"After Dark," old-time melodrama, is being revived by the George Sharp Players. It will begin an engagememnt in the Pitt on Monday night.

Dr. Finley Williamson and the Dayton Westminster Choir gave us one of the best exhibitions of choral singing that we have had since they last appeared here. Their concert last night in Carnegie Music Hall should have been better attended, but our public believes perhaps that these singers perform only hymns, when in truth they give us the most varied religious music of all ages, priceless historical works that are as wonderful on the concert stage as in a cathedral.

J. Fred Lissfelt

There were extraordinary feats of contrapuntal singing in the music of Bach, especially attractive solo parts in the Spanish and Negro music, and driving force in the exhortations of the Russian hymns that are newer developments in the work of the choir. The humming of this group is like a strange new instrument. Their technique is further developed than before, and they are showing the beneficial effects of wider reading, of their excursions into Russian music especially.

They sing without accompaniment, entirely from memory, and are a superbly dignified body of true musicians.

The first of the Urban Morning Recitals in the William Penn Hotel yesterday morning brought Le Trio Morgan, Frances Morgan, violin, Virginia Morgan, harp and Marguerite Morgan, piano. There was a fashionable audience who found some very pleasant music for an hour before noon.

In contrast to the violent color and design of the Urban Room, this trio of charming ladies was all the more enchanting, dressed as if they had stepped out of a salon of the time of Empress Eugenie. To correspond with their costumes of another century, they played mainly music of ancient composers, all of which was easy to hear on May Day.

Their opening number was dedicated to the time of the troubadors. Were not these earliest singers the first press agents of the fair ladies of France and Spain? There were dances from Italy and Germany, and melodies from all lands; the vaguer impressions of Debussy and Albeniz as well.

Whether these players perform as an ensemble or as soloists, their music is always in miniature. They will be remembered for their charm rather than for their musical ability, for it was most pleasant entertainment.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

MERCY SLAYER GOES FREE

CHICAGO, May 2.—(AP.)—Mercy and the law united here to free a 70-year-old father from a charge of murdering his daughter "to end her sufferings."

The grand jury, consisting of 23 business men, declined to return an indictment against the aged man, Charles Cutler, both because of his pathetic story about the slaying and because the state indicated it would be unable to prove a corpus delecti.

Cutler, bent and gray, walked into a police station several weeks ago and confessed he had asphyxiated his daughter five years ago "to end her incurable suffering from heart disease." At the time the daughter was believed to have committed suicide.

The state said that in order to establish a corpus delecti, it would be necessary to have witnesses who had seen the daughter both alive and dead. The state's attorney said he had been unable to find such a witness. The undertaker who buried the body could testify to the death, but he did not see her alive, and a patrol wagon driver saw her alive, but did not see her dead.

LIQUOR PLANES ABANDONED

WINDSOR, Ont., May 2.—(AP.)—Because of "unnecessary publicity," liquor exporters announced they had abandoned the plan of shipping liquor to the United States outside the regular mail calls.

Walter S. Petty, assistant collector of customs in Detroit, was quoted as saying that liquor-laden planes were not landing in the Detroit area, but that he believed they were going to Saginaw, Mich., Chicago and even as far West as Milwaukee, where liquor prices are higher than along the border.

He also said that reports indicated fictitious license numbers were being used on the planes.

$100,000 Fire Razes Tannery in W. Va.

PAW PAW, W. Va., May 2.—(AP.)—Two of the five units of the Paw Paw tannery of the Union Tannery Company, operating throughout this section, were destroyed by fire here last night. The damage was estimated at $100,000 by company officials who said the property would be rebuilt at once.

Parochial School Damaged by Fire

ERIE, Pa., May 2.—(AP.)—The Sacred Heart parochial school here was damaged by fire yesterday a short time after the pupils had been dismissed. A blaze starting in the basement spread through a part of the building and was extinguished after a two-hour fight.

Cat Family Born On Grounds of White House

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—A stray alley cat found sanctuary in the White House grounds to present the world with five black, white and gray kittens.

The May Day kittens by turns ate or slept under the low-hanging evergreens where they were born. A bowl of milk was placed under the shrubs for the mother.

The White House dogs, including a massive Irish wolf hound, two setters and a great Eskimo dog, "Yukon," will not find the family. The dogs are confined to the south grounds, whereas the cat has her family in the north grounds, near the executive offices.

ENGLAND BANS RED GRID TEAM

LONDON, May 2.—(AP.)—J. R. Clynes, home secretary, announced in the House of Commons that he had refused an application from the British Workers' Sports Federation, which is affiliated with the sporting organizations of the Communist Internationale, for visas for a Soviet football team to tour Britain from April 18 to May 10. He said the action was taken "in the absence of evidence that the tour would be a genuinely sporting one."

Clynes added that a resolution of the Young Communists Internationale last December had stated "the working-class youths' sports unions must crystallize the basic kernel for strike pickets, for proletarian self-defense, for workers fighting committees, for Red Guards and people to work in imperialist armies. They should utilize sport organizations for military training."

Such a resolution was adequate grounds for refusing to sanction the tour of the Soviet team, the minister intimated.

Woman, 65, Killed In 10-Story Plunge

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(AP.)—Miss Claire Luttgens, 65, leaped or fell to her death last night from the fourteenth floor of a central city hotel. Her body landed on the roof of a four-story house adjoining the hotel. After an investigation police said the woman apparently had committed suicide, but they were unable to advance a motive.

Newcomerstown Man Falls Dead at 60

NEWCOMERSTOWN, O., May 2.—Clarence Gardner, 60, Newcomerstown, fell dead yesterday of heart disease. Joseph Sheets, his father-in-law, died last Tuesday.

Broken Arm in Fall Fatal for Ohio Man

STRASBURG, O., May 2.—Sherman Hostetter, 62, who fell off his porch and broke his arm, died of gangrene blood poisoning.

Perry Principal Named in Greene

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 2.—J. V. Ridenour, for six years principal of the Perry Township High School at Perryopolis, has been elected principal of the Cumberland Township High at Carmichaels. Ridenour will succeed Wilbur F. Keister, resigned.

Bus Line Absolved In Death of Man

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 2.—In the case of Donati Martinelli, 75, of Studa, who died in a hospital here after he fell from a bus, a coroner's jury found no criminal negligence on the part of the bus line.

Here's Druggists' Generous Offer to Thin, Tired Out Men and Women

If These Precious Tablets Don't Cause a Gain in Weight, Vigor and Vitality in 21 Days—Money Back.

The sooner the ailing men and women of America learn that they can gain in health, strength, vigor, energy, vitality and physical and mental efficiency by putting Nature's own Vitamins into their bodies — the sooner the general health of the country will be greatly increased.

Vitamins are as old as Creation, but as scientists only learned a few years ago of the magical benefits a sufficient supply bring to the human body you don't have to delve into the mysteries of vitamins to accept this offer.

Here it is: In McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets—there are no drugs—nothing but an abundance of health building vitamins.

We urge every person whose health is below par to take 8 McCoy's—a day for 21 days—two after each meal and two at bedtime.

We ask you to do this because we are sure that these magical tablets, brimful of rejuvenating Vitamins, in only 21 days will make you feel so much better and look so much better, that you will pass the good news of their mighty power to rebuild health, energy and vitality along to your friends.

Now please read this carefully: you can obtain McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets at your druggists, 60 tablets, 60 cents, or 110 tablets for $1.00. Take them faithfully for 21 days and then if you are not joyfully satisfied ask for and get your money back—druggists are authorized by the makers to return it without question. Just ask for McCoy's at any drug store in America. Bear in mind you can take these energizing tablets winter and summer.

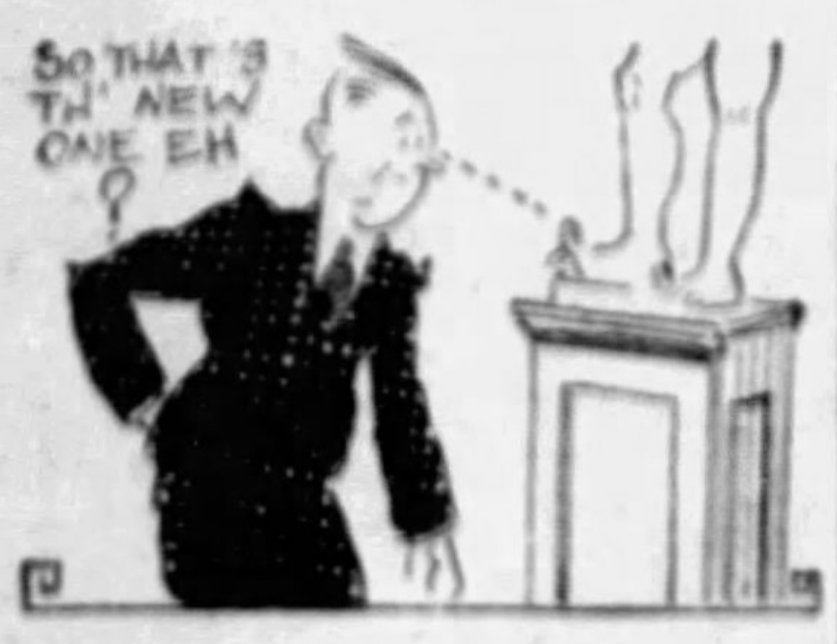
HEARING RESTORED BY DIVE IN PLANE

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

The best way to see Carnegie Museum is with Mr. Ross Polis, who knows all the secrets. Mr. Polis might lead you over to the "Standing Diskobolos," point to that statue's right arm and boast, "That's mine." From there you could stroll to "Statue of an Amazon," and Mr. Polis could say, "The thumb on the left hand is mine." You have probably passed "The Fallen Warrior" in the Carnegie lobby a dozen times without realizing that the third toe on the right foot is the product of Mr. Polis.



SO THAT'S TH' NEW ONE EH ?

Things like that Mr. Polis can tell you. He is the caretaker of the museum. His work is bathing and mending the statuary. Youngsters come in and snip off a finger here, a toe there, of this or that statue, and Mr. Polis comes around later and mends them—the statues. Probably he has mended the toes and fingers of more statues than any man alive, for Carnegie does these things on a bigger scale than any other museum.

When you mention the younger generation Mr. Polis shakes his head. Twenty-four years ago, when Ross, fresh from Italy, went to work in the museum, the young people didn't crack off the toes and fingers of statues for souvenirs. You might not believe this, but Ross assures you that a mischievous person once stole the entire right foot of "Apollo Playing on the Lyre." This was a challenge to Ross, but promptly he set to work and fashioned a right foot of Apollo's time in Greece, and you can't tell the difference. We couldn't.

Ross is an interesting, voluble man, in his fifties, a sculptor in his own right on a modest scale and an authority on the art that Italy has given the world. Every two or three years he bathes every monument in the city. This happens to be the bathing year. The monuments adorning the Highland avenue entrance to that park are the most difficult to bathe, for they are elevated 50 feet, representing on the one side Abundance, on the other, Temperance.

Replacing toes and fingers is not merely the business of roughly adding a plaster digit to the injured statue. As he goes from statue to statue on bathing days Ross searches for missing members. Let us say that Ross, while cleaning Apollo Sauroktonos, discovers, as he did recently, that four fingers on the right hand and one on the left are missing. After an under-the-breath exclamation or two, Ross will study the posture of Apollo Sauroktonos. He will examine the remaining fingers and determine to his satisfaction in just what position the original fingers hung. Then he will repair to his workshop in the basement and manufacture the necessary fingers. Attaching them to the statue is a delicate operation, but Ross' excellent results justify the care.

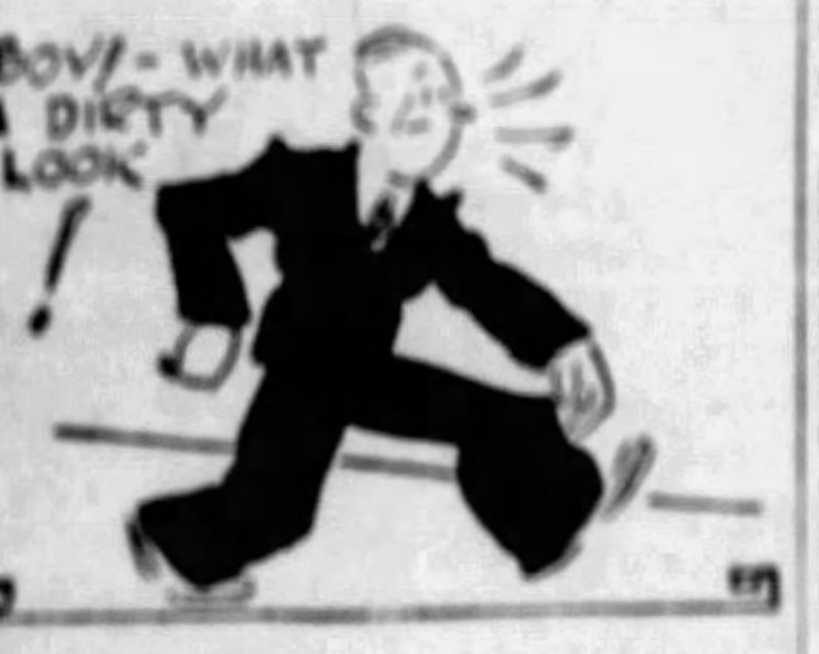
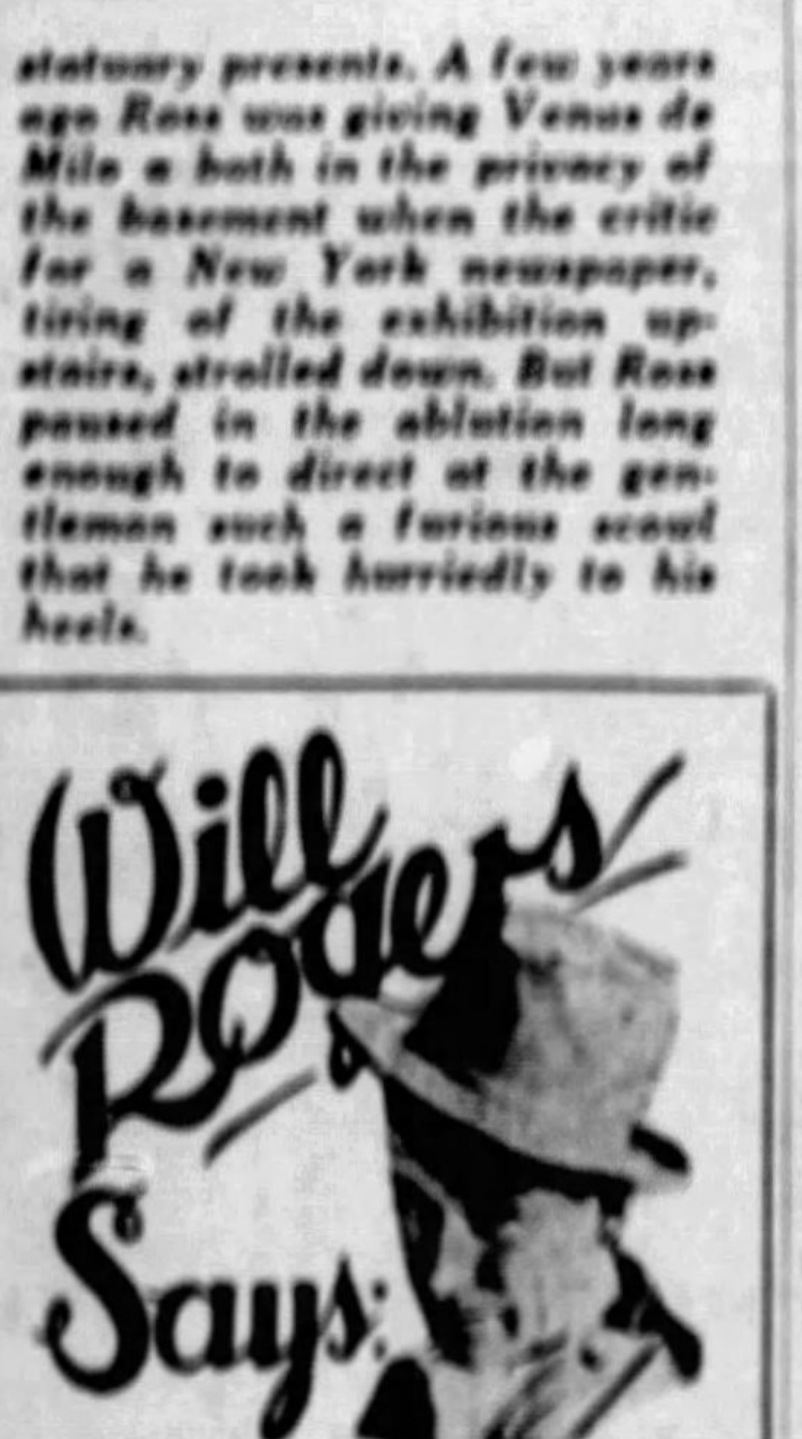
John O'Connor, Jr., manager of the department of fine arts, praises Ross for the clean appearance the Carnegie statuary presents. A few years ago Ross was giving Venus de Milo a bath in the privacy of the basement when the critic for a New York newspaper, tiring of the exhibition upstairs, strolled down. But Ross paused in the ablution long enough to direct at the gentleman such a furious scowl that he took hurriedly to his heels.



BOY! - WHAT A DIRTY LOOK !



Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal.
May 2.

Biggest news I see in the papers is among the footracers. Charley Paddock, "the world's fastest human," lost a 100-yard dash to some girl, for not showing up at starting time at the marriage bureau.

Henry Ford, "the world's best known human," won a 100-yard dash at Fredericksburg, Va., from his secretary. Edison will be racing Ford now, with John D. Rockefeller, Sr., challenging the winner.

We got to do something with those three rich kids. They just got nothing to do and are in some devilment every time we pick up a paper. Hoover ought to put 'em on a commission to investigate the kindergartens.

Yours,
WILL.

DE ROY, STORE HEAD, DIES IN PARIS

Stricken While on Business Trip; Belonged to Many Pittsburgh Organizations

Abraham J. DeRoy, 57, of 5731 Bartlett street, senior member of the jewelry firm of Joseph DeRoy & Sons, 311 Smithfield street, died today in Paris while on a business trip.

His wife, Mrs. Belle Feuchtwanger DeRoy, was with him. He had landed in France yesterday, having sailed from the United States one week before.

Mr. DeRoy was born in Pittsburgh, March 30, 1873, and received his early education in the public schools. He was prominently identified with the business, social and philanthropic life of Pittsburgh. He was a director of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, of the Gusky Orphanage, of the Tristate League of the National Jewelers' Association, a trustee of the Jewish Family Welfare Association, a member of Rodef Shalom congregation, of the Oakland F. & A. M., the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, the Concordia Club and the Westmoreland Country Club.

Besides his widow, Mr. DeRoy leaves a daughter, Mrs. David Rittmaster, of New York City; a son, Norman J. DeRoy, of Pittsburgh; two brothers, Al J. DeRoy and Ike DeRoy, both of Pittsburgh, and three sisters, Mrs. Milton M. Stern, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Adolf Marks, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Milton Kuttnauer, of Detroit.

Mrs. DeRoy is returning with the body of her husband on the Berengaria, which sails from Cherbourg tomorrow.

SAFETY HEADS FOR 'Y' CAMPS

A conference of camp directors for the Y. M. C. A. in Western Pennsylvania, held in the Central "Y," resolved to appoint safety directors for all camps this summer and to require a careful physical examination of boys coming to camp.

This action was taken after an address by J. E. Saunders of the National Safety Council, in which he said that while not one boy was drowned at any of the camps last summer, many accidents had occurred such as bruises, falls and cuts from the use of tools, which might have been prevented by more careful supervision.

Other speakers were A. R. Klemer, of New York, national boys' work secretary; Charles E. Ford, state boys' work secretary, and R. W. Gardner, boys' secretary at Warren.

Members of boards of directors of Y. M. C. A.'s of Western Pennsylvania, will be entertained tonight by the Coraopolis board. F. W. Ramsey, of New York, general secretary of the National Council, will be principal speaker.

Boy Fractures Skull In Fall From Tree

Charles Rose, 9, Negro, of 158 Montview street, North Side, is in the Presbyterian Hospital, in a critical condition, today, suffering injuries received when he fell 20 feet from a tree he was climbing near his home last night. His skull is fractured, the hospital reports.

Legion Post Holds Rehearsals for Play

Rehearsals are being held by Post 81, American Legion, for its annual play, "What Nice Glory," a two-act musical comedy, in the Perry High School, May 14, 15 and 16.

Weckoski, of Robber Loot Farm, Gets Parole

Joseph Weckoski, owner of a farm near Charleroi, Pa., on which part of the loot of Paul Jaworski's "Flathead Mob," was recovered, was paroled from the workhouse by Judge H. H. Rowand, in Criminal Court today.

He was sentenced May 24, 1927, to serve from five to ten years by Judge J. Frank Graff, of Armstrong County, after pleading guilty to robbery in connection with the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation payroll holdup December 24, 1926, when the Jaworski gang got $104,000.

Parole was asked by Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt, without setting forth any reason. Weckoski would have been eligible to seek parole after serving one-third of the sentence.

Insults Cause Ardeth to Leave Aunt's Place

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll, who rooms in her Aunt Stella's boarding house, is being wooed by Neil Burke. While out motoring with Neil, Ardeth sees Ken Gleason. Ardeth has never been introduced to Gleason and the two just gaze at each other. Neil becomes jealous. Later Neil asks Ardeth to marry him, but she refuses. Ardeth goes to work for Jeanette Parker in a new specialty shop. There Jeanette introduces Ardeth to Gleason. The two new friends go on a Sunday outing together to a houseboat owned by Gleason. Ken explains that he is employed by Jeanette's father. They return to the city after a happy day. Ardeth hopes to see Ken soon, but she is disappointed. Ardeth is surprised when she meets Ken one evening after leaving the shop. They have dinner together. After driving Ardeth home Ken says he could not stay away from her. Ken brings Tom Corbett to the shop and introduces him to Ardeth. Ardeth is surprised when she reads that Ken is engaged to Cecile, Jeanette's sister. Ken denies the story. He asks Ardeth to marry him and she consents. They plan to keep it quiet because of Ken's mother, who wants Cecile as a daughter-in-law. Scolded by her aunt for getting home late at night Ardeth explains that she is engaged to Ken.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXI.

Hazel eyes glowing with hot tawny lights . . . So bright, those eyes of Ardeth, with burning pride, that the others blinked as her gaze swept their faces.

Her voice was husky. Smothered with the tremendous effort to keep it steady.

"All right. If that's the way you feel about me, Aunt Stel, I'll save you the trouble of locking the door. I'll leave here tomorrow. I'll get a place of my own where no one—can insult me—"

She felt hot tears coming and turned swiftly before they should see them.

"Ardeth—!" She heard Neil speak as she reached her bedroom door, but she went in and closed it behind her.

The dark room swimming before her dazzled eyes after the glare of the other. As she pulled off her clothes with cold hands, her vision gradually cleared. The window grew out of the blackness, a gray rectangle—curtains looped back and blowing in the night wind. The street light seeping in showed a dark bulk in the bed. Bet—breathing in carefully simulated sleep.

But Ardeth knew that Bet had been lying tense, straining to the sound of the angry voices in the other room. They all hated her . . . they would be glad to have her go . . .

Thinks of Ken
Plans to Live in Hotel Until Married

She tried to plan as she crept in quietly beside the motionless Bet. A hotel room—something inexpensive. She could manage that until such time as she and Ken could be married. The thought of him brought a warm, sweet security to overlay her anger. She drifted to sleep serene in the memory of him.

The next morning she phoned Jeanette that she would not be down to the shop until afternoon. She packed her little round-topped trunk—the same shabby trunk she had brought to Aunt Stel's years ago.

A curious hush had fallen on the Harrison household. Paul and Pan ate their breakfast in round-eyed silence and had to be fairly chased out of the house at school time. Bet was aloof but her curiosity betrayed her into missing her usual street car to the office.

Aunt Stel, standing by the stove, tight-lipped and cold-eyed, shook sticky gobs of mush from the big spoon as though she mentally shook them in her niece's face.

Ardeth locked her trunk and put on her hat and coat. A queer little sinking in her heart when she stood for the last time in the middle of the bedroom she shared with Bet. The pink curtains she had made . . . the dresser scarfs . . . that pincushion she had won at a raffle a year ago and given to Bet . . . Shabby and ugly and ungracious—but it was the only home she could claim . . . These people after all were her own.

Leaves
Treated Coldly by Her Aunt Stel

Had Aunt Stel shown any sign of tenderness then, Ardeth would never have left. She hesitated in the doorway of the kitchen, a slim figure with wistful eyes.

"Goodby, Aunt Stel . . ." she said softly.

But the faded irises on the back of Aunt Stel's kimono remained unagitated; the crimped head merely bent lower over the morning paper.

For a moment the girl remained motionless in the doorway, deep hazel eyes fastened on Aunt Stel's head, where the brown switch in back did not match the crimped gray in front. Then Ardeth turned and went steadily down the stairs.

The street was bleak in the flat, foggy light of morning. She noticed how the pavements were chalked with hopscotch games—just as she and Bet had chalked them when they played on the street as youngsters. And now she was leaving this home forever . . .

Spirits Soar
Happy When She Gets Place to Herself

Passing the sunken cellar steps of the grocery store at the corner, always a favorite refuge in hide-and-go-seek games, she remembered hiding there with Neil one warm evening—the excitement and the close contact of their warm bodies as they had crouched in a corner. It was the first time Neil had kissed her.

Now the trade winds had swirled scattered newspapers in there. They rustled bleakly as she passed, and for no particular reason Ardeth felt a lump come in her throat and very young tears stung her eyes.

She found a room in a European plan hotel. It was hardly larger than a closet, wedged in at the angle of an ell, with its one window overlooking a stretch of gravel roof and chimney tops. Even at that the rent was a trifle more than Ardeth had intended paying. But it was within walking distance of the shop and by economizing on dinners and preparing her breakfasts on an electric plate, she could manage.

It contained a narrow couch which could be converted to a bed at night. In the daytime it would take on enough of a living room appearance to permit company.

Her spirits, with the quick rebound of youth, soared again. Pleasant to have a room all to herself and not have to share the bed with Bet. No one scolding—no one spying. Scratched a bit—the golden oak furniture, and the Brussels carpet was a little faded, but it was scrupulously neat and very peaceful up here among the chimney tops.

She paid the first week's rent in advance and sent an expressman for her trunk.

When she went to the shop that afternoon she found Jeanette flurried and slightly cross at having to manage by herself.

Gets 10 to 20 Years For Two Robberies

Convicted of two robberies, William L. Moore, 28, of 2316 Fifth avenue, today was sentenced by Judge E. M. Biddle in Criminal Court to 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

On February 8 Moore robbed Philip Crosby, 28 Emma street of $48. Last June Moore held up Harry Bauer in his store at 2228 Tustin street and stole $30.

Lose Pound-a-Week Menu

DIET NO. 5

A safe and sane diet, which should reduce weight at the rate of one pound a week, is appearing daily in the Sun-Telegraph. Here is the fifth day's diet, for tomorrow:

BREAKFAST
One-half orange
Four tablespoonsful of cereal
One slice of dry toast
Coffee, one cup, with milk, no sugar

LUNCH
Moderate portion of filet of sole
Combination salad, without dressing
Cauliflower
One thin slice of bread
Tea, one cup, with milk, no sugar

DINNER
One plate of consomme
Moderate portion of roast beef
Broccoli
One boiled potato
Head lettuce salad, without dressing

Diet Hints

Beware of those tempting sundaes and rich cakes—if you're trying to gain the fashionable slender waistline!

There should be no sweets, and no desserts. Nothing should be eaten between meals.

The craving for sweets is mostly habit anyhow, can be satisfied by fresh fruits provided in the diet. Foods which supply bodily energy without adding poundage are included in the series of daily diets.

The diets place no limit on the amount of vegetables and salads. Moderate portions of meat and fish are recommended. Either a thin slice of bread or one potato may be included in the menu for lunch or dinner.

HIKE MAY COST STUDENT LIFE

A shoeless midnight hike along the Churchill road near the Edgewood Country Club, as part of a fraternity initiation, may prove fatal for Maurice Page, a Carnegie Institute of Technology student. Struck by the machine of a "hit-run" driver, Page is in a critical condition in the Columbia Hospital.

Page's companions said his shoeless condition was not part of the initiation ceremonies. He was wearing spiked football shoes and removed them for comfort, they said.

A suspect was being detained at the Wilkinsburg Police Station as the driver of the car. Police expected an arrest would be made shortly.

According to reports at the county detective bureau, Page, who lives at a fraternity house at 622 Clyde street, was being initiated into the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He and several companions were hiking along the road as part of the initiation when he was struck by the machine. Companions removed him to the hospital and notified police.

The youth is a resident of Pontiac, Mich.

CHUTE SAVES TWO IN CRASH

Broken Wing Causes Plane to Tumble to Duquesne Mill Roof

An airplane ride which ended in a crash on the roof of a Duquesne steel plant has restored, temporarily at least, the complete hearing of D. Allen Dittman, young clothing salesman of Waynesburg.

But the plane was in ruins. And Dittman and his pilot, Chester Pickup, 26, experienced narrow escapes from death. Their parachutes saved them.

Dittman, his hearing impaired, employed the plane from the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service at Bettis Field yesterday in the hopes that a swift dive from a high altitude would restore his hearing completely.

WING CRACKS

They were in the air 45 minutes when the plane faltered. A wing cracked at 12,000 feet and fell to the earth, Pickup reported.

Employes of the Carnegie Steel Company's plant looked up to see a ship tumbling down toward them.

Pickup and Dittman hopped away from the plane and pulled the cords that loosed their 'chutes. Pickup's opened immediately. He landed safely on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks. Dittman, whose 'chute was slow in unfolding, touched ground in the open hearth yard of the steel plant.

CRASHES STEEL PLANT

The plane crashed onto the roof of No. 1 open hearth and spread to ruins.

Dittman was resting in his Waynesburg home today, hoping that the restoration of his hearing would be permanent. Once before he flew in Los Angeles for the same reason. Then the improvement was temporary.

The Sun-Telegraph talked with him by telephone. He heard every word of a reporter who spoke in a low tone.

CRACKS 9,000 FEET UP

The plane was about 9,000 feet in the air when the wing broke and fell, Pickup was said to have reported at the field. The plane had dropped several thousand feet when the two occupants leaped from it.

Three hundred men on the night shift were at work in the open hearth when the ship struck the roof and was wedged against a truss. The workmen, frightened by the noise of the impact, ran for exits.

Shortly afterwards with the aid of a crane the remnants of the plane were removed and placed on a flat car. The ship was valued at about $8,000.

$152,671 GIVEN IN M. E. DRIVE

Contributions totalling $152,671 have been received in the drive of the Methodist Episcopal Church Union for $300,000, it was announced at the second meeting of workers in the Chamber of Commerce last night. Since Monday $21,750 has been raised.

Speakers at the dinner were the Rev. Dr. J. B. Magee, pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, and chairman of the third Allegheny division of the drive; J. C. McQuiston and Dr. Sanford W. Corcoran. John W. Vickerman, chairman of the drive, presided.

Conneaut Fake War Ace Draws $50 Fine

Edwin Buck, 42, real estate dealer of Conneaut, Pa., alleged to have posed as "Eddie Rickenbacker," World War flying ace, was fined $50 by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Station today on a charge of being a suspicious person.

Buck was arrested at Penn avenue and Stanwix street yesterday when, it is charged, he attempted to elope in an automobile with Grace Dietrich, 22, telephone operator, of 107 Oak street, Overbrook. The girl's mother, Mrs. Alice Dietrich, stopped them and summoned police, who took Buck into custody.

WIFE'S APPEAL ASKS DIVORCE BE VOIDED

Plea of North Side Woman Against Decree Granted Mate Heard in High Court

Argument was heard yesterday before the Superior Court on the appeal of Mrs. Grace Irene Frank, to set aside the divorce decree obtained by her husband, Joseph F. Frank, Chateau street, North Side.

The husband charged his wife with improper conduct with Max Schumann, naming a house in Etna as the place where the alleged indiscretions took place. The wife contested the case, which was tried before Judge Joseph M. Swearingen.

Frank and his wife were married April 2, 1924, when Mrs. Frank was 22, and have a child, 6. It is claimed by respondent's counsel that the lower court decided the case, not on the evidence of two detectives alone, but on a circumstantial written confession by the respondent. At the trial of the case Mrs. Frank denied the husband's averments.

Other cases argued included Joseph Sauter against Theresa H. Greele and others for damages; appeal of Rose E. Logan in the estate of P. L. Logan; Clyde and Elizabeth Coots against Dr. Charles A. Lauffer, the plaintiffs appealing from the judgment of the lower court.

SERVICE BOARD CHALLENGED

Counsel for the Nevin Bus Lines yesterday argued before the Superior Court that it was not necessary for the Nevin company to obtain a certificate of public convenience, as directed by the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania.

The bus line has challenged the jurisdiction of the commission, by failing to make application ordered by that body in an order handed down June 11, 1929, finding the operation of the line to be intrastate commerce and violative of the public service law.

The company was directed to desist acting as a common carrier between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia or any points within the state, without a certificate. The commission claims that, while the Nevin company operates 10 miles of its route in Maryland, the other 300 are within Pennsylvania, and does not constitute interstate business.

SCOUTS HOSTS TO PARENTS

More than 100 parents and friends are expected to attend the annual parents' night of Troop 100, Boy Scouts of America, to be held this evening in the troop's headquarters, the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Station street and North Highland avenue. The entertainment will be preceded by a banquet, at which the Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, will pronounce the invocation. A talk will be made by A. T. Benson, chief executive, Allegheny County Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Woman to Be Heard On Liquor Charges

Mrs. John Selein, of 113 Forest avenue, West Homestead, is to be given a hearing tonight before Burgess Robert A. Morrow following the raiding of her home by Police Chief David Lindberg late yesterday. A still, two gallons of whisky and several barrels of mash were seized, Lindberg said. Mrs. Selein was arrested, but later released under bond, according to police.

2 WEEKS OLD, OWNS 3 TEETH

When August Valani, Jr., was born two weeks ago he flashed a perfectly-formed tooth.

Not content, August produced two more teeth. Now all three are quite an attraction out in Lenora street.

Doctors say most children lose their sweet dispositions when teeth start protruding.

Not so with August. He cries, it's true, but only a little. August's pet aversion is photographers. No amount of coaxing will induce him to summon forth a smile for the "birdie." When the camera man turns his back out comes a smile showing the three teeth.

August is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Valani, of 555 Lenora street, East End.

10 SCHOOLS IN TECH CONTEST

Ten colleges of Western Pennsylvania have accepted the invitation of the Carnegie Institute of Technology to participate in the regional eliminations of the Sixth annual intercollegiate oratorical contest, to be held this evening in the auditorium of Margaret Morrison Carnegie College.

Frank C. Harper, the Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, and Attorney Earl F. Reed, will judge the orations. Two orators will be chosen to compete in the regional eliminations to select the final winner for the country.

Students participating in the contest will be guests of the Carnegie Institute of Technology at a 6 o'clock dinner this evening. Prof. Leo T. Lawler, of the Department of English, is in charge of the contest.

Census Coupon to Aid Accurate Count

In a final effort to make Allegheny County's census enumeration as accurate as possible, the supervisors in this territory have appealed to all residents who have been overlooked in the canvass to notify the headquarters in the American State Bank Building, Sixth avenue and Grant street.

To facilitate the matter readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph who have not been enumerated have been asked to fill out the coupon printed on this page.

James E. Routley, supervisor for the Fourteenth District, pointed out that many persons have been overlooked. In many instances, he said, this was neither the fault of the enumerator nor the resident. The people have been appealed to from the standpoint of civic pride and patriotism to co-operate in measures which will give the world an accurate count of the population of the city and county.

Census Coupon

If you have not been enumerated in the 1930 Census or the Census Enumerator in your district has not called on you, fill out your name and address below and mail to the U. S. Census Supervisors, American State Bank Bldg., Pittsburgh.

LOSES HIS HOLD ON SPARE TIRE OF MACHINE

Little Child Runs in Front Of Auto in Braddock; Girl Hurt in N. S. Crash

His skull fractured, Arthur Gray, 11, of 842 Progress street, was in the Allegheny General Hospital today as a result of being struck by an automobile driven, police say, by Frank C. Brandt, 25, of 617 Edmond street, last night. The boy, police say, was stealing a ride on the spare tire of another automobile in North Canal street, near Cedar avenue, when he fell into the path of Brandt's machine.

LITTLE GIRL HURT

Katherine Cognito, 4, of 513 Sixth avenue, Braddock, was slightly injured when struck by the automobile of Thomas Kealy, of 1020 Maple street, Wilmerding, late yesterday, police say. The accident happened when the child ran in front of the car near her home, the police report stated.

Miss Bertha Wills, 18, of 1503 Brighton road, was cut and bruised this morning when the machine of Louis E. Zore, 25, of 3105 Kennett Square, in which she was riding, hit the safety zone in Federal street at Park way. She was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital. Zore was arrested when he was unable to show a driver's license.

DRAMATIC SPEAKER HARANGUING GREAT CROWD IN MAY DAY COMMUNIST MEETING IN PUBLIC SQUARE AT CLEVELAND

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Modern woman finds the care of the home insufficient to occupy all her time. How can she use her spare time to the best advantage both to herself and mankind in general?

J. P. M'FARREN, McKees Rocks, purchasing agent: It is my opinion that the modern woman could make good use of her spare time by raising a family. It seems many of our women are afraid of families. Our small houses of today and electric irons, washers and refrigerators make the woman's task easy.

J. P. McFarren

F. H. GFROERER, North Side, office manager: I would advise a small family for the woman who is left with spare time on her hands. She could spend as much time as she wished working for the advantage of the children. Then, too, a woman may cultivate the arts.

F. H. Gfroerer

W. K. THOMAS, South Hills, salesman: If a woman wishes to use her free hours for the best interest of herself and society she should take up music, painting or literature. By doing so she would find new interests and derive a lot of happiness from life.

W. K. Thomas

DOROTHY WOERNLE, Crafton Heights, clerk: There are several things a housewife could do. She might develope her mind by reading good books, do welfare work or do sewing. Either one of these things will interest her and be of advantage to her family.

Miss Woernle

MARGARET EDGAR, Beechview, stenographer: I think welfare work among the poor is the best thing a woman with leisure could possibly take up. There are lots of cases that need attention and don't get it. Of course, a wife should not neglect her family by working on a side line.

Miss Edgar

DORA WESTERMAN, East End, clerk: If there is any way a wife could save her husband money by doing odd jobs in her spare time she should be interested. There are some women, though, that need spare time for recreation after they work about the house.

Miss Westerman

TEN RECOVERING FROM INJURIES IN TROLLEY CRASH

TWO CROWDED EAST LIBERTY CARS HIT

Splitting Switch on Turn, One Plunges Into Side of Other; Victims in Hospital

Ten persons today were nursing injuries suffered when two street cars crashed head-on at Center and Penn avenues shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday.

The accident occurred when a west bound Homestead-East Liberty car split a switch and crashed into an East Liberty-Butler street car going the opposite direction. The victims, passengers in both cars, suffered bruises and were taken to the Pittsburgh Hospital by police.

Those injured were Abe Antis, 42, of 751 Chislett street, who was kept at the hospital; Mrs. C. Brooks, 46, of 121 North Linden avenue; Mrs. J. Heisel, 29, of 646 Larimer avenue, her daughter, Patricia, 5; Anthony Tigoli, 45, of 22 Larimer avenue; Victor Olive, 23, of 199 Shetland avenue; Miss Mary Ambrose, 19, of 124 East Fifth avenue, Homestead; Mrs. Lulu Harris, 47, of 1200 North St. Clair street; Clara D. Anderson, Aspinwall, and Mrs. S. McDaniels, of 129 North Linden avenue.

Traffic was tied up for a short time while the emergency crew of the railways company replaced the cars on the tracks.

$200,000 ASKED BY GROCER IN ARREST

Trust Company Sued After Case Against Owner of Two Stores Is Quashed

Suit for $200,000 damages was filed in Common Pleas Court by William Sharpe, grocer, against the Pennsylvania Trust Company for alleged false arrest and injury to his reputation.

Sharpe has a retail store at 3011 Center avenue and another at 275 East Eighth avenue, Homestead. He claims that the trust company caused Edgar R. Ray, a professional detective, to bring an information against him before Alderman Charles A. Burke, August 20, 1924, accusing him of receiving merchandise from Jacob and Benjamin Marcus, with intent to defraud.

The plaintiff in the damage suit says he was arrested, bail fixed at $25,000 and was in jail for four days, before he obtained the amount. Following the hearing, bail was increased to $50,000. He says that on May 28, 1929, the case was nolle prossed in court and the county ordered to pay the costs. No testimony was taken in court, Sharpe avers. Sharpe claims he was injured by reason of the prosecution.

BIBLE SESSION ON TOMORROW

Delegates from many points in the state will attend the Pennsylvania State Adult Bible Class Federation convention in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow and Sunday. A Fellowship dinner will be served in the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night, at which Henry E. Cole, president of the Allegheny County Sabbath School Association, will preside.

Speakers at the sessions will be Dr. James McQuillan, of the Carnegie United Presbyterian Church; the Rev. E. P. Westphal, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Ella B. Black, president of the Pennsylvania W. C. T. U.; Daniel Slep, of Altoona, president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association; Dr. O. W. Warmingham, of Boston; Dr. J. M. GIMBEL HERE, LAUDS CITY

Bernard F. Gimbel, noted merchant, was in Pittsburgh yesterday, and with him was Mrs. Gimbel, paying her first visit to the city.

Mr. Gimbel is president of Gimbel Brothers, Inc., operating Gimbel's, Saks Fifth Avenue and Saks Thirty-fourth Street stores in New York, Saks Fifth Avenue, of Chicago, and Gimbel's in Philadelphia, Gimbel's in Milwaukee and Gimbel's in Pittsburgh.

In an interview he said:

LAUDS PITTSBURGH

"I am impressed by the civic spirit of Pittsburgh and by the appreciation of the beautiful that is shown here. It is reflected in the fine new buildings, in the good taste shown by women in their clothing, and in the furnishings of homes.

"I observe on the streets the same styles in dress, the same smartness that one notes in New York and Paris.

"This appreciation of the beautiful, the elegant and the artistic is widespread. The American people, in fact, are becoming a nation of connoisseurs, but the trend is particularly noticeable in Pittsburgh, and I think it must be due, at least in part, to the influence of the Carnegie Institute, and the schools of fine arts in the University of Pittsburgh and the Carnegie Institute of Technology. They have developed the best in art."

BUSINESS SHOWS GAIN

Mr. Gimbel said that business generally was showing improvement. The Gimbel chain did $125,000,000 of business last year, and the company's business for the fiscal year was a little ahead of last year. The volume of business for the first three months of the calendar year, he added, exceeded that of the corresponding period of 1929.

$150,000 ASKED IN AUTO CRASH

For the loss of several teeth on the part of one young woman and a disfigured face for the other, as a result of an automobile being run into by a Pittsburgh Street Railways Company car, suit was brought against the latter for $150,000 damages.

The claimants are Jean N. Weaver, of North Braddock, who says that when a street car collided with the automobile in which she was riding it injured her about the body and disfigured her head and face. The other plaintiff, Florence Unger, daughter of Wendell Unger, of Pittsburgh, lost the teeth and suffered concussion of the brain.

Each woman asks $75,000. The accident occurred November 30 last in Carson street near the Castle Shannon Incline.

GIVE HARMONICA CONCERTS

With only three weeks of instruction, the Penn Avenue School Girls' Harmonica Band has opened a series of concerts to show what harmony can be produced with the humble mouth organ after a few lessons.

The band members, 50 girls from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, entertained the students of Union High School, Turtle Creek, at chapel exercises Wednesday morning. The program was under the direction of E. I. Clark, instructor.

The girls are apt pupils and are able to play two selections after the first lesson, Clark said. He declared that the harmonica was taught because it influenced the students to study other musical instruments later in life.

Missionary Circle Elects Officers

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society, Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, at its annual business session, yesterday elected these officers: President, Mrs. Harry A. Pickering; first vice president, Mrs. George B. Morgan; second vice president, Mrs. Samuel L. Hosack; third vice president, Mrs. Charles R. Noll; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Saints; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frederick Giffin; treasurer, Mrs. John H. Bragdon; financial secretary, Mrs. Samuel K. Rodgers; field support secretary, Mrs. William W. Hulton; supervisor junior work, Mrs. John M. Cunningham; supervisor standard bearers, Mrs. Richard R. Rose; supervisor, light bearers, Mrs. Harry Patton.

Plant 100,000 Trees In County Parks

A total of nearly 100,000 trees are being planted in the county parks in the reforestation program. Of these 50,000 are evergreen two to three-year seedlings; 25,000 three-year old transplants of maple, oak, hickory, walnut, ash, tulip, magnolia, hackberry, elm, willow and mulberry and the balance nut-bearing and ornamental trees. The work is under the supervision of Paul B. Riis, director of the Bureau of Parks.

Ministers to Assist Installing Pastor

All local ministers of the Evangelical Synod of North America will attend installation services tonight for the Rev. Paul Stoerker, who is to become pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Collins avenue and Station street, East End. The Rev. Mr. Stoerker was formerly pastor of St. Paul's Church in St. Louis.

2 GIRLS WOULD SOAR TO MOON

If Prof. Robert Hutchings Goddard, of Clark University, Mass., wants subjects for a ride to the moon on the rocket he is developing, he'll find two Pittsburgh sisters willing passengers.

They are Catherine and Mildred Knight, both 19, of 414 McKee place. And to show the professor they are not jesting both have written him, offering their services when and if needed. The pair, according to their statements, are greatly interested in astronomy. The lunar regions have always held a subtle fascination for them, they say.

Both realize that 234,000 miles from the earth is a long way off, but that doesn't daunt them. If Goddard's moon rocket is successful they are sure they'll land safely. But as yet, neither has taken into consideration over what route they'll return.

It may be the Milky Way and then—it may not.

Catherine Knight said:

"If Goddard accepts us when his rocket is ready, we'll surely take advantage of the opportunity. I realize that atmospheric conditions on Luna are nothing to write home about, but I'm sure some of these days flying suits, stylish and serviceable at the same time—equipped with oxygen masks, will be developed for such a purpose."

Mildred Knight added:

"If there is any way to communicate with the earth we will do so."

Informed that the two girls had offered themselves as passengers on the proposed jaunt, Prof. Frank C. Jordan, of the Allegheny Observatory, noted astronomer, said he wished them "the best of luck."

For several years Prof. Goddard has been working on models of rockets he proposes to shoot to the moon by exhaust gases from internal engines. So far he has been unsuccessful, although several working models have been developed.

Ingram Pupils in Cleanup Parade

Pupils of the Ingram Junior High School were to hold a cleanup parade at 2:30 p. m. today. After traversing the principal streets of the borough, the pupils will disband and begin cleaning up the streets and vacant lots.

CRIME BEGINS IN CHILDHOOD

At least 85 per cent of adult criminals began their crime career while children, K. D. Magruder, secretary of the Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs, said, in calling attention, in connection with Child Health Day, to the need of child welfare work as the best solution for crime.

"Our failure to practice prevention," Mr. Magruder said, "is largely responsible for the breakdown of our legal machinery, which is overweighted by the cumulative masses of fully-developed criminals. This breakdown in turn has bred contempt for law even among our good citizens.

"Pennsylvania taxpayers have been called upon to support ineffective machinery for law enforcement within our own state at the rate of $15,000,000 annually, yet the public remains inactive in bringing about a correction of fundamental evils except when some terrible tragedy shocks it for a time."

North Braddock Man Accused Over Rum

Accused of transporting moonshine, Peter Barbanio, 35, of 1317 Brinton avenue, North Braddock, is to be given a hearing tonight before Justice of the Peace Walter Terrell, of West Homestead. Barbanio was arrested last night by Motorcycle Patrolman Harold Russell of West Homestead police, who said he found approximately a gallon of moonshine in the automobile driven by his prisoner. Barbanio was released under bond of $500 pending the hearing, police said.

M. E. MISSION PARLEY HERE

Many leaders of the Methodist Episcopal Church missionary movement in foreign lands are expected to attend a missionary convention in Soldiers and Sailors' Memorial Hall, May 20 and 21. Under the auspices of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, they will meet here with American clergymen. Bishop Herbert Welch, of Pittsburgh, will preside.

Bishop Frederick B. Fisher, Calcutta, India, and Bishop James C. Baker, of Japan and Korea, are among the speakers scheduled. Both of these men were formerly prominent in Methodist Episcopal Church activities in the United States, according to W. W. Reid, of the Board of Foreign Missions.

Four converts from the Orient will appear at the meetings. Of high caste in their own lands, they are leaders in Christian activities in the East. They will attend the three sessions of the convention each day of the meeting.

WILL LECTURE ON MURALS

Illustrating with charcoal and crayon, Boardman Robinson, American artist, who painted the 10 mural painting depicting progress of commerce for Kaufmann's, will give a lecture today in the store's auditorium, starting at 4 o'clock.

Photographic reproductions of the murals will be on view on the platform. Mr. Robinson will review the three years' study and painting that was necessary to weave a continuity through the series of murals now hanging on Kaufmann's first floor. The lecture will be free to the public.

Fire in Dwelling Blamed on Tramps

Tramps are blamed by police for the fire last night in a vacant dwelling at 1314 Spring alley. The building, a two-story brick structure is soon to be torn down and the damage was negligible, police reported.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Folk Turn Out at Recital

Le Trio Morgan, as attractive as a fresh day in May, gave a May Day recital yesterday morning in the Urban Room of the William Penn Hotel, and later were guests of honor at a luncheon. Two more Thursday morning musicales will be given, on May 8 and 15.

And enhancing the youthfulness of the artists were the ushers, a group of debutantes. Martha Edmondson, who was chairman of the ushers, wore a smart frock of beige wool crepe, fashioned with a cape. Her hat was of eggshell straw. Betty McCance, one of her aides, wore Pirate blue crepe de chine with a hat of straw in the same shade, and Margaret Berger chose a smart Kelly green crepe dress boasting a cape, and had a hat of black lace straw.

Another debutante usher was Marie Louise Bickford, gowned in cinnamon brown wool crepe with beige chiffon vest and cuffs. Harriet Pickes was in jade green crepe.

Very smart was Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., in a printed gown of black crepe scattered with small green figures. And her hat was of black straw.

Prints Popular

I noticed Mrs Carl H Borntraeger in the large audience. She wore a blue frock flaunting small white polkadots so much in vogue this season and a coat of fleet blue wool with a cape. Her hat was of blue straw. A brown ensemble with a hat of brown baku was worn by Mrs. H. E. Wainwright, Jr., and a blue georgette gown with touches of cream lace at the neck and wrists by Mrs. Ralph Euler, of Sewickley. Her hat was of blue straw.

Among the late arrivals was Miss Marie Dermitt, who wore a printed gown with a blue background, and Mrs Smith Christie in black crepe.

Mrs. James Edward Lewis was in a black ensemble and Mrs John E. Nelson wore a beige tweed suit. Others I caught a glimpse of were Mrs. Howard A. Noble, Mrs J. J. Brainard, Mrs D. M. Clemson, who wore a brown tweed suit and a brown straw hat, Mrs. Mary Thompson and Mrs Ambrose Nevin Diehl, who wore a black crepe dress trimmed in white and a black hat.

Mrs. Arthur B. Siviter wore an interesting gown of brown satin and brown brocaded satin with a hat of brown straw.

June Date

Another June wedding date has been named. Edith Crawford, daughter of Mrs. Charles Sumner Crawford, of South Fairmont avenue, has named June 11 as the date for her marriage to Clarence Howard Vant, of Ithaca, N. Y. The wedding will take place in the family home, with only the two families attending. And there will be no attendants.

Yesterday Pittsburgh Junior League members attending the tenth annual session of the national league in New York were whether or not the league, a strictly American organization founded on American social standards, should become international or not. It is expected that international policies will be favored.

Last night several New York society leaders entertained the delegates at dinners in their homes.

Spring Resort

Hot Springs has attracted ever so many Pittsburgh folks. The William Wise Whitcombs, whose marriage took place Monday, are there for their honeymoon. Of course you know that Mrs. Whitcomb was formerly Nan Bunton, daughter of the C. C. Buntons. The M. Baird Youngs, the bridegroom's father and mother, are at the Spa, too.

On Tuesday evening the William G. Costins entertained with a dinner in the Homestead. And among the guests were the Thomas Atterbury McGinleys, of the North Side and Sewickley Heights.

The Edward B. Scullis are at Hot Springs as are Mrs. George S. Oliver and Mrs. Van Lear Perry Shriver.

Have you heard that Miss Charlotte Wiggin has been named head mistress of the Shearer School to take the place of Mrs. Percy G. Kammerer, who has resigned since Dean Kammerer, of Trinity Cathedral, has accepted a position as provost at the Avon Old Farms School at Hartford, Conn.? The Kammerers will leave the city this summer.

Prom In East

The Princeton prom and house party this week-end will be one of the most important events of the spring for the younger set. Among those who are going to the prom are Marjorie Catherine Stewart, daughter of the Howard G. Stewarts, who is a student at the National Cathedral School, Washington, and Eunice Watson, daughter of the Thomas Watsons, of Forbes street, who is a student at National Park Seminary. Marjorie will leave Washington today for the East.

Pledge Troth

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Caveney, of Kentucky avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Maria Louise Caveney, to Robert A. Coolahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Coolahan, of Howard Park, Baltimore, Md. The wedding will take place in London, England, in June.

Miss Mildred F. Geisler, of Ainsworth street, and Miss Anna M. Hess, of Wabash avenue, will be among those to attend the Passion Play at Oberammergau this summer. They are going abroad on a tour conducted by the Catholic Students' Travel League. They are sailing from New York on May 15.

* * *

Mrs. Bennett Oliver, of Howe street, has been in New York for several days, registered at the Barclay.

Miss Ruby Stoner, of Millvale avenue, and Miss Alice McCurdy, of Wilkinsburg, are spending a week in Bermuda.

* * *

Mrs. John M. Milliken, of the Schenley apartments, who has been spending the winter in California and Honolulu, has returned home.

The Beta Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Tau Sorority will hold a benefit cabaret dance on May 14 in the El Tower Hotel. The proceeds will be contributed to the annual scholarship fund.

The Montefiore Aid Society will hold a benefit theater party in the Pitt Theater on Tuesday.

* * *

St. Peter's Branch, No. 267, Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association, will hold a card party on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Oppenheim-Collins. Bridge, "500," euchre and old maid will be played.

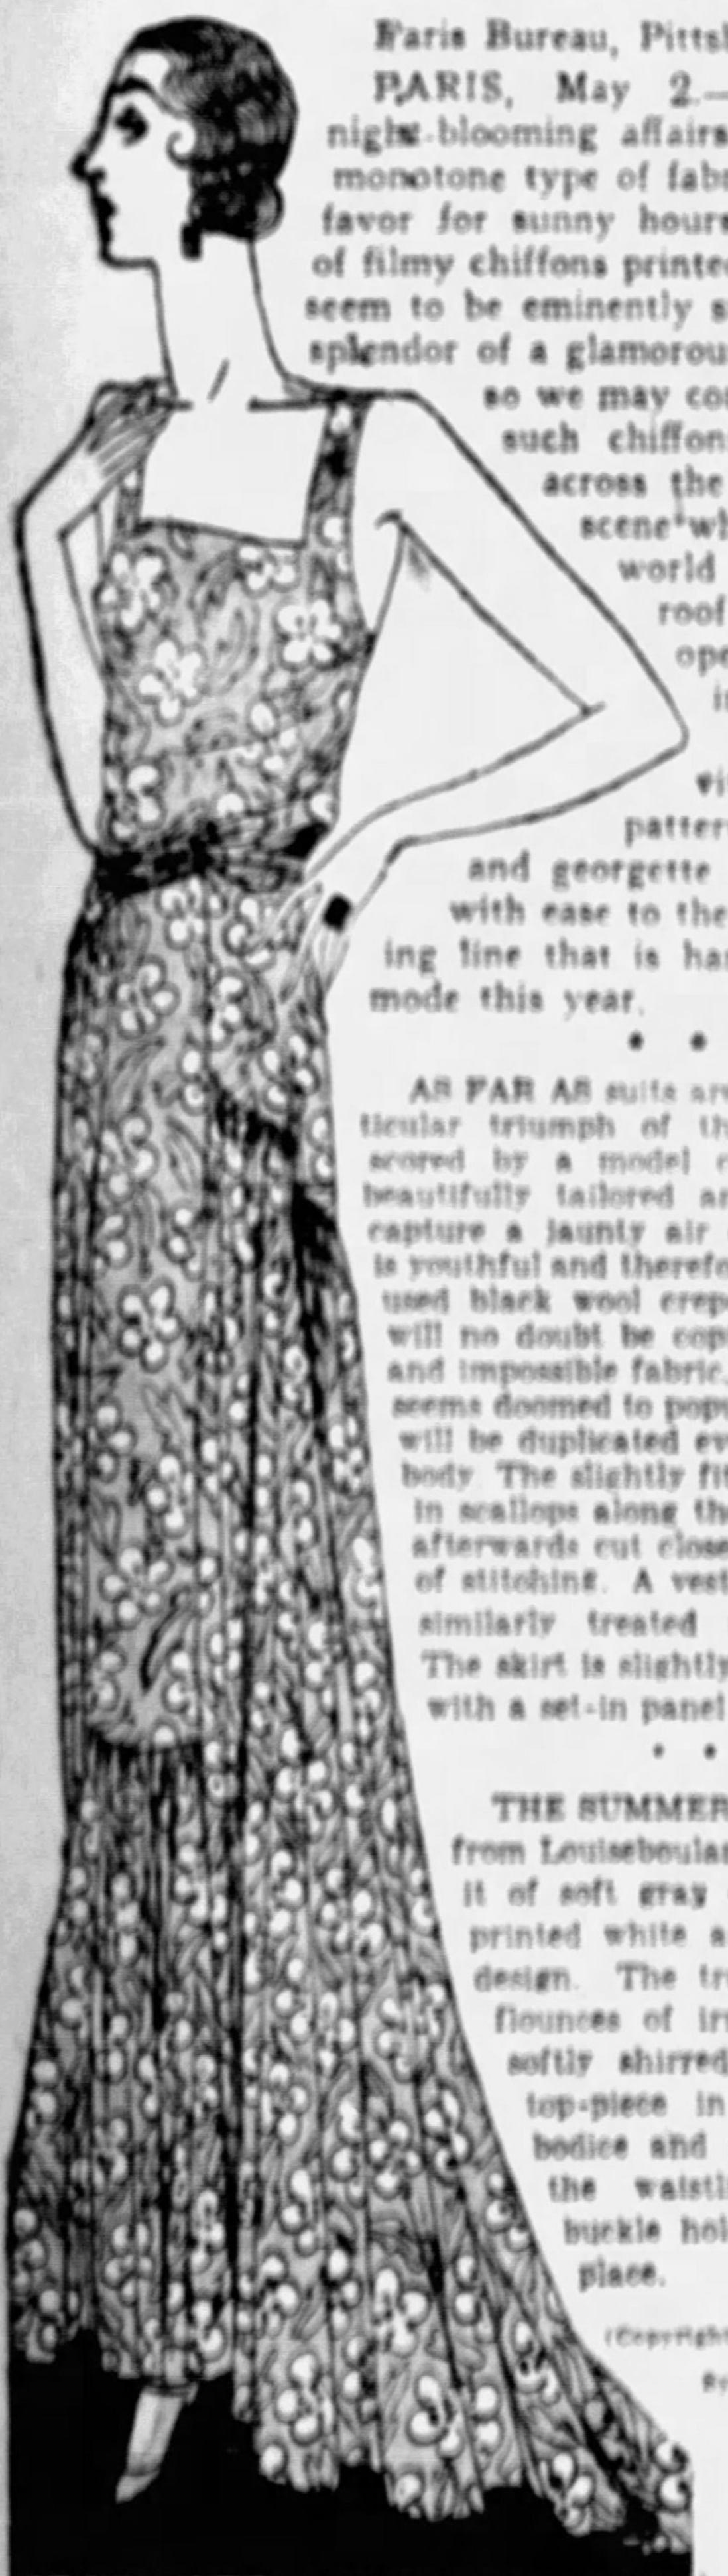
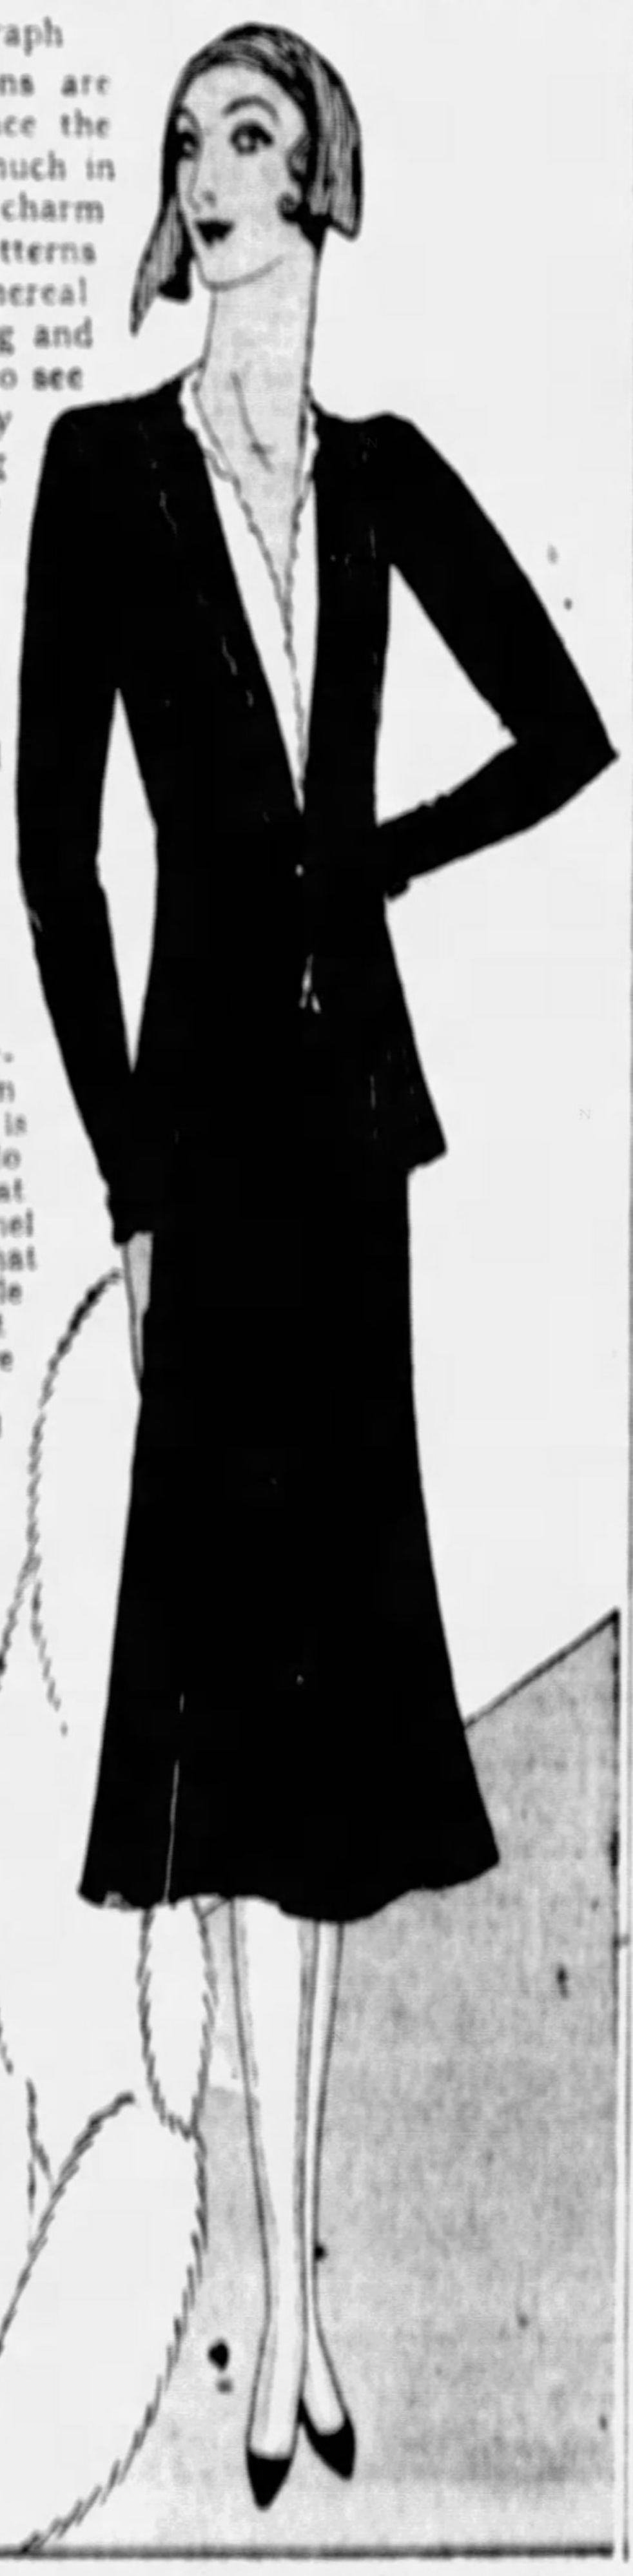
STYLISTS FAVOR FLOWERED CHIFFON FOR EVENING WEAR

Sketched in Paris





Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, May 2.—Flowered chiffons are night-blooming affairs this season, since the monotone type of fabric seems to be much in favor for sunny hours. The delicate charm of filmy chiffons printed in soft floral patterns seem to be eminently suitable to the ethereal splendor of a glamorous summer evening and so we may confidently expect to see such chiffons trail gracefully across the summer evening scene when the top of the world is just one vast roof garden and the open-air restaurants in the Bois beckon with alluring invitation. Floral patterned chiffons and georgette lend themselves with ease to the long, slim trailing line that is handed out by the mode this year.

AS FAR AS suits are concerned the particular triumph of the season has been scored by a model chez Chanel that is beautifully tailored and still manages to capture a jaunty air of nonchalance that is youthful and therefore irresistible. Chanel used black wool crepe for the model that will no doubt be copied in every possible and impossible fabric, for it is a suit that seems doomed to popularity and therefore will be duplicated everywhere by everybody. The slightly fitted coat is stitched in scallops along the edges which are afterwards cut close to the outer row of stitching. A vest of white pique is similarly treated along the edges. The skirt is slightly circular in cut with a set-in panel in front.

THE SUMMER evening frock is from Louiseboulanger who made it of soft gray chiffon with a printed white and pink flower design. The trailing skirt has flounces of irregular length softly shirred onto a loose top-piece in one with the bodice and softly draped at the waistline. A jeweled buckle holds this drapery in place.

Look for Cause of Fatigue At Table, Dr. W. H. Hay Tells Health Club

Fatigue is the most expensive luxury we enjoy, Dr. William Howard Hay told an audience of more than 200 members and friends of the Pittsburgh Health Club assembled in the Second Presbyterian Church last night. The United States is paying $15,000,000,000 for preventable illness, Dr. Hay pointed out as he went on to announce that people do not drop immediately from perfect health to illness and that fatigue is the sign post along the way.

Every "sudden death" probably has 15 or 20 years of unsuspected disease leading up to it, he said. He stressed the economic side of fatigue as well, saying that it robs one of opportunity and detracts from one's alertness, awareness and adaptability to environment.

Fatigue comes from absolutely the same cause as disease, he declared, and this is an accumulation of waste material in the system, waste material caused by too much protein, too much starch or a combination of incompatible foods. He explained the compatible combinations fully.

"Look for the causes of fatigue at the dinner table," Dr. Hay advised, "and if you would keep yourself at 100 per cent energy and power eliminate fatigue before organic disease has developed."

Dr. Hay, who is medical director of the Sun and Diet Health Sanatorium at East Aurora, creator of the Sun-Diet menus and an author of note, was introduced by Dr. W. J. Van Essen.

TinyTim Benefit

As a nucleus for the Tiny Tim Cot Fund which it hopes to establish, and with which it will endow a bed in the Children's Hospital, the Dickens Fellowship will present "Dolly Varden," a dramatization from "Barnaby Rudge," in East Liberty Carnegie Library Monday night, May 12. The Dickens Fellowship Players will make the production, the cast including Mrs. J. D. V. Reeve as "Dolly," Sydney K. Eastwood, Mrs. D. G. Fowler, Lester C. Meyers, Miss Lydia Patterson, J. G. Howard, Brabazon Rutherfoord, Clifford D. Claney and Herbert Fowler.

Minstrel Show

A minstrel show and the reading of the annual reports are slated for the meeting of the Woman's Civic Club of Wilkinsburg Thursday afternoon of next week in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel. Mrs. S. B. Cuthbert is leader.

The minstrel show will be under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Gross King, musical director of the club, and Mrs. Josephine Souder.

Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, chairman of community service in the state federation and president of the better magazine council, will give a short talk and Mrs. R. M. Merrifield will speak concerning the Wilkinsburg playgrounds.

The social aides for the afternoon include Mrs. J. F. McCrory, Mrs. Andrew King, Mrs. F. S. Hastings and the better magazines committee.

Drama Contest

The sixth annual amateur players' contest under auspices of the Pittsburgh Drama League will be brought to a close tonight with the presentation of the last three plays in East Liberty Carnegie Library. Tonight's bill is: Jamestown (N. Y.) Players' Club in "The Duchess Says Her Prayers;" Gargoyle Club of Shady Side Academy in "Signals;" Washington (Pa.) Drama League Players in "Back of the Yards."

Last night's plays gave the audience one of the strongest bills in the contest. The Little Theater, of Wheeling, presented a finished cast in Stanley Houghton's comedy, "The Dear Departed," the players including Mrs. Thomas P. Hayes, Edwin C. Jepson, Ethel R. Tisher, Herbert C. Carmichael, Thomas P. Hayes and little Margaret Myers.

The Nemo Players of Pittsburgh, Dunny Dickson, Althea Brooks, Catherine C. Ley, William F. Allison and J. C. Spahr Hull, gave Robert Middlemass's strong play, "The Under Dog," its introduction to Pittsburgh.

"Three Pills in a Bottle," a fantasy by Rachel Lyman Field, was the vehicle chosen by the Senior Dramatic Club of Langley High School for its satisfying presentation in which Paul Grace as the "Soul" of The Scissors Grinder did an especially commendable portrayal. Others in the cast were Edwin Fairman, Betty Libby, Everett Cox, Joseph Wasel, Jack Grimes, Charlotte Grow and Thelma King.

Women's Minstrel

Owing to the unexpected demand for tickets for the minstrel by the Gen. Willis J. Hulings Auxiliary No. 41, United Spanish War Veterans, it has been found necessary to give the performance two nights—Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in East Liberty Carnegie Library. Mrs. P. B. Digby is directing the performance.

Rakes Dry Agents As 'Biggest Crooks'

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP.)—Hearings on the Howell bill to make the capital a dry city brought before the Senate committee the charge from a witness that "prohibition agents are the biggest bunch of crooks I have ever met in my life."

The statement was made by Rice Hooe, former attorney of the Prohibition Bureau, in the course of opposition to the measure.

Hooe said he would believe few of the agents under oath. He added:

"I never went into court to defend one, that wasn't guilty of the offense with which he was charged."

The former dry attorney appeared for the Federal Dispensary Tax Reduction League.

It Is the Cape that makes the New Coats Flattering

It is the cape that puts the youthful zest into spring fashions and makes the coats so easy to wear—and flattering.

One of the reasons for the popularity of the Boggs & Buhl $25 Coats is the splendid cape styles in the group.

These Are Favorites

The slim business girl wears an epaulette cape, because it broadens the shoulders. Quite Parisian! The woman's choice is the cape that reaches the waistline, because this is easier to wear and is slenderizing. Juniors and misses like the little capes so very much like Napoleon's own.

Tweed, Covert, Wool Crepe, Lined and Unlined Silk

An exciting group, these, for they express in the most interesting ways the very best cape modes of the year—yoked capes, epaulette and shoulder capes, some in the true Napoleonic manner, and others divided in the back for pleasing variety. Many of the coats have the narrow string belts so important now.

Important Brims

Are the Secret of the Success of These Hats

Take a lacy straw, for instance. Draws its brim straight up to make a bandeau just above the left eye, then turn it down gracefully. Isn't this hat smart? (Sketched right).

Or let the brim dip deep over both ears and lift off the eyes as does the stitched taffeta illustrated. The facing is in Patou's popular opaline pink.

Many other important brims in the $5 group of straw, hair, and taffeta hats. Black, beige, green, blue and natural.

Accessories Should Be Simple to Be Smart

FABRIC GLOVES

$1.00

Chamo suedes—simple, informal daytime gloves! Practical enough for all year round, especially likeable for summer. Washing won't make any difference in their smart lives, and they're very inexpensive.

These are somewhat longer than last season's, with a nice wrinkling quality. We think they'll be awfully good in white, tho' there are Eggshell, French Nude, Medium Grey and Tortoise to choose from.

Spear point backs and scalloped edges. All sizes. Also some fine imported washable suedes, $2.50.

SHOE CALF BAGS

If, before buying, you were waiting for classic bag fashions to crystallize, you couldn't have found them more charming or more simple than in these of shoe calf—one unadorned but for tab and Talon fastening—the other a concealed frame with saddler arm handle.

In navy or bright blue for the proverbial suit, a brown or tan for town ensembles and prints. Silk lined.

Belts, too, are Accessories! $1

The suede belt in matching colors, makes a thoughtful 1930 touch to the bag and shoe ensemble, with its simple chain stitching and plain bone buckle.

MRS. FIELD IN RENO FOR SUIT

RENO, Nev., May 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Marshall Field arrived here preparatory to instituting suit for a divorce from Marshall Field III, grandson of the Chicago merchant prince. With a retinue of servants she prepared to establish her residence here for three months.

When she left New York for Reno her attorney, Joseph H. Truesdale, declined to comment on reports of a pre-trial agreement settling upon Mrs. Field an annual income of more than $1,000,000, giving her possession of Field town house in New York City, and custody of their three children, Marshall Jr., 14, Barbara, 11, and Bettine, 6. The Fields were married in 1915. In addition to his interests in Chicago, Field is a member of a New York brokerage firm.

George B. Thatcher, an attorney, met Mrs. Field on her arrival here, and she was a guest at his home during the day. It was indicated that she would proceed soon to a Lake Tahoe estate which she leased.

'PALS' BLAMED IN GANG KILLING

OMAHA, Neb., May 2.—(AP)—Switching to the theory that Gene Livingston, Omaha's "Alky Baron," who was slain yesterday, was "put on the spot" by persons whom he believed to be friends, police arrested Jack Ettaire, a former associate of the dead gangster.

Ettaire, held for investigation, said he knew nothing of the crime, and police were looking for other associates of the slain man. Livingston died from shotgun slugs he received when he was fired on in the back room of a beer flat. Persons who were in the speakeasy said Livingston had just gone into the kitchen for a drink and police at first believed his assailants shot from outside the window.

An underworld rumor had it that Livingston was killed because he refused to pay $40,000 he owed a Chicago liquor ring and another story was that he was lured to his death by a woman.

Assistant State Attorney General Irvin Stalmaster told police that Livingston, through an emissary, offered two days ago to tell a startling story of "corruption involving city, state and federal officials" on conditions in Omaha.

BANK EMPLOYE HELD IN THEFT

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 2.—Arrest of P. L. Davis, a teller of the Warren Savings Bank and Trust Company, was announced by the State Banking Department. Davis is free under $2,000 bail on charges of misappropriation of funds and embezzlement.

The shortage was discovered by department examiners under George T. Sloan, who made the information against Davis. His accounts were found to be short $1,000.

The bank is protected by a surety bond in excess of the shortage, the department said. The examiner in making his report did not reveal what use Davis had made of the money.

3 Guilty of Using Mail in Stock Fraud

SEATTLE, Wash., May 2.—(AP.)—Three of five men charged with fraudulent use of the mails in connection with their promotion of the stock of the General Mining, Milling and Power Company of New Mexico today stood convicted by a Federal Court jury. The convicted men are Daniel A. Levy, of New York, and Harold Harris and Meyer Morris, of Seattle. Walter D. Forsyth, San Francisco broker, and Ernest R. Heath, Seattle stock salesman, were acquitted.

Prince of Persia Prisoner for Bribe

TEHERAN, Persia, May 2.—(AP.)—Prince Firooz Mosrat Ed Dowleh, former minister of finance in the Persian government, was found guilty today of having accepted a bribe of 1,936 tomans, or about as many dollars. He was prisonment, fined 5,806 tomans and deprived of his political rights. His trial represented the first time in history a cabinet minister of this government had been before the courts on any criminal matter.

IDENTIFY VICTIM AS RACKETEER

BEAVER, Pa., May 2.—With the identity of the body of the man found in a cave along Wolf run, Industry Township, established as that of Pete Sinicropi, 31, former Midland racketeer, police are seeking a clue to the probable slayer. Sinicropi has been missing from his home since January 17, 1929, county detectives say.

Sinicropi was a brother of Patsy Sinicropi, former racketeer leader in Midland. It was while Patsy was under indictment for extortion and conspiracy that he escaped from state police at the Rochester Hospital.

Sinicropi's body was discovered by two boys. The head had been severed. County Detective C. J. O'Loughlin said the man was a victim of revenge.

Inquiry Into Blast Fatal to 2 Pushed

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 2.—(AP.)—Clark County authorities today bored deeper into the mystery dynamite blast which killed B. A. Northrup, 55, and his wife, Mrs. Louise Northrup, 51, while they slept early yesterday, and reduced their modest home near Hession Wash. to splinters.

Clifford Campbell, 16, who had been living with the Northrups and attending school, remained in custody while officials continued investigation of the blast and the story which Campbell, the only witness, told.

NATURE IS WARNING YOU THROUGH HEARTBURN AND SOUR STOMACH

MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7
Answers the Call for Help

Nature is giving you a pretty plain warning when you suffer from heartburn, sour stomach, belching, gas pains, dizziness and such indications that your system is not in good condition. Wise men and women will not overlook such warnings. They realize that something is wrong and must be corrected at once. MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 acts quickly, accurately and helpfully.

Mr. John Steltenkamp of Dayton, Ky., told our MONROE'S NO. 7 MAN the following story: "I had swellings in the face, and arms which caused me a lot of trouble and worry. My stomach would sour after meals and I suffered terribly from heartburn. My food did not seem to digest right and I was in misery all the time. I started in on MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 and now the swelling is all gone, I have no more sour stomach or heartburn and I feel 100% better. I used five bottles of this wonderful medicine and recommend it to all my friends."

MR. JOHN STELTENKAMP
819 O'Fallon St.,
Dayton, Ky.

A remarkable story which thousands of others will O. K., because MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 does such marvelous work in cases of indigestion and constipation, kidney and bladder troubles, rheumatism and neuritis. Ask the MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 MAN at DOW'S DRUG STORE, Diamond and Smithfield, Pittsburgh, about this great master medicine. He is there every day from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., and on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

BRAISED DUCKLING—Choose a pair of the young ducks. Dress and wash thoroughly in cold water to which you have added a little baking soda.

Place ducks in stewpan, adding 1 carrot, 1 onion, 2 cloves, 3 slices bacon and 1 teaspoon each of thyme and parsley. Cover with broth to which you have added ½ cup weak vinegar.

Simmer the duck over a low flame, basting frequently, until tender.

All you need is a generous quantity of peaches to make any one of these delicious puddings. The fresh peaches would be perfect, of course—but there it would be ungrateful to rush the season when spring is just beginning to gladden our hearts. We'll have canned peaches for our puddings—and like 'em!

PEACH BATTER PUDDING—Drain halves of canned peaches. Place a thick layer of fruit in the bottom of a buttered baking dish and pour cottage pudding batter over it. Bake in a moderate oven (375 to 400 degrees) for about 30 minutes.

COTTAGE PUDDING BATTER—Sift 1½ cups of flour with 3 teaspoons baking powder. Cream ¼ cup shortening and add ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and a well beaten egg. Then add alternately ½ cup of milk and the flour, then ½ teaspoon of vanilla.

ENGLISH PEACH PUDDING—Heat a can of peach halves, and add ½ cup sugar. Arrange squares of cinnamon toast in the bottom and around the sides of a pudding dish. Pour in the boiling hot peaches, cover the dish so that no steam can escape and cool gradually. Chill and cover the top with boiled frosting garnished with bits of jelly, or with meringue.

PEACH TAPIOCA—Drain the contents of a can of peaches, sprinkle with ¼ cup of powdered sugar, and let stand one hour. Soak a cup of tapioca in cold water to cover. To the peach syrup add enough boiling water to make 3 cups; heat to the boiling point, add the tapioca drained from cold water, sugar and salt; then cook in a double boiler until transparent. Line a pudding dish with the peaches cut in quarters, fill with tapioca and bake in a moderate oven 30 minutes; cool slightly, turn on a dish and serve with whipped cream.

Now that Lent has joined the days of yesteryear, we will probably serve fish quite as often as we did during the Lenten season, and like it twice as much, human nature being the peculiar quantity it is.

Just so often as it is decreed that we eat any one particular food, just so often can we find arbitrary and splendid reasons for not eating it!

Lemon is indispensable as an accompaniment for fish, and a most refreshing garnish for it. Remember that the appearance of the fish dish is of vital consideration. Try this recipe for a Fish Salad Californian, and see if it isn't good!

Pare 1½ lemons, saving all the juice, and cut in small pieces, as free as possible from membranes. Use either a scissors or a sharp silver knife. Mix the lemon with 1-3 cup of shredded lettuce; add 1-3 cup canned salmon, which has been flaked, and 3 tablespoons minced pimento. Mix thoroughly and serve with mayonnaise.

BAKED PEARS—From a can of pears, drain 4 halves and arrange them in a baking dish. Mix ¼ cup of brown sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ⅛ cup pear syrup, and pour over. Dot with ½ tablespoon of butter on top and bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven for 30 minutes.

LETTUCE OR ESCAROLE SALAD—Chill the escarole, arrange in salad bowl or individual salad plates and pour over a French dressing. The following recipe makes a delicious French dressing: Put ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 4 tablespoons olive oil in glass jar, cover and shake thoroughly. Add a little onion juice if desired.

Hot corn bread, muffins, or hot baking powder biscuits are to be served with this dinner, and well made coffee.

STEWED TOMATOES WITH STRING BEANS—Stew 2 cups of canned tomatoes, one small onion (sliced), 4 cloves, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper for 10 minutes. Add 2 cups of canned stringless beans, cut in short pieces, and 1 tablespoon butter. When thoroughly hot, serve.

GREEN BEAN SOUP JULIENNE—Melt 4 tablespoons butter, add 4 tablespoons flour and stir until smooth. Add 3 cups milk and slowly add 1 cup of liquor from a can of stringless beans, stirring until creamy. Season with 2 teaspoons salt, a little pepper, celery salt and onion juice. Cut 1 cup of the stringless beans in fine, lengthwise shreds, mince 2 tablespoons parsley and add.

VEGETABLE CHOP SUEY—Dice 4 slices of bacon and fry. Remove the bacon and add ½ cup of rice to the fat. Cook gently until brown. Add 2 cups of tomatoes and 2 cups of liquid (use liquid from a can of string beans and liquid from a small can of button mushrooms, adding water if needed) and then add 1 bouillon cube. Cook until the rice is tender. Add the string beans and mushrooms together with 2 teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Add the fried bacon cubes. This serves eight persons.

LUNCHEON SALAD—Cut cold rare roast beef in thin, small shavings, drain 1 can of stringless beans and slice cucumber very thin. Marinate the meat and three vegetables, beans, cucumber and canned artichoke hearts separately in French dressing for at least one hour before serving. Then pile the beef in a lettuce leaf in the center of the plate. Surround with 3 small leaves holding a spoonful of beans, cucumber and artichoke heart respectively.

Grape Juice for Health

Physicians Recommend It

A Brain-Sharpener. Pure grape juice, served as a breakfast fruit, is so perfectly adapted to the human system that its rich fruit nourishment and mineral salts are taken into the blood stream without digestive effort—quick, new vigor to meet the awaiting problems of the day!

Non-Fattening. Pure grape juice deserves a prominent place on every reducing diet—first, because it supplies the kind of nourishment the body needs; secondly, because it is non-fattening. Its mildly laxative qualities keep one feeling fit and fine.

A Delightful Refreshment. For more than 60 years Welch's Grape Juice—the pure juice of luscious Concords—has proved a delightfully refreshing beverage for millions of people. Six liberal portions to the pint make it the most temptingly delicious 5c drink in America. Many prefer it diluted with one-third water. Insist on Welch's—pure, unadulterated.

Lima Beans and Peas Rich In Protein Value

Lima Beans [illegible] the legumes. [illegible] they are [illegible]

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator From New York

Peas and beans are rich in [illegible] value, and every one of us needs proteins every day. Lima beans offer a food of great value and there are many ways to serve them.

Our lima beans were [illegible] natives of Western South America [illegible] lima beans combined [illegible] and they grow wild in B[illegible] [illegible] vegetables make de[illegible] early American Indian [illegible] wholesome salads. They have become [illegible] During the warm weather we in modern times [illegible] need so much of the both in the dried [illegible] heavier protein foods such as form. [illegible] meat. But we must have the pro[illegible]

We use the dried lima beans [illegible] and lima beans to [illegible] the winter time. [illegible] need in a satisfactory way. A during the summer [illegible] favorable dishes with lima beans [illegible] is an appetizing one. In such a meal lima beans may be combined with potatoes, cauliflower, cabbage, onions, spinach or beets.

Art in Cooking

A lima bean casserole dish is excellent for a warm day and is easily prepared. Lima bean loaf is a delightful foundation for a luncheon or for the picnic. It is a good substitute for meat and makes a good dinner dish served with creamed or stewed tomatoes and a fruit salad.

Many persons like the lentil or bean stew with ham chips. Another good dish is made up of fresh lima beans and fresh mushrooms. Lima beans cooked with bacon or with green corn in succotash possess excellent food value.

There is a real art in cooking vegetables properly. Steaming vegetables is the ideal way of cooking because no mineral salts are wasted. In this process the vegetables retain their flavor, shape and color except perhaps the green vegetables.

Promotes Vigor

If not steamed fresh vegetables should be cooked in vigorously boiling fresh water. Usually they are sufficiently cooked in 20 minutes.

Use only enough water to cover the vegetables. Except with the strong vegetables like cabbage, onions and turnips the water should be allowed to boil down toward the end of the cooking and the juice served with the vegetables. Spinach needs no water as it will cook in its own juices.

Dried lima beans should be soaked over night in water and cooked for about 45 minutes. When cold they may be combined with many other vegetables as wanted.

Your health and vigor are promoted by eating the vegetables. Bear this in mind in choosing your foods.

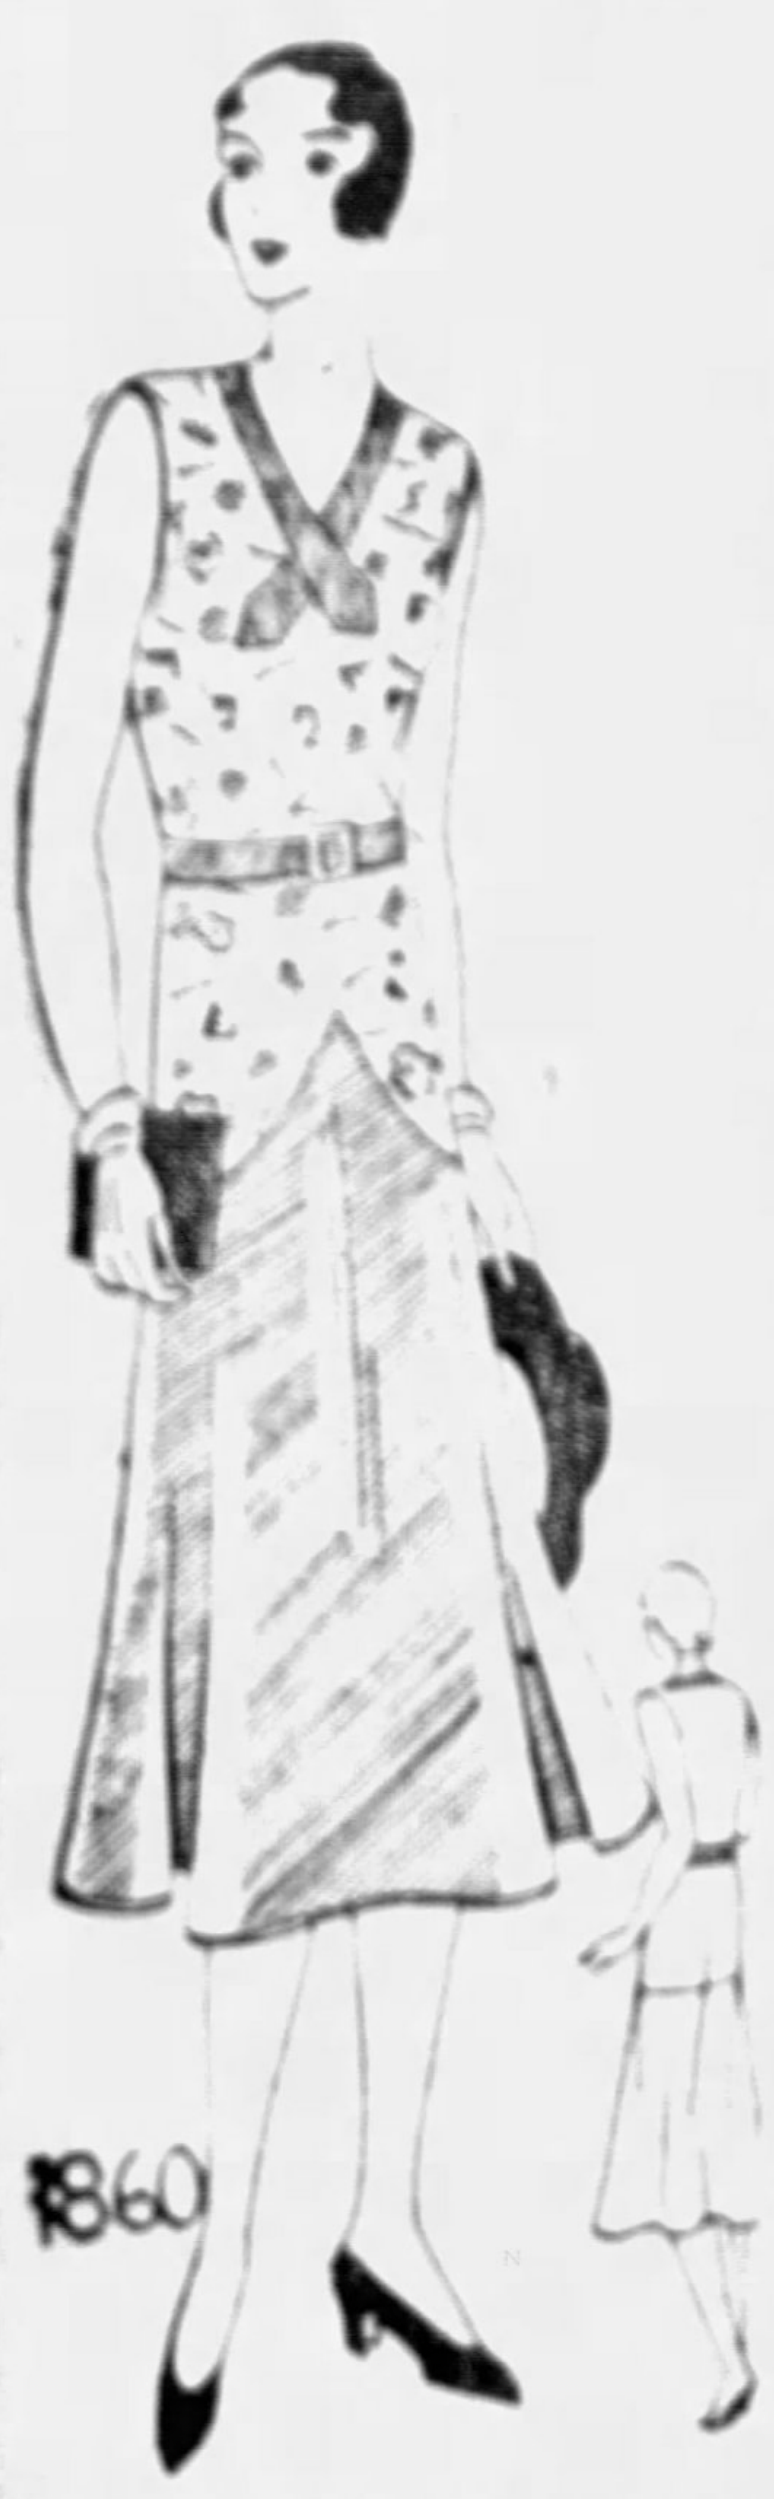
Pattern 1860

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS



1860

A delightful sleeveless frock to wear now under a coat and later without is quite simple, easy to make, yet decidedly chic. The bodice is molded to the figure and belted wherever most becoming to the individual. The gracefully flared skirt points upward in slender lines.

Pattern 1860 is fashioned of two fabrics, printed for the bodice and plain for the skirt, belt and neck trimming. A few suggestions are pongee, pique, flat crepe, shantung, rayon, etc. If you have a jacket, the skirt and trimming might be made of the same fabric as that used in the jacket to form a stunning ensemble.

Designed only for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 requires 1⅜ yards printed and 1⅜ yards plain fabric, each 39 inches in width.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper and bring slowly to the boiling point. Then add 2 cups of hot milk. When thoroughly hot and of the desired consistency, serve. Sprinkle each serving with a little paprika and chopped parsley.

PEANUT BUTTER LOAF—Mix together 1 cup grated raw carrots, 1 cup of tomatoes, 1 cup of boiled rice, 1 green pepper or pimento, minced, ¾ of a cup of peanut butter, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 cup bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons bacon drippings and season with salt and pepper. Bake in individual bread tins in a moderate oven for 1 hour. Turn out on a hot platter and serve with a brown sauce.

PEANUT BUTTER CUSTARD—Beat 3 eggs slightly, add ¼ cup sugar and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Pour 1 cup evaporated milk, diluted with 1¼ cups water and scalded, to which has been added 2 tablespoons peanut butter, on the egg mixture. Stir well, then strain and pour into buttered custard cups. Place cups in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven, 275 degrees, about 30 minutes, or until a knife can be inserted in the center of one of the custards and the blade has no particles of the custard mixture on it when removed from the custard.

CURRIED EGGS—Heat 2 tablespoons butter and in it fry 1 small onion and 1 tablespoon curry powder moistened to a paste with a little water. Blend with 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt and a sprinkling of pepper. Gradually add 1 cup hot milk to make a thick cream sauce. Have ready 3 hard-cooked eggs which have been cut in cubes and reheat the egg in the sauce. Serve on toast.

HOT CLUB SANDWICH—Beat 1 egg lightly and fold in ¼ cup ham cut in cubes and 1 teaspoon chopped green pepper. Heat 1 tablespoon fat or several slices bacon in a pan and turn in the egg and ham mixture. Brown on both sides. Serve hot on toast with the broiled tomatoes and spaghetti on the same plate.

BAKED SPAGHETTI—Boil a quantity of spaghetti, open a couple of cans of tomato sauce or make your own if you'd rather, and grate up a reasonable quantity of cheese. It is impossible to give quantities in this sort of recipe. Butter in baking dish or the deep inset pan of your portable oven cooker, and place in the bottom a layer of the cooked spaghetti. Sprinkle with grated cheese and cover with tomato sauce. Repeat until dish is full or ingredients are all used up. Don't be scrimpy with your tomato sauce or the dish will be dry. Cover the top with a generous sprinkling of grated cheese and bake at moderate heat in your electric oven or on high heat in the oven cooker. Serve salad with the spaghetti.

APRICOT WHIP—Cook ½ pound dried apricots. Drain and put pulp through a sieve. Beat very stiff 3 egg whites and add to them the apricot pulp, beating continuously. Sweeten to taste. Pour into pan of electric refrigerator and freeze for at least 3 hours, longer won't hurt it at all. Make a soft custard out of the egg yolks and chill it. Serve the whip in sherbet glasses with the custard poured over.

* * *

CREAM SAUCE FOR VEGETABLES—Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Heat until foamy but not browned. Add 2 tablespoons flour, blend thoroughly and add a cup of milk. Stir constantly until thick and smooth. Season. Allow 1¼ cups of sauce to every cup of vegetables. Cook and drain the vegetables, pour sauce over, heating thoroughly before serving.

OLD-FASHIONED HONEY CAKES—One-half pound strained honey, ½ pound powdered sugar, sifted, ½ pound blanched almonds cut in half lengthwise, 2 cups flour, 1 ounce citron cut very fine, ⅛ teaspoon grated nutmeg, ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves, ¼ cup lemon juice.

Boil the sugar and honey, then add almonds and stir thoroughly. Add the rest of the ingredients, more flour if needed and knead the dough well. Put away in a cool place, well covered, for a week. Roll a half inch thick and bake in shallow greased pans in a quick oven. When done cut into strips 1 by 2 inches long. Ice with lemon icing.

SPANISH RICE—Two cups cooked rice, 2 onions, chopped, 1 cup grated cheese, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cups stewed tomatoes, salt, pepper, paprika. Cook together on electric range or grill the onions, pepper, tomatoes and butter. Add seasonings, rice and cheese. Mix well and pour into buttered casserole or deep inset pan of portable oven cooker and cook at moderate heat in electric range oven or on high heat in oven cooker.

* * *

MILK VEGETABLE SOUP—Two medium-sized potatoes, 2 medium-sized carrots, 2 medium-sized onions, 2 stalks celery, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 quart milk. Cut vegetables in fairly small pieces, saute for 5 minutes in butter. Cover with water, simmer until tender until water is about gone. Mash potatoes with potato masher, add a quart of milk, season with salt and pepper and serve hot.

ROAD OFFICIAL HANGS SELF

MT. PLEASANT, Pa., May 2.—Funeral services were being arranged today for Adam Seimon, 57, of Trauger, near here, who hanged himself in the attic of his home. Seimon, for years road supervisor of Mt. Pleasant Township, worried over financial troubles, according to Coroner Harkins, who pronounced the man dead by suffocation.

Convicted last January in connection with irregularities in his office, Judge Charles E. Copeland gave him a six-month sentence or the option of returning to the township $752.95 alleged to have been embezzled. The time limit was July 1.

Seimon, it was believed, worried about the money. Missing all night Wednesday from his home, he was found yesterday in the attic.

Girl Gone 2 Weeks Sought By Mother

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 2.—Fearing for the safety of her daughter Katherine, 18, Mrs. Katherine Sheranek, of New Salem, yesterday sought police aid. The girl has been missing for two weeks. The mother believes she has met with foul play.

April Rainfall Below Year Ago

tablespoons butter, 1½ tablespoons flour, salt, pepper. Put beans, water, onion and celery in pan and place on electric range or grill over high heat. When boiling reduce to low heat and simmer 30 minutes. Rub through a sieve, add the strained tomatoes, season to taste with salt and pepper. Melt the butter, add the flour and blend well. Add the bean liquid gradually to the flour and butter, stirring until smooth and thickened. Serve hot.

NUT CLUSTER SHELLS—Ingredients: One cup whipped cream, a cup of nut cluster candy, pastry shells. Put the nut cluster candy, either chocolate coated or plain, through a food chopper. Add to the whipped cream and serve in pastry shells. Or, if you prefer, use it as a rich topping for plain cup cakes.

BUTTERSCOTCH PUDDING—Ingredients: A cup of brown sugar, 3 tablespoons of flour, 2 cups of milk, 2 eggs, ½ pound peanut brittle. Mix the sugar and flour, add the beaten eggs, stirring in well. Add milk and cook the mixture in a double boiler for 15 minutes. Just before removing from the fire add the peanut brittle crushed fine.

* * *

FISH CHOWDER—One-fourth pound salt pork, diced; 3 small onions, sliced; 3 pounds fresh haddock, 6 pilot crackers, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon pepper, 6 potatoes and 4 cups milk. Fry salt pork until straw-colored. Add sliced onion, saute until brown. Cut haddock in small pieces, rub with salt, add pepper and put with onion and salt pork in kettle. Add potatoes, pared and cubed. Cover with 5 cups water, cook until fish and potatoes are tender. Add milk and when thoroughly heated, pilot crackers broken in pieces.

BRAISED LIVER WITH MUSHROOMS—Wipe 1½ pounds of liver with a damp cloth. Lard the rounded side with salt pork and fry 1 small onion in salt pork. Add the liver to the onion mixture, half cover with hot stock, add 1 teaspoon salt, a little pepper and sprinkle on 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning. Cover closely and cook ¾ of an hour, basting often. A gravy is made by thickening the liquid with flour. When ready to serve pour the gravy over the liver and cover the meat with pan-fried mushrooms. Garnish with parsley and green pepper rings.

NUTTY BRAN MUFFINS—Nearly every one needs more roughage in his diet—to promote health and internal cleanliness. Often a poor appetite is due to this very lack. Bran muffins, which are often flat and tasteless, can be given a delicious nutty flavor by adding walnut extract. Ingredients:

Two tablespoonfuls of shortening, ¼ cupful of sugar, 1 egg, 1 cupful of milk, 1 cupful of bran, 1 cupful of flour, ¼ teaspoonful of salt, 3 teaspoonfuls of baking powder and 2 teaspoonfuls of walnut extract.

Cream the shortening and sugar, adding beaten egg. Mix and sift together flour, salt and baking powder. To the creamed mixture add the bran and milk, alternating with the sifted dry ingredients. Then add 2 teaspoons of walnut extract. Pour into greased muffin tins and bake in oven (370 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. This recipe makes 12 muffins with a luscious, nutty flavor.

Fruit juices are not only healthful and valuable for their mineral salts, but are particularly tempting to the jaded appetite—in drinks and gelatine salads. The following recipe is appropriate for the main luncheon or supper dish—or in small, dainty portions for convalescents.

PEARS JELLIED IN GRENADINE—One can choice pears, 1 cup grenadine, ½ cup pineapple juice, ½ cup orange juice, ¼ cup apricot juice, ¼ cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons of gelatine, ½ cup water and small jar green cherries.

Drain pears and chill fruit. Prepare an aspic of 1 cup grenadine and the fruit juices. Heat to boiling point; add gelatine, softened in ¼ cup water. Stir well until dissolved; cool. Put a green cherry in hollow of each pear; arrange upside down in molds and pour over grenadine aspic. Chill in refrigerator. When set, serve on lettuce with mayonnaise, to which a little whipped cream has been added.

Gelatine desserts are easily assimilated, nutritious and often more appealing than a heavy dessert.

APRICOT ICE—Two teaspoonfuls gelatine, 1¼ cupfuls water, 2 tablespoonfuls lemon juice, 1 cupful apricot flavor, 2 egg whites, ⅛ teaspoon salt.

Dissolve the gelatine in ¼ cup water in double boiler. Add lemon juice, apricot flavor and water. Put mixture in freezing tray for ¾ hour. Then beat in a chilled bowl. Add 2 egg whites well beaten together with the salt. Combine the mixture, beating slowly and thoroughly. At half-hour intervals stir twice—from back of tray forward. Freeze 4 hours. Before serving stir with spoon.

Women are especially susceptible, doctors say . .

—to troubles caused by harsh, non-absorbent toilet tissue

THERE is no form of human illness quite so humiliating as rectal trouble.

Yet in millions of homes women are exposing themselves and their families daily to ailments of this nature.

For much of the toilet tissue sold to housewives today is utterly unfit for bathroom use. It may be glazed, chemically impure, or harsh-surfaced—covered with tiny slivers.

Today more and more housewives are realizing the health importance of toilet tissue.

And millions of women are insisting upon the tissues that physicians and hospitals have thoroughly approved—ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf.

These three health-protecting tissues are unusually soft and cloth-like. So absorbent they sink in water almost instantly.

The sheets tear easily and squarely at the perforations. And the rolls are closely wrapped to fit the built-in fixtures.

It doesn't pay to be careless in this bathroom essential. Be sure of safety. Always ask for ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue or Waldorf.

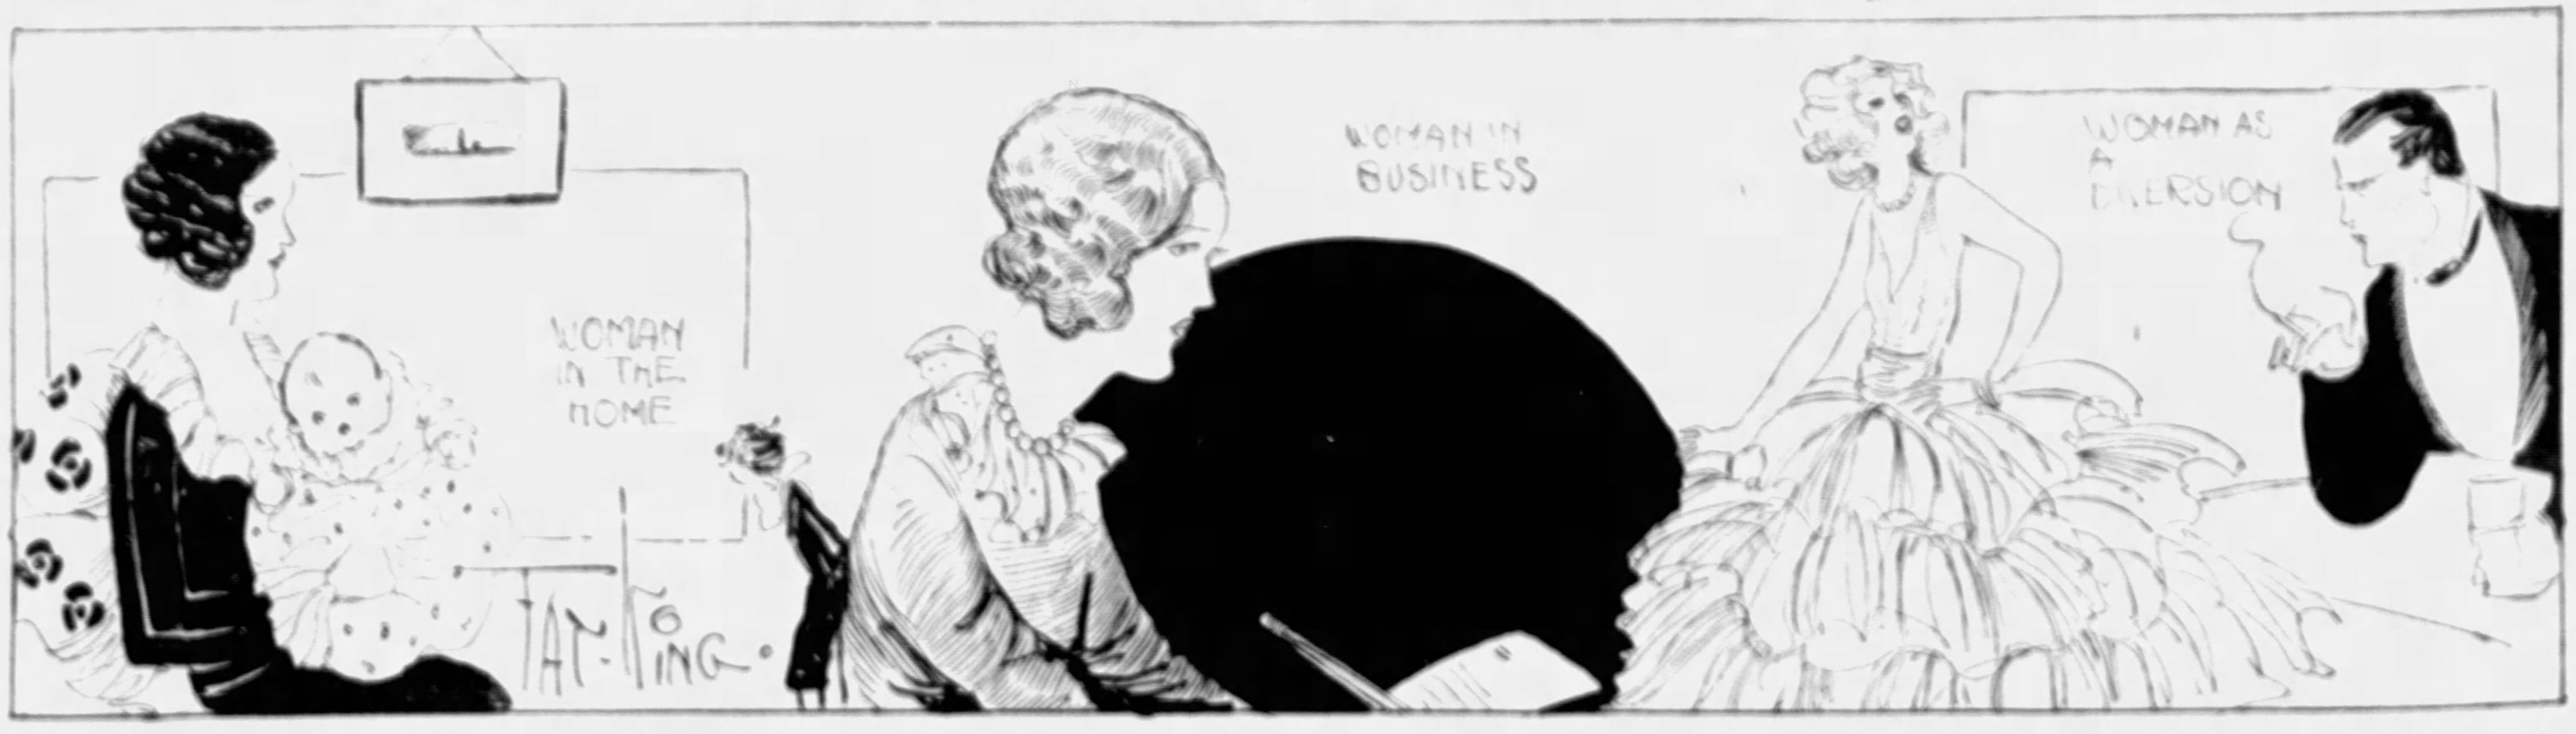
An Excellent Plan

A rose bush is to be planted on the grave of every French soldier who fell in the great war.

Woman's Place What She Makes It, Home or Office, Says Fay-King



IN THE HOME a woman's success depends upon her ability as a home maker and a mother.

Every man sooner or later longs to leave descendants. Many men late in life are perfectly idiotic in their pride over their young children.

In the business world woman's success depends upon how much she contributes toward her employer's success. Business has not hesitated to exploit woman for her sex appeal. She is as often hired for business "bait" as for ability.

Woman's success as a diversion depends upon her power to make a man feel that he is lord of all he beholds and that she is the fairest of the fair just born to please and amuse a weary world conqueror.

And Babbitt thinks he's Caesar.

Chickie's Mother Questions Her About Barry

CHAPTER LXXV

Chickie let Jake help her to his car, let him press her hands as he said in the rich, familiar tone: "Dear Lady Indifference, the old dog is back. Will you throw him a bone or two? He deserves it—patient fellow."—

She could feel red patches glowing on her cheeks, a red burn searing on her heart. But she answered in an attempt at flippance: "Well, now, I don't know about that, Mr. Jake. The old dog has no lean or hungry look. I take it he's been well nourished."

The little pique dallied in his eyes and over the red, smiling mouth. "There's much that feeds the flesh, my dear, and leaves the spirit starved. Know you that?"

"So it's food for your soul you crave?" She laughed. "But where does one buy that, Jake, I wonder?"

"That's what one doesn't buy, Helena. That's what is given—only given—"

She asked, trembling but still with the laugh: "And does it feed the one who gives or the one who takes?"

"Both—both, Helena."

"That must be wonderful food, Jake. Have you ever tasted it?"

He surveyed her with a touch of sadness, tossed his head. "Some day I'll answer you, my dear—"

It surprised her that even now, entering the restaurant with him, noting the fine kingly air, the set of his black, proud head, she could feel a glow of pride. And she shuddered noting this.

He pushed the frail vase of flowers aside, leaning forward on his folded arms. And he began to talk vividly, a rich easy flow of spirits. He'd been east, south. He'd taken the yacht to Bermuda—great trip—she should have been along. Other trips though, all summer. How about tomorrow? No? Next week-end then. How about her vacation? Well—bring Jennie along!

Feels Faint

And he roared at that. Chickie stammered. Finally her excuses gave out. She stared at him, white-faced, imploring: "Thanks, Jake—no—I can't. Really—"

"Not even to a show, Helena? Not even to a dinner—say, next Wednesday?"

He saw her hands clasped before her tremble—saw the lowered eyes close sharply. He leaned down and whispered:

"Chickie, you take things too much to heart. You mustn't. It's a sweet world if you'll just open your eyes wide and see it so. I'm telling you, my dear! I've given you time and plenty. Now see here—let an old dog come wagging along for comfort, won't you?"

She smiled, but didn't raise her eyes. And the pale, chiseled sweetness that was in her mouth and soft, childlike throat moved him as it always had. "You will, won't you, my dear?"

She said uneasily: "Do I need comfort, Jake? You think I'm the damsel in distress, I take it?"

"No, my dear! You think that I think you're the damsel—well, you'll be angry if I say it, Helena. Yet it's true. I think you're the damsel in luck."

She reached for her gloves, feeling that in another moment her poise would be completely gone—feeling all through her a sobbing faintness. She twisted her lips to smile. "For which kind words, I thank you and depart, Mr. Jake."

"No—you're not offended, Chickie? Why, my dear—"

She interrupted hastily: "Not offended, Jake — only in a hurry—"

Jake Insistent

"You don't mean to turn me down cold, like this, Chickie? Why, I've a day all planned. Nice little ride down the country; nice little dinner."

"You're good to me." But she was standing. He took her arm and followed.

He said hastily: "I wouldn't have said that, Chickie, but I didn't think you were feeling quite that somberly. See here—well, I'm going to drive you home, anyway. Get in." His red, smiling mouth was pale. He looked at her intently. "Chickie, my dear, I ask you to forgive that—please—"

Now she was able to answer lightly: "What? Forgive you for thinking me lucky? Oh, I don't mind that at all, Jake. Honestly!"

"Only you don't agree? Is that it, Chickie?"

"Perhaps."

"Well, Helena, then, perhaps I'm wrong, but I've looked pretty hard at life and I've seen life look hard at others and there are ill lucks and sorrows that you know nothing about. But there are joys that can be yours for the taking—there are the fine happy things you can grab. So, Helena, dear—that's lucky. Suppose you begin today. Let me have my plan?"

"Oh, some other time, Jake. You see, I promised—"

"Now look here, Chickie, you're not going to pull the Jennie gag on me again, are you? You're not going to tell me you promised Jennie you'd help make a cherry pie, are you? I'll ram it down your throat if you do."

"Let me off then today, Jake."

"Will you promise me a tomorrow?"

"Maybe—you see—" Suddenly she reached over and touched his hand. But her eyes filled.

He said: "All right, my dear . . . well."

Sunday morning after the meeting with Jake, Jennie brought a tray to Chickie's room. She went padding about, raising the shade, letting in bright streams of sun, glancing expectantly to the long slender form unstirring under the covers. She had much to say, much that Chickie would do well to hear.

Chickie knew this. She was awake, uneasy.

Jennie Inquisitive

Jennie took the chair at the bed, smiling; she regarded the profile etched against the pillow; softly she touched the beautiful hair, smoothing the strands from Chickie's forehead.

And there was such tenderness in the short plump fingers Chickie turned from it. Too much that. She said, her face half buried in the pillow: "Jennie, dear—out with it—what's ailing you this early in the morning?"

Jennie stammered: "Why, your breakfast, dear. It's quite late. I thought perhaps you'd be going out today." After fussing with the tray, pouring the coffee, she began her artless cross-examination. Nice that Mr. Munson was so attentive. Perhaps they'd all go to the theater again. Well — Chickie had been staying home too much this last month . . . not that Jennie wanted her to gad . . . but then youth is so short.

And finally: "You're not sure when Barry will return?"

Jennie was in the garden as they drove to the house and Jonathan was standing at the door. His rugged face was alight with pleasure. He came down with the manner of a lord, extended his hand, the old eyes beaming. He said grandly: "A pleasure, Mr. Munson."

And when Jake left, Jonathan put his arm on Chickie's shoulder; he raised her chin in his palms, chuckling: "Fine man, that Mr. Munson! Fine fellow, Chickie girl!"

She went into the garden, helped Jennie train the rose vines. The thorns scratched her hands. Jennie said: "Don't, Chickie dear. Let me do that. Spoil your pretty hands."

"What do I care!" And it gave her a pleasure to look at red scratches.

Fears the Truth

Jennie said, musing: "Your father likes him, Chickie."

"Who, mother?"

Jennie, smiling shyly: "You don't know, I suppose. Jonathan wants him to supper tomorrow. We can have chicken."

Chickie said dully, a new fear in her heart: "No! No!"

Those that she loved—that would have died to save her pain—began suddenly to make the thing harder, make life unbearable for her.

"He isn't sure himself."

Jennie made tucks in her white apron. "He doesn't send his letters here."

"Too bad, Jennie dear! Want to read them first?"

Jennie blushed. "Does he write every day, Chickie?"

"Over there in the bureau drawer, Jennie—count them—" Chickie cut the fat carefully from the ham, holding the knife and fork rigid.

Jennie went on in a soft, monotonous tone: "Oh, it's not that I'm curious, Chickie. But you say he may decide to remain in the South and you've promised not to leave us. Then you should be wise. It's not often a girl meets a man like Mr. Munson. I'm sure any girl would be proud of him. And it's not right for you to take him up and dandle him and drop him as you're doing. That's not right, Chickie. A girl should have dignity and she should be very careful not to trifle with a man's affections."

"Ho, Jennie—don't make me laff! They're all careful of our actions, aren't they? They've always been, so I hear tell!"

Jennie stood to her guns: "He must think a great deal of you to come back again and again. You ought to look ahead, unless you've promised Barry. Then you should tell us. You should tell your father and me if you're engaged. Chickie—are you certain Barry is the right man for you?"

Chickie's blood stilled. A frozen thing went slowly like a horror through her veins.

Jennie made the little tucks as she asked this. And Chickie, watching her, wondered suddenly what would happen if she were to face those gentle eyes with the truth. Oh, if she were to tell her mother!

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Uses New Method of Quieting Katie

My victory over Katie was won. I knew that from the flat docility of her voice as she timidly asked me what I was doing. But I was too thoroughly angered at her for her rudeness to Mrs. Ticer to be elated over her submission, and my voice was cold, chillier even than I intended it to be when I replied:

"I am peeling the potatoes for luncheon. You evidently have forgotten that Mrs. Birkett has to take that afternoon train."

"Me, I no forget nodings. Look here."

She threw open the oven door, baking potatoes and a glass of something giving out a most savory odor.

"I feex her cheecken pie," my little maid went on, but there was neither reproach nor tears in her voice. "She always like cheecken pie best of all, und baked potatoes. Und I have fresh poompkin pie for loonch und dot vinter salad you like so vell und——"

"I am very glad you have not forgotten luncheon, Katie," I said in as lofty a tone as I could manage, for my sense of humor was fast banishing my choler. "For I hear that you have forgotten something else which has grieved me very deeply."

"You mean vot I say to dot Ticer vomans?" she said at last with a sidelong look at me.

"Yes, Katie, I mean just that," I said. "But of course I did not hear the quarrel, so perhaps you would better tell me just what you did say to her."

"I tell her, 'You beeg head of cabbage, get out of my keetchen,'" she exclaimed, then at my face her head dropped and she fell to plaiting her apron again. I waited without saying anything. Evidently my best weapon was silence.

"I terrible ashamed mineself," she ventured at last, her head still bowed.

"What good will that do, Katie?" I asked, letting her wait for several seconds before I spoke. "For reasons which it is not necessary for you to know, I wished Mrs. Ticer to stay at the farmhouse this forenoon and part of the afternoon. I certainly did not think that you would forget what was due me and your own sense of decency to talk to anyone like that."

"Oh, Meesis Graham, you keeling me, you talk like dot, mit your head oop high und your face all cold und your voice like—like vun organ. Please, you geev me steeck, you gif me anytings, only not look so far avay. You know your Katie luvs you."

I knew that it was not alone my treatment of her which was making her repentant. Her conscience was working actively. I put down my hand and clasping one of hers, pulled at it, saying quietly:

"Get up, Katie, and let us find out what is to be done. Talking to me like this doesn't do any good. You have done a very wrong thing. Now the question is—How are you going to set it right?"

Katie's face clouded.

"You want me to tell dot vomans I sorry?"

I waited for a long minute, my eyes gazing steadily into her now sullen ones until she turned them away.

"You see what your being sorry amounts to," I said at last. "You can talk, but when it comes to doing anything to prove you are sorry, that is another question. Now I am not going to tell you to do anything. If your own sense of right doesn't make you do what is right then I am very much disappointed in you."

"All right," she said suddenly. "I say vatever you tell me say. I do vatever you say do. But oh, Missis Graham, vy you put dot vomans up on top ofer me. Tell her secrets you nefer say nodings to your Katie about?"

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Mixed Grill

After the honeymoon lots of brides have to use the hope-chest for keeping the moths out of their illusions.

A man may get mad enough to fling an imported vase at his wife, but we never yet heard of one, who so far lost his head as to rush upstairs and use a guest-towel, to punish her.

A woman is always asking a man why he loves her, but a man rests serenely in the unquestioned assurance that a woman loves him because she just can't help it.

Many a man, who is brave enough to face a machine gun, hasn't the courage to go back and exchange a pair of misfit socks for the right size, without taking the "little woman" along to keep up his morale.

When a young man cuddles a graying head on his shoulder it does not signify that he's looking for love but that he is prospecting for gold.

It is difficult to say which is more annoying to a man, not to be able to kiss a woman whom he is just beginning to love, or not to be able to stop kissing one, whom he has gotten over loving.

* * *

Good husbands and wives so often die young; but alas, marriage always appears to endow the other kind with immortality.

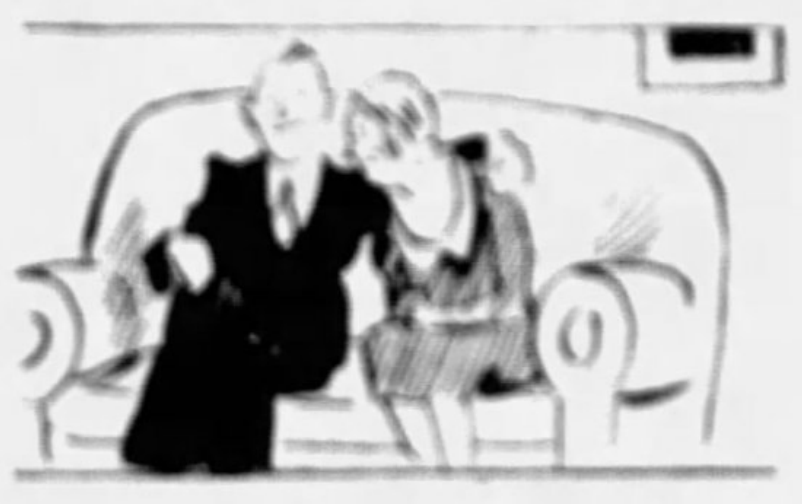
Keeping their legs a secret is such a brand new kick to some of the younger girls, that they feel positively "devilish" in the new long skirts.



A kiss may be technically a kiss, when it is in reality only an impertinence, an experiment, a duty or a pastime.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Gift Not Necessary But Correct

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A girl with whom I used to chum is about to become engaged. I have been told that it is not correct to give a gift for an engagement. Is this so? If a gift is correct, what would you suggest as a gift?

MISS A. N.

INDEED it is correct to give a gift to celebrate an engagement, if we wish to. It is not necessary, but it is correct and generous. Usually too close friends of the bride-to-be do wish to give her gifts to show their happiness in her happiness. And since apparently you are an especially close friend of the girl who is announcing her engagement it would be natural for you to wish to give her a gift.

Engagement presents are usually of a personal nature, unlike wedding presents, which are gifts for the new home. Therefore, something for the girl herself is what you will probably wish to give: Monogrammed handkerchiefs, a lovely purse or necklace for day wear or for evening wear, a vanity case, an accessory for her dressing table or for her desk, a beautifully bound book, a pen or a pen and pencil set, one of the fashionable new clasp pins. Perhaps since you are such a close friend of hers you would like to plan to give her an exceptionally beautiful lace handkerchief which she will carry on her wedding day.

The Tea Knife

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When eating in a restaurant, is it correct to use a knife and fork to eat a chicken sandwich that has no dressing whatsoever?

BEE.

YES, it is correct and convenient. There is a most agreeable size of knife and fork called the "tea" knife and fork that is often placed with sandwiches.

Answering Notes of Sympathy

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Recently I had a death in my family and I have just received many letters of sympathy. I am at a loss as to whether I should answer these. Kindly let me know as soon as possible.

L. S.

YES, these letters of sympathy should be answered. It is not necessary for you to answer them at once, for any friend will, of course, understand this, and it is not necessary for you to write a long letter—just a sentence or two will be sufficient.

Something like this is what we will be expected to write in acknowledgment of letters of sympathy:

Dear Miss Robbins:

You were most kind to send me such a beautiful message of sympathy and I do want you to know how deeply I appreciated it.

Most sincerely yours,

or

Dear Mary:

Thank you deeply for the message of sympathy that you and Fred sent to us in our sorrow and for the beautiful roses. You were most kind and we all appreciated so much your goodness and friendliness.

Very sincerely yours,

GIRL UNAFRAID

By GLADYS JOHNSON

She gladly turned the care of the outer shop to Ardeth without questioning her, and disappeared into the smokerie.

The smokerie was well patronized today. Ardeth could hear Phyllis Hawkins' baby drawl. The Duvant twins' squeals of delighted horror. She heard the silky tones of Cyril Underhill and Cecile's high tinkling laugh, like thin ice breaking against crystal.

But Cecile could not trouble Ardeth today, hugging the warm thought of Ken's love to her heart.

Each time the shop door opened her heart leaped and her cheeks flushed with expectancy. But it was only Mary Eastwood. Her cool, pleasant voice as she passed through to the smokerie. "Ardeth, child, we missed you!"

Only Tom Corbett's stocky figure. His broad, honest grin. He came over to the glass case and talked, pretending to be absorbed by the beads she was restringing. He went away without going into the smokerie, and Ardeth realized with secret surprise and a small feminine glow of satisfaction that Tom's real reason for coming here was to see her.

And when she left the shop that night—the last to go, there was Ken's tall figure waiting up at the corner near the flower stand.

Tingling gladness going through her as she walked toward him. Her heart melting under its weight of love as he captured one wrist, drew it through his own arm. Flashing his proud smile at her.

"Hello—my girl! The day's been a thousand years long. Stay out to dinner?"

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Your Body Is Chock Full of Metal

Modern research is doing much to show us the mysterious working of the human body. A great deal of this work relates to matters having a direct bearing on the life and health of the race.

DR. COPELAND

New knowledge of the vitamins has made clear that tiny traces of these specific chemical substances are essential to health. Their absence may cause illness or even death for living creatures.

For long it has been known that certain minerals are present in the organs of the body. Here they work in mysterious ways. Recent investigations are bringing new light on this interesting subject.

Two eminent French scientists, P. Dutoit and Christian Zbinden, recently made a report to the Academy of Science in Paris. These men contend that the human heart contains not only copper and aluminum, but also a little silver. The lungs contain probably all of the body's supply of the rare metal called titanium. The brain is said to be particularly rich in tin. The pancreas, that gland which produces insulin and makes possible our eating of sugar, carries considerable quantities of cobalt and nickel.

These interesting conclusions were made possible by the use of an extremely delicate instrument, the spectroscope. By its use these metallic substances were found to be present in the ashes from half a hundred or more human organs.

Just what are the duties of these metallic elements in the intricate mechanisms of the body? That is the problem now before the scientists.

Physicists have found that the atoms of each element emit definite wave lengths of light or ultraviolet rays. This happens whenever these atoms are highly heated or electrified. Such rays are sorted out by the spectroscope and permit the atoms actually to be photographed.

We all know how important iron is and how necessary it is that it should be found in the blood. The "hemoglobin" or red coloring matter, which is everywhere present in the body, is an iron compound. With the exception of iron, the most widespread metals in the human organs are copper and silver. They are found, not only in the heart, but also in the kidneys, spleen, liver and in the majority of the glands of the body.

Tin was found, not only in the brain, but in the spleen and in the thyroid gland of the neck, that gland which so often becomes diseased and the seat of goitre. The thyroid gland seems to be a catch-all for these tiny metallic elements—silver, copper, lead, tin and zinc having been found there by the French scientists.

Speaking of the thyroid gland, it has been known for some time that a deficiency of iodine in this gland produces goitre or other diseased conditions. Doctors now quite commonly feed their patients small quantities of iodine in cases of goitre.

Many other investigators are working on the mysterious action of the metals found in the organs of living creatures. Then, too, scientists are interested in investigations into the effects metals have on wheat plants and their stimulating action upon them.

And thus it is that science and medicine are forward-looking and intent on finding out facts that will promote health. We should be glad the unselfish scientists are so active in our behalf.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

When finger nails break, oil should be applied to the nail base, where the nail grows. When they are pale, something should be done to arouse circulation. Nothing better for that than deep breathing, rubbing the body with moistened salt and washing away, long walks, sleeping in a room in which there is a strong current of fresh air. Nothing can be done about white spots on the nail. In a few months they are gone into nail limbo.

The jaw is a drop hinge. Unlike the cheeks, the nose and the ears, it has the power of movement. If it is pulled in often enough it can create double—aye, even triple—chins. The whiner who goes about with a hang-dog air ruins the character of her chin, which goes soft and pouchy. The woman who snaps her teeth together like a bear-trap gets a mean-looking chin. Chins should be watched.

Soft, flat ringlets along the forehead are flattering. They improve the appearance of any woman who isn't the strictly-tailor-made type, she who shudders at the sight of a ruffle, wears neckties and skins her hair back so tightly that her eyebrows are lifted. The average woman adores curls. So does the average man, especially if they happen to be on the sacred tete of his best girl. In the coiffure design they contribute the decorative element. Very popular, too, at this particular moment.

The sidereal operations for this day carry some hostile influences, making for abrupt and devastating change or travel, with the tendency to hamper and thwart the smooth running of affairs by indulgence in rash, impetuous and quarrelsome words and deeds. It may be difficult to make much progress, although there is augury of some benefits or satisfaction in employment.

Those whose birthday it is are warned of a year of sudden and possibly unfavorable change or journey, with matters complicated by a tendency to indulge in rash, tumultuous and quarrelsome conduct. There may be some benefits or preferment in the employment of others.

A child born on this day may be restless, erratic and fond of change, as well as tempestuous and self-indulgent. It should be subjected to rigid training and discipline in early life lest it be the victim of self-undoing. It should succeed best in employment of others.

KREMER TO OPPOSE BRAVES

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Four-Basers Hurt Bucs. Cause Three Defeats. Sluggers on Rampage.

Berger Is Impressive. Night Baseball's Test. Many Shifts by Webb.

FOES HIT 13 HOMERS IN SEVEN GAMES

AMONG ALL THE items that are listed on the attacking side of baseball there is only one in which the Pirates do not hold a big lead over their opponents. In runs scored, hits, doubles, triples, extra-base hits, total bases bases on balls, stolen bases, sacrifice hits and runs batted in, the Ensmen have outclassed their foemen. The only exception is the hitting of home runs. The Bucs have made only six four-basers against 16 for the clubs that they have faced.

Walter Berger

Their failure to come even close to holding their own with the enemy in that respect is proving costly, for home runs have been the cause of more Buccaneer woe than any other spring factor. Two wallops over the left-field wall at Forbes Field yesterday by Walter Berger, the Braves' new slugger from Los Angeles, and one into the right-field stand by Johnny Neun, producing three of Boston's four tallies and winning the first game of the series for the visitors, marked the continuance of one of the most unusual streaks of round-trip swatting of which the Pirates have ever been the victims.

THE LOSS OF three of the last four games played by the Corsairs was directly due to the inability of the Pittsburgh pitchers to keep the ball out of the home-run groove. No fewer than 10 homers were made by the foe in the four contests. The Cubs knocked four on Monday, one on Tuesday and two on Wednesday, and the Braves followed with three yesterday.

And the wave had its start even before that time. The Freebooters' opponents have made one or more homers in every one of the last seven games, played on seven successive days without a break. Last Friday it was Hafey; on Saturday, Watkins; on Sunday, Heathcote; on Monday, Hartnett (two), Heathcote and Root; on Tuesday, Bell; on Wednesday, English and Wilson, and yesterday, Berger (two) and Neun. Thirteen four-base drives by the opposition in seven consecutive games.

THE FACT THAT nine of the 10 homers made in the last four days came with the bases empty would appear to have been a break for the Bucs, but it wasn't.

Strangely enough, the one game in which there were men on the paths when the opposition poled a circuit clout (Bell's wallop with the corners filled) was the only contest that the Pirates won out of the four.

Chuck Klein

BUT THE PIRATE pitchers haven't been the only victims of home-run slugging this spring. Punching homers appears to be the fashion all around. Chuck Klein, who established a new National League record with 43 last year, set 50 as his goal for this season and is off to a flying start with four to his credit already. The two big leagues themselves may smash the new record of 1,350 which they hung up in 1929, as they have made no fewer than 112 in the first 17 days of the season. The National turned in 65 up to today and the American 47.

THE GIANTS AND Cubs are tied for the home-run leadership in the senior league, each of those clubs having made 15 to date. The Phillies and Dodgers are on even terms for second honors, with eight credited to each team. The Pirates follow with six, the Braves and Cardinals have five each and the Reds have three.

In the American League, the Athletics pulled up to a tie with the Senators and Tigers for top ranking by making five in yesterday's 19-to-2 slaughter of Detroit. Each of the leading trio has nine. The White Sox have seven, the Yankees six, the Browns four, the Red Sox two and the Yankees one. That home-run prominence does not always mean pennant progress is shown in the case of the Tigers. Though tied for the homer leadership of their league they have lost 10 of their last 12 games and have won only five since the season opened.

WALTER BERGER, the Braves' new left fielder, whose home-run wallops were the undoing of the Pirates yesterday, was the most impressive new man flashed by Bill McKechnie in the Braves' 1930 debut here. He looked like a real ball player in the field as well as at bat.

Berger's homers, his second and third for the season, were terrific right-hand drives over the left-field wall, the second striking on the far side of the roadway, one of the longest hits ever made at the Oakland park. The new Brave hit two balls over the same fence in batting practice before the game. He is a big fellow, standing 6 feet 2 inches and weighing 198 pounds. He was obtained from Los Angeles in the Coast League last November in exchange for Outfielder George Harper, Pitcher Arthur Delaney and a roll of cash. His batting average to date is .340.

Sydney Weil

SYDNEY WEIL, new owner of the Cincinnati Reds, will find it no easy matter to win other big league magnates over to his idea of having night baseball played in the major loops provided it proves a success in the minors, yet fans around the main loops, as elsewhere throughout the country, are awaiting with much interest the first test of the plan, which is scheduled for tonight at Des Moines, Ia., in the Western League. It will mean a lot to minor leagues, at least, if the thing goes over successfully, as it is figured that much larger crowds can be attracted to night games than to afternoon contests. The attendance in the little circuits has fallen off to such an extent in recent years that something is needed to revive interest.

LEE KEYSER, owner of the Des Moines club, is fathering tonight's experiment in that city. Six towers, 90 feet in height, have been erected outside the park for the lighting equipment. They are located behind home plate, first and third bases and around the outfield. The towers carry a total of 146 lamps, each having a 1,000-watt bulb, which will flood the park with 53,000,000-beam candle power.

The lights are said to be so arranged that there will be no glare to interfere with the players in any part of the field, and no areas of shadow. The cost of the installation was about $20,000 and it is estimated that the expense of operation will be approximately $50 per game. Baseball men believe it will be necessary to screen the entire fronts of grandstands to protect the spectators from foul balls. Night baseball, like football, track meets and harness racing, has been tried before, but never on the elaborate and scientific scale to be attempted in Des Moines.

TO BE DROPPED by two major league clubs within a couple of weeks without getting a chance to play even an inning for either

Seeded Stars Lose In School Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(AP.)—Two seeded stars fell by the wayside in the opening day's play of the annual University of Pennsylvania interscholastic tennis tournament yesterday.

They were Herbert Oritsky and William Abrams, both of Philadelphia. Oritsky fell before the expert racquet wielding of Sam Felder, of Evander Childs High, New York City, 7-5, 9-7, while Leonard Hahn, Lansdowne, Pa., eliminated Abrams, 6-2, 7-5.

Three players entered the fourth round. They were H. Block, Central High, Philadelphia; Fred Lefkof, Theodore Roosevelt High, New York, and C. C. Jones, Episcopal Academy, Philadelphia.

SPECIAL DASH TO FEATURE CARNIVAL

COLUMBUS, May 2.—(AP.)—The pageantry of 2,300 athletes from 17 states and Canada competing in a two-day carnival of track and field events will form the background this week-end for the first 1930 clash of three college sprinters who dominated the 100-yard dash last year.

Beginning with the preliminary events this afternoon, the seventh annual Ohio relays will culminate tomorrow with competition among representatives of 55 universities and colleges from the East, Middle West and Southwest, and 60 high schools from New Jersey to Iowa.

The attention of both athletes and spectators will center, however, on the open 100-yard dash in which George Simpson, National Collegiate champion and possessor of the only recognized mark of 9.4 seconds, will defend his honor against Claude Bracey, of Rice Institute and Eddie Tolan, the University of Michigan Negro, who pressed him last year.

PAIR SEEK REVENGE

The three have not met since the afternoon in Chicago last June when Simpson left them both several yards in the rear during the N. C. A. A. meet and broke all existing records with a 9.4 century. Since then Tolan has won the A. A. U. title. Bracey has been less fortunate in his meetings with Cy Leland, his Texas rival, but took second in the Drake games last week while Simpson was winning at Penn for the second time. Tolan was third at Drake.

Leland will not be here tomorrow, but Bracey and Tolan, who finished next to Simpson in his record-breaking sprint, are eager to capitalize on their first chance to get revenge.

Simpson holds the Ohio Relays record of 9.5 seconds for the century, and he is expected to equal or better it if he wins tomorrow. A special timing device, composed of a camera capable of taking 16 pictures a second and operating one-sixth of a second faster than an attached stop-watch, will take motion pictures of the runners and of the watch at the same time. The time of the start and finish will thus be shown on the film, permitting an accurate check on the lapse of time between the smoke of the starter's gun and the breaking of the tape.

L. WANER OUT OF UNIFORM

Ordered out of uniform, Lloyd Waner is lost to the Pirates indefinitely, it developed today. Lloyd has yet to play a game since the season started, and his status has been indefinite, but the latest move indicates that the doctors are somewhat alarmed.

Pirate officials today admitted that they were debating Lloyd's case with a view of further specialist treatment. The little star complains of a condition in his stomach or abdomen that appears to be holding him back. It may be he will be sent away for treatment.

It is now going on four months since Lloyd was operated on for appendicitis in Pittsburgh. At that time the medical men thought they had removed the cause of the trouble, which had made him sick at intervals. But the little athlete has not responded. He has anything but a health-

FOE TO HELP HONOR ENS

The testimonial dinner in honor of Manager Jewel Ens of the Pirates promises to be a real frolic and get-together of Buccaneer fans. The festive event will be held Tuesday evening at 6:30 in the Schenley Hotel.

The Giants will be in the city on that date and Manager McGraw and his men all have been invited to the affair. The Pirates, of course, will be out to pay a tribute to their popular leader.

A. K. Rowswell, chairman of the dinner, wishes it understood that the banquet is for both men and women. Reservations for the dinner can be made by getting in touch with Mr. Rowswell, 906 Bessemer Building, Pittsburgh.

Members of the Allegheny Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will be hosts at another of their famous fish dinners at the Allegheny Elks' Temple at 6:30 this evening. The yellow perch to be served at the dinner were hauled alive in tanks from the lakes today.

William Harwood, African adventurer, is to be the principal speaker, and many men prominent in outdoor sports will be seated at the speakers' table. Officers of practically every Izaak Walton League chapter in Western Pennsylvania are to attend.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

Well, folks, it looks like we gotta stop throwing that "home-run ball" or Jule will begin to read the riot act or somethin'. I know us fellows on the bench are gettin' dizzy watching those new balls leave the park. In Chicago the Cubs lost eight over the fences, and as soon as we get home the Braves knock us for a loop with three.

It was kinda funny to hear our gang tryin' to figure out what kind of a hitter Walter Berger was before the game started. Jule says those strangers are the birds that beat you as a rule. When Berger soaked a few over the wall in practice, one of the California boys on our bench says.

"Sure, he's hitting them over, but that guy on the mound is pitching high to him.. He can't get hold of one if you keep it low."

HARD TO DOPE

Well, just as he said that, Jule came out and looked up just in time to see Berger crack a low pitch against the scoreboard on a line.

"Aha!" said Jule—"I see the young man is a low ball hitter."

Well, the boys on our bench didn't want to claim he was a high ball hitter right after he

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Our ambitious Pirates today, for the first time this season, have a full realization as to how it feels to lose two games in a row and they are not entirely satisfied with the reaction. The Boston Braves appeared docile enough as they landed in Pittsburgh yesterday, but they proved to be Tartars in their first game of the year, so much so that the Buccos went to their shower baths in second place. The Braves won the series opener, 4 to 3.

A couple of strangers to local audiences had such a fine time in their first frolic at Forbes Field they would like to play a lot of like return engagements. Walter Berger, late of the Los Angeles club, and Johnny (Flip) Neun, who had some experience with the Detroit Tigers, put on a home-run festival that made Willie McKechnie's return to Pittsburgh one of much pleasure.

BERGER HITS TWO

Berger, a 200-pound outfielder, who bats from the Wagner side of the plate, smacked two successive homers over the leftfield wall in the seventh and eighth rounds, while Neun, the Braves first-sacker, clubed one into the right-field stands. The three homers were the decisive thrusts in a Boston victory.

Berger's second homer, a high drive a few panels south of the scoreboard, is believed by many to be the longest homer yet recorded at Forbes Field. The ball carried across the adjacent boulevard on the fly. It seemed to have 100 feet to spare as it passed

Section IV

Monaca at Stowe.

Westinghouse High, the lone team remaining in Section I that has not been beaten by [illegible] Schenley, will face the [illegible] this afternoon in the feature attraction of the City League schedule at [illegible] Field. A win for Schenley today will practically clinch the Section I banner for the Oaklanders.

Peabody, Vocational and Ralston all have been taken into camp by the league champs and a like fate is almost certain to be the heritage of the [illegible] this afternoon.

OLIVER FACES TEST

The feature contest in Section II will bring together the leading Oliver High nine and Allegheny's flag contenders at Oliver. Oliver, like Schenley, can just about sew up the Section II honors by winning today's battle.

In a second Section I fray Peabody and Vocational will meet at Vocation. In Section II Carrick meets South Hills on the Tunnelites' grounds.

Junior division games bring Liberty and Gladstone and Baxter and Peabody together in Section I, and Herron Hill and Overbrook and Oliver and Latimer in Section II.

SCOTT PLAYS CARROLLMEN

In the W. P. I. A. L. race the defending champion Scott High of North Braddock will attempt to make it three in a row by taking Wilkinsburg into camp. Johnny Reed's team appears to be headed for another league championship and is almost certain to win the Section II honors at least. In a second Section II game Edgewood tests Rankin.

McKeesport and Pitcairn tangle in the lone Section I battle. Dormont meets Mt. Lebanon and Crafton tackles McKees Rocks in Section III and Monaca plays Stowe Township in Section IV.

When Lloyd failed to show improvement in training camp the heads of the team thought he would be O. K. in time, but apparently they are satisfied now that he needs further treatment. It has been suggested that Lloyd go to Johns Hopkins Hospital or to the Mayo Brothers clinic where he could receive a thorough examination.

"I don't have any pains in my stomach, but I get a peculiar feeling down lower and if I don't take pills I get out of whack easily," said Lloyd in explaining his feeling.

Meantime, Ira Flagstead and Fred Brickell will continue to take care of centerfield for the Buccos. The former American League veteran has done a great job in the emergency. Flagstead has played in most of the Pittsburgh games.

South Hills Track Team Beats Carrick

South Hills High School's track and field team had little difficulty in downing the Carrick squad in a dual meet at Carrick yesterday afternoon, winning by a 56 to 21 score. The summary:

COOPER TESTS KID WALLACE TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Farmer Joe Cooper, veteran welterweight boxer of Terre Haute, Ind., who came here twice before and marched off with decisions over Buck McTiernan and Jimmy Belmont at Motor Square Garden, is back in our midst again, this time for a 10-round feature battle with Harry (Kid) Wallace of Philadelphia at the Moose Temple tonight. Wallace also is a veteran who has done most of his fighting in the East and recently got as far west as Johnstown, where he attracted attention by defeating Tiger Joe Randall, Negro knockout of Elizabeth, who then was going at his best. He subsequently made a hookup with James (Red) Mason, whereby the dean of local managers is acting as his representative in this section.

Harry Wallace

Both Cooper and Wallace have fought many stars, with Cooper's record the more impressive. Joe has just returned from one of his annual winter pilgrimages to the South, where he did considerable fighting.

HOLT BOXES YAROSZ

Tonight's show is the next to last of the indoor season in the Moose Temple and is featured by a good all-round card. For the semi-final Billy Holt, hard-hitting Negro of Canton, O., who knocked out Frankie Portland last week, returns against Ted Yarosz of Monaca, who is fresh from a victory over Young Rudy of Charleroi in the main bout at Washington, Pa., last Monday night. Sammy Parta of the Hill meets Johnny Warner, erstwhile amateur star of Clairton, in the second bout and Jimmy Thomas, Negro bantamweight of the Hill, who boxes the semi-final at New Castle next Monday night, is in with the Gypsy Kid of Beaver Falls for the opener.

SOCCER FINAL TOMORROW

With high hopes of taking back to Fall River the national amateur trophy for the first time, the Raffies club of Fall River, Mass., is scheduled to arrive in Pittsburgh late this afternoon. The New Englanders are to meet the Gallatin club in the final game of the National amateur cup at the Westinghouse High School field tomorrow.

The Raffies aggregation is coming here touted as the finest amateur soccer team in America. The Fall River professional team recently captured the open title and the amateur aggregation is eager to cop the simon pure trophy.

The game will start at 4 p. m. daylight savings time. Gallatin is Western Pennsylvania and American League champion and is one of the finest teams ever developed in the Pittsburgh district.

Owens Hurls Grays To Shutout Victory

JEANNETTE, Pa., May 2.—The Homestead Grays, with Oscar Owens on the mound, blanked the Jeannette club of the Middle Atlantic League in an exhibition game here yesterday afternoon, 8 to 0.

Owens struck out nine batsmen and limited the Jays to four hits. Wicker and Butler, hurling for Jeannette, were touched for only six hits, but Wicker's wildness enabled the Grays to pile up the score. The box score:

FRIENDS WAGER ON JONES FOR THREE WINS

ATLANTA, Ga., May 2.—(AP)—Bobby Jones' homefolk believe Bobby will win not only the British open and amateur golf tournaments, but that he will return to America and take the National open and amateur events here.

Atlantans have backed their belief with $2,500 worth of $5 "policies" at 50 to 1 odds with Lloyd's of London.

While some of those who bought the policies felt that the odds were a little short, all were firmly convinced they were putting their money into a good sporting proposition.

The 50 to 1 odds quoted by Lloyd's is based on odds of slightly less than 2 to 1 in each of the four tournaments.

According to the local insurance man who is handling the matter for the London underwriters, the price for the parlay represents the odds that would prevail if a wager at 2 to 1 odds was made on the first tournament and the winnings allowed to ride through all four.

AUSTIN LOSES BRITISH CUP TEAM BERTH

LONDON, May 2.—(AP)—When Great Britain plays its second round tie against either Rumania or Poland in European zone Davis Cup competition, Henry W. Austin, first ranking tennis player in the Kingdom, will not be a member of the team.

The decision to drop Austin from the team for the second round at least, was reached after the erratic youth had been beaten decisively by E. C. Peters in the British hard court championships at Bournemouth Wednesday. Peters, who beat big Bill Tilden on the Riviera earlier in the season, overwhelmed Austin by scores of 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

According to present arrangements, Austin's place on the Davis Cup team will be taken by Charles Kingsley, who played on the British teams of 1925 and 1926. The other members of the team probably will be H. G. Lee, I. G. Collins and J. C. Gregory.

ABE 'n' ANDRA saw Them All and √ √ Double Checked This One

18, Cunningham Avenue,

Messrs. The Regal Shoe Co.,

U.S.A.

Gentlemen,

Your representative has just shown me a collection of Golf Shoes assembled from various London Bootmakers.

After carefully examining each shoe, I quickly picked this one. I was then told that this type was also Andra' Kirkaldy's choice.

I am not surprised, for I know that Martin Calf skin upper and stout leather soles with genuine Scotch Tacketts, combine to make the finest Golf Shoe it is possible to build.

With their low broad heels and comfortable foreparts this pair of shoes will 'follow through' from the first to the last tee of any match.

Yours faithfully,

Abe Mitchell

ABE MITCHELL

Premier Golfer of England and a member of the famous Ryder Cup Team, selected this Golf Shoe from a group of the best custom models in all England

The Royal & Ancient Golf Club of St Andrews, Fife.

Messrs. The Regal Shoe Co.,

Dear Sirs,

After carefully looking over the various shoes submitted to me by your representative, I have picked this one. In my opinion it is as good a shoe for golf as ever I saw.

"Ye canna wear these out and they will hold the ground like a squirrel on a tree."

Yours faithfully,

Andrew Kirkaldy

If according to the latest statistics there are three million golfers in the U. S. A. it is a safe bet that a good many of them this year will follow the new 1.68 golf ball with a new pair of $6.60 Golf Shoes.

Our representative spent a month roaming around all the famous courses of England and Scotland, sketching styles as they stepped up to the first tee, talking with the players at the 19th hole, making notes of Leathers, Lasts, Patterns, Rubber and Leather Soles, Linings, Wing Tips, Plain Toes and Moccasin types.

With this information, our man went to London and bought 22 pair of golf shoes, ranging in price from $10 to $42 in American money, and took this collection of high-priced golf shoes direct from London to Abe Mitchell's home in St. Albans.

The shoes were placed on a table—the price marks and labels removed, and when Abe Mitchell selected this shoe, he did not know the Price or name of the Maker, but after carefully examining every shoe, he picked up this shoe made by Bunting of Dover Street and said, "This pair of shoes will follow through from the first tee to the last of any match."

Abe Mitchell liked the broad low heels, spoke of the comfortable forepart of the last, the Upper Leather, Sole Leather, Scotch Tacketts, etc., and said, "The whole combination makes this the finest golf shoe that it is possible to build."

The Upper Leather in the Original is a new water-proofed calf-skin tanned by Martin of Glasgow. Our man made a special trip to Scotland and saw Mr. Martin, and purchased the entire first American Importation of this new leather.

Bunting's $32.76 Original is made with a hand sewn moccasin type vamp—full leather lined—with a double sole—steel slugged leather heels and the sole is set with Genuine Scotch Tacketts (spikes). Every feature of the Original is faithfully copied in the $6.60 Regal Reproduction, even to the real hand sewn vamp and broad comfortable last.

And this is only One Style of the greatest line of Sport Shoes in America. White, Brown and Grey Buck—Black, Tan and Natural Calfskin—Smoked Elk and Soft Norwegian Grain—Rubber, Leather, and spike soles—60 different Styles—All One Price $6.60.

BRAVES, MACKS WIN OPENING CLASHES

Associated Press.

The opening of the intersectional play in the major leagues is generally considered as starting the first real test of relative strength among the teams. Prior to the first East-West games, they engage in a sort of round-robin affair which may give one team a long winning or losing streak for no particular reason, but when one division is lined up against another there usually are important changes.

The intersectional action of the 1930 campaign begins in earnest today after a two-game preview yesterday which gave an exciting hint of what may happen.

A'S SWAMP TIGERS

In the American League contest, the rather battered world champions, the Philadelphia Athletics, opened their first real attack of the year to trounce the Detroit Tigers, 19 to 2. The Athletics are in fourth place after the Eastern series due principally to their inability to make any progress against Washington. Of the five games they lost four were to the Senators. But Washington outclassed every Eastern opponent to take the league leadership.

Against Detroit the Athletics played a vastly different brand of baseball. They started slugging with the first pitch as Max Bishop opened the action with a home run, and they slowed up in only two innings. The final count showed 18 hits for Philadelphia, including five home runs, three doubles and two triples, while the Tigers could get only seven blows from Lefty Grove, who struck out nine.

TIGERS IN DEPTHS

Detroit, however, is down in seventh place after losing out to every Western team and dropping five out of seven games to Cleveland before coming east.

The western representative also went down in the National League's first intersectional game as the Boston Braves took a surprise decision from the Pittsburgh Pirates. The final score, gained by three Boston home runs, was 4 to 3.

Hoyle Basketball Team Holds Banquet

The W. U. Hoyles, of the North Side, former light first-class champions of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., celebrated the close of a successful basketball season last night when they were guests at a banquet given them by their sponsor. While they did not retain their title, the Hoyles enjoyed a good season, winning 29 out of 37 games from the best amateur teams in their class.

Among the speakers were W. U. Hoyle, sponsor of the club; Ray Haggerty, manager; Chester Smith, coach at Perry High School; Capt. James Irr, Paul Zehfuss, T. L. Lawrey, former Central League star; Mike Replenowich, Tim Lawrey and Julius Levin, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

A. A. Umps Discuss Diamond Rules

CHICAGO, May 2.—(AP.)—President Thomas J. Hickey's School for American Association Umpires yesterday turned out to be just a discussion group, no new interpretations being made.

Hickey followed his annual custom of calling the arbiters together on the first open date of the season to learn if any situations required explanation. Hickey left last night for Kansas City, where he will attend the 1929 champions' opening day exercises today.

FOUR—COUNT 'EM

The Braves defeated the Pirates at Forbes Field yesterday, 4 to 3, with a fine display of hitting. Berger hit over the left field wall and Neun, next up, banged a homer into the right field stands to start the seventh inning. Spohrer then singled and later scored on Maranville's sacrifice fly. In the next inning, Berger again lined the ball over the left field fence. All of the visitors' runs are pictured above.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

socked a low one against the scoreboard. It would make them look like a rummy to say he was a high ball hitter after a sock like that. So the game started and in the seventh, Larry gives Berger a screw ball and the big fella made a fast one out of it. The liner went over the wall.

HITS HIGH ONE

Up comes Berger in the eighth and Glenn Spencer is pitchin'. I guess most of our gang had the idea that the big boy is weak on high balls and Glenn gives him a high curve. If you saw what he did to that one you would think the inside stuff is a lot of hooey, and, on the level, I believe it is a lot of times. You know they say Babe Ruth will fan on a certain pitch one time and the next time on the same pitch will hit one into another county.

Those Braves didn't look like a last-place club to me. They was pullin' in liners and making singles out of triples during most of the afternoon. And that little Rabbit on short. When he jumped and stabbed Moore's hot liner we thought he was gonna set a new record for gliders. He's a pip, that little dude.

And not merely a safe product at a low price—a smoke you'll like better and better!

THOUSANDS PAY LAST RESPECTS TO MURPHY

YOUNGSTOWN, May 2.—College, high school and sandlot athletes will pay final respects to Leo Murphy tomorrow when the former South High, Wyoming Seminary and University of Pittsburgh backfield football star is laid to rest in Calvary Cemetery.

Thousands have viewed the body since being removed to the family home 29 North Marland, attesting to the popularity and esteem in which Murphy was held.

More than 1,800 fans at the amateur boxing bouts here last night interrupted the program to stand for a moment in memory of the athlete whose brilliant career was cut short when he sustained a broken neck in grid practice 10 days ago. A collection for floral offerings was taken at the same time.

Local Pitt alumni met last night at the office of Dr. A. Denino, chairman of the local association, to arrange for representation at the funeral. The Notre Dame Booster Club, scholastic athletic associations and sandlot friends of the deceased are also making plans to attend the funeral in a body.

Coach Jock Sutherland, Don Harrison, director of athletics; Capt.-elect Eddie Baker and Joe Donchess, all-America end, and other Pitt officials are among the active and honorary pallbearers. Many of the Pitt varsity football players have also arranged to attend the funeral.

Bison Net Team Loses to Allegheny

BETHANY, W. Va., May 2.—Allegheny College racquet wielders nosed out a victory over Bethany College yesterday 5 to 3. After breaking even in six singles matches, the Methodists scored two victories out of three in the doubles to register their triumph.

The summary:

Singles—Coultre, Bethany, defeated Hedrick, Allegheny, 7-5, 4-6 and 6-2.

Dallas, Bethany, defeated Gordon, Allegheny, 6-8, 6-3 and 6-4.

Johnston, Allegheny, defeated Nelson, Bethany, 6-2, 7-5.

Anderson, Allegheny, defeated Brand, Bethany, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.

Barclay, Bethany, defeated Hughes, Allegheny, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Booth, Allegheny, defeated Darr, Bethany, 7-5, 4-6, 7-5.

Doubles—Coultre and Dallas, Bethany, defeated Hedrick and Johnston, Allegheny, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Gordon and Hughes, Allegheny, defeated Nelson and Barclay, Bethany, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Booth and Anderson, Allegheny, defeated Brand and Darr, Bethany, 6-4, 7-5.

Sport Vignettes

When the Cunard-Anchor liner, the Cameronia, sails out of New York Saturday of next week it will list among its passengers one Dr. John Bain Sutherland, better known in the world of athletics as Jock Sutherland, the Pitt football coach .... Jock will be headed for a visit to his old home town, Coupar Angus, Scotland, located some 50 to 60 miles from Glasgow .... There he will spend several weeks with his aged mother, two sisters and a number of nephews and nieces .... After that he will continue his tour into France, Italy and possibly Germany, and will arrive back in the United States on July 6 in time to take charge of a coaching school at Pitt .... This will be the Panther mentor's third visit home since he left there as a youngster, 26 years ago, unheralded and unsung, to become one of the outstanding football coaches in this country, in addition to holding down a professorship in dentistry at the University of Pittsburgh .... He first went back in 1913, just before he entered Pitt, and his next trip was in 1920, when he went across with the American Olympic track team .... He has been looking forward to his next trip for more than a year .... Jock's mother visited him here a few years ago, but she prefers to be back in her native Scotland, amid familiar scenes and surrounded by her young grandchildren .... In addition to his two sisters in Scotland, Jock has two brothers, one of whom resides here and the other one in the Eastern part of the state .... Eddie (Bow Tie) Kelly, the chap who holds up the cards designating the rounds at the local boxing shows, has got into the habit of making cutting remarks at the ringside .... The other night at Duquesne Garden he suggested that two principals be given hatchets and knives with which to continue their so-called battle ..... Manager Jewel Ens, of the Pirates, is quite a kidder when you get to know him .... One of his pet jokes is to crack, when a player makes a great play, "That's the way I used to make 'em in the old days!" .... He gets a great kick out of it because he wasn't a regular when he came up and he knows everybody knows it and furthermore he doesn't care, and whose business is it, anyway? .... Don't think he isn't a smart baseball manager .... Few great players become great managers; most successful managers come from the ranks of the hard-plugging, painstaking, practical-minded performers, and Jewel is a graduate of that school.—HARRY KECK.

Zeigler and Rogers To Coach Delaware

WILMINGTON, Del., May 2.—(AP.)—A. B. (Gus) Zeigler, former University of Pennsylvania line star, and Charles Rogers, Pennsylvania backfield ace a few seasons ago, were named football coaches of the University of Delaware last night.

Zeigler will act as head coach, while Rogers will have charge of the backfield.

JONES WINS

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—Billy Jones, Negro light-heavy, defeated Sammy Weiss in eight rounds last night.

SOCCER BODY SECRETARY RESIGNS

NEW YORK, May 2.—The resignation of Thomas W. Cahill as national secretary of the United States Football Association is on its way to President Armstrong Patterson in Detroit today. Cahill forwarded his resignation yesterday.

Internal troubles in the Association and poor administration of the affairs of the sport has been charged by Cahill, it is reported. Cahill is said to have made it emphatic in his letter to Patterson that he will not be a candidate for re-election at the annual meeting of the Association in Atlantic City this month.

Cahill, who was instrumental in founding the soccer association in 1913, has been actively interested in the sport for many years, and is known as "The Father of American Soccer Football." James Armstrong, secretary of the Atlantic Coast Soccer League, and Dick Sansom, Cahill's aid in recent years, are possible successors.

"PAL JACK:

"The other day in Chi, wile I was up at the plate in batting practice, a couple of the cubs wisecrackers was saying, 'Gee, Art, we wish Jewel would make a regular outfielder out of you . . . you sure got a nice swing.' I had just missed one of French's slow ones, but I think they ment it as praise because I do take a real cut at the ol' apple, you know. Maybe if I practice more with the stick they will let me play regular in the outfield. Of coarse, I'd have to catch flies a little better, too . . . but then, if the other pitchers are any good it would be there part not to let the batter knock it passed the infielders. It sure is nice for us pirates to come home on top of the league, isn't it? ART."

TECH MEETS GENEVA

COVENANTERS' WORTHY FOE FOR SKIBOS

As sort of an appetizing [illegible] for the fourteenth annual [illegible] scholastic track and field championship meet tomorrow Carnegie Tech's varsity track team [illegible] in a dual [illegible] with Geneva this afternoon [illegible] in the Tartan Bowl.

With [illegible] entries [illegible] the Ohio State Relays which [illegible] national college spotlight today and tomorrow Carnegie [illegible] full strength against the Covenanters.

GENEVA STRONG

Carnegie [illegible] meet of the campaign [illegible] Western Reserve at Cleveland last Saturday after having been defeated by the P. A. A. squad the week previous. Geneva, with a winning relay team and an individual winner and record holder at the Penn Relays and a fine showing against West Virginia Wednesday under its belt, is favored over the Skibo array today.

While the Genevans and Tartans are meeting on the track and in the field, Grove City's varsity net team will engage the Dukes on the Bluff rectangle, the match being the second of the week and season for the locals. Marshall and Marietta clash at Huntington, W. Va., in another collegiate net contest.

Two baseball games involving district nines are booked. Susquehanna and Penn State tie up at State College and Marshall meets West Virginia at Morgantown.

SCHOOL TEAMS ARRIVE

Meanwhile, finishing touches on the program for the annual Tech School meet tomorrow, one of the three biggest interscholastic events of the tri-state district, are being handled by the Tartan officials. High school squads too far removed from Pittsburgh to enable the boys to make the trip in a day, will begin arriving tonight. The majority will come in early tomorrow for the track trials and field qualifying events are due to get under way promptly at 11 o'clock.

Tomorrow's meet bids fair to be the best ever. The competition is certain to be as keen, if not really a bit keener than in former years. Individual duels in several events are promised.

STERN TO RUN

Folks who turn out for tomorrow's affair will see one of the best quarter-milers in high schools ranks in Stern, of Wells High, Steubenville, and a crack mile relay team from the same school. They'll also look at a hotsy totsy sprinter in Milligan, of Peabody, and in a high jumper capable of doing six feet and better in Spencer, of Fifth Avenue.

Harding High, of Aliquippa, with small chance of winning the high point trophy, has the favorite in the shot put ready for entry in the sturdy Markovich, winner of the Geneva Interscholastic heave a week ago.

OHIO RELAYS UNDER WAY

schools, Chicago, Illinois, Purdue and Ohio State, won the seven relay races last year but no repetition of that "grand slam" is expected. Missouri's undefeated one mile team, Marquette's medley and four-mile teams and Notre Dame's two-mile team, which won at Drake, are favorites in those events.

Illinois, however, with victories in the quarter mile relay at both the Kansas and Drake games will be favored to repeat its victory of last year here and perhaps break the world record of 41 seconds which it tied at Kansas.

The world's record of 14 feet in the pole vault, set by Sabin Carr of Yale two years ago, is in serious danger from Tommy Warne of Northwestern, who cleared 13 feet 11 inches at Drake and barely knocked the bar off with his arm after surmounting 14 feet 3 inches.

The 10-yard dash and sprint medley relay for Ohio colleges and several events for high schools will comprise today's program.

JOHNNY MANLEY

Montour Heights Country Club

Johnny Manley

Johnny Manley (tall lank) pro at the Montour Heights Country Club near Coraopolis, was born in old Allegheny, now the North Side, right next door to the former Brighton Country Club, which was one of the first clubs in Pittsburgh. When he was old enough he started to caddie, but before he could get very far as a golfer, the club broke up and moved its quarters to Sewickley and became the present Allegheny Country Club. Then the Bellevue Country Club was started and Johnny was among the first to caddie there. At 14 he went to work for the Chronicle-Telegraph, where he worked for four years. After that he hooked up with his brother, Tom Manley, pro at the East Liverpool, O., Country Club, as caddie-master for two years and then for three years as assistant and clubmaker. He then went with a local sports store, leaving there to become assistant pro and clubmaker for Jack Oke, then pro at the Highland Country Club. While he received a deal of knowledge from his brother, Johnny admits he learned much from Oke, whom he considers one of the best business pros in the game. Leaving Highland, he went to Montour Heights where he is now beginning his second season. His younger brother Jim is working with him as caddie-master.—VERN SWARTSFAGER.

I. K. S. FETE TONIGHT

The five Irene Kaufmann Settlement basketball teams will be honored tonight at the annual victory night celebration at the Settlement. The four teams that won court championships will be awarded trophies and medals. The speakers at the affair will be Sidney A. Teller, resident director; Sam Dreyfuss, vice president of the Pittsburgh baseball team; William Haddock, president of the A. A. [illegible]; Julius Levin, of the Sun-Telegraph; [illegible] and Paul John Dermody, of the [illegible] of Pittsburgh. [illegible] will present the awards.

Net Stars Reach State Semi-Finals

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(AP)—J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., was the first to enter the semi-final round in the men's division of the Pennsylvania state indoor tennis championships at the Arena yesterday.

Hall defeated Dean Snyder, Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-3, in the quarter-finals.

Fritz Mercur, Philadelphia, and H. Bowman, New York, advanced to the semi-finals last night. Mercur defeated Harold Colburn, Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-3, and Bowman eliminated Harold MacGuffin, Philadelphia, 7-5, 6-6.

Tilden Wins, Coen Loses in Milan

MILAN, Italy, May 2.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden defeated the Italian Davis Cup star Giorgio De Stefani, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3, in the Italian tennis championships yesterday but Wilbur Coen of Kansas City was eliminated by the veteran Frenchman, Jacques Brugnon, in a five set struggle, 3-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Other winners in the singles included Daniel Prenn, German champion, and Baron H. L. De Morpurgo, Italian ace.

In doubles Tilden and Coen eliminated De Martino and Sertorio, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

This $25.00 is an added prize. The $10.00, $5.00 and $2.50 prizes and 25 Baseball Tickets will also be awarded.

EXTRA SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT NO. 2

Monday's, Tuesday's and Wednesday's WINNERS WILL BE ANNOUNCED Tomorrow—Saturday

Thousands of answers to the Sun-Telegraph Piratepuz puzzles have been turned in. Thousands of readers are waiting for the verdict of the judges. Why keep them in suspense? If you sent in a solution of Piratepuz puzzles No. 1, 2 or 3, see tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph for the names of the lucky puzzle fans.

THE letters in this frame of squares represent the name of a player on the Pittsburgh Pirates' 1930 roster. It may or may not include an abbreviation or a nickname. What player's name can you make out of these letters?

Study the letters carefully. Place them in the order in which you think they should run, then submit your answer.

If you enter the contest you are to submit the COMPLETE NAME of the player represented by the letters in the square of each of the daily puzzles WITHOUT ABBREVIATION OR NICKNAME—other than possibly the middle initial, if there happens to be one. Loads of fun for young and old, and an opportunity to get cash vacation money or free baseball tickets for the Pirates' games. Let's go! Get started on the new "PIRATEPUZ" game today.

Here Are the Rules for "Piratepuz"

(1) Every day until further notice the daily Sun-Telegraph will print a frame, or diagram in squares, each containing the letters that will, when placed in order, spell the name of a Pittsburgh Pirate baseball player.

(2) In this frame it may be possible that abbreviations and nicknames will be employed. The readers of the Sun-Telegraph in solving the daily PIRATEPUZ are to endeavor to submit as their answer the full, complete and correct name of the player, devoid of nickname or abbreviation, other than that of the middle initial, if there happens to be one.

(3) This is a contest that will test the skill of the readers of the Sun-Telegraph as to their knowledge of the names of the players of the Pittsburgh club.

(4) There will be a new PIRATEPUZ every day and daily prizes for the correct and most nearly correct answers will be awarded as follows:

1st Prize .... $10.00 in Cash
2nd Prize .... 5.00 in Cash
3rd Prize .... 2.50 in Cash
Next 25 Prizes—Each a Grandstand General Admission ticket to the Pirates' game, good any day during the season.

(5) Neatness in the preparation of answers submitted will be a factor in the judging. In case of ties, the contestants so tied will be given an equal award. The decision of the judges will be final in all cases.

Contestants agree that entries become the property of the Sun-Telegraph. The contest is open to everyone—men and women, boys and girls—no matter where they live, with the exception of employees of the Sun-Telegraph. You do not have to purchase a copy of the Sun-Telegraph to enter this contest. The files of this newspaper are available at the Sun-Telegraph Branch Office, Fifth Avenue and Market Street, where any person can copy or trace the puzzle.

(6) All answers must be addressed to the PIRATEPUZ Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and must be postmarked not later than midnight of the day following the publication of the PIRATEPUZ for which the answer is submitted. Contestants are requested to place the number of the puzzle on the low outside left-hand corner of the envelope.

(7) Winners will be announced within one week after the publication of the PIRATEPUZ.

LYNN TO MANAGE CRACK WILMERDING TEAM

CLUB BOOKED TO OPEN RACE MONDAY

By TOM BIRKS

Lining up much stronger than last season, the Wilmerding entry in the West Penn League is going to cut quite a figure in the pennant race which starts Monday.

Jack Lynn, oldtime pitcher, will manage the club this season, with Charley Wageley taking care of the secretarial job. Lynn knows the sandlot racket and has built his team around the veteran Eddie Artmann.

To help carry the pitching burden, Lynn will have Joe Negri, who once flashed his stuff with Johnstown in the Middle Atlantic League; Louis Fontela, a Cuban, who has been starring on local soccer teams, and who three years ago was a member of the same club in Havana for which Adolph Luque pitched; Kren, of Pitcairn; Gessmen, of McKeesport, and Schenk, of last season's team.

TWO STAR CATCHERS

Back from Johnstown, Carl Kimmick and Fallowfield, the latter formerly of the International League, will share the catching duties. Kimmick is a slugger of note.

Botti, from Cumberland; Steel, from the Pitcairn R. R. club; Pate, who was scheduled to report to Waynesboro, and McCaig, of Pitcairn, will be available.

Fans in the Turtle Creek Valley will watch with interest the doings of the Airbrake nine, and a large crowd will make the trip to Whitaker for the opening game. Wilmerding will also play a big independent schedule. Charlie Wagley will do the booking for the club. He can be reached at Valley 343-R, or write C. Wagley, Wilmerding, Pa.

HOMESTEAD GAME OFF

Because the infield is in no condition for play, Manager Jack Fertig, of the Homestead Aces, has notified Honus Wagner that his West Penn loop opening game, scheduled for next Monday with Dormont, will have to be postponed.

The Munhall council, which controls the playing field, has done little to put the infield in playing condition. Many loads of dirt should be placed on the infield.

Bunts

Observatory Civics are looking for games abroad Friday and Saturday evenings. For games call C. C. Moeller at Fairfax 3071.

It appears that Baltic, the classy left hand pitcher from Stowe Civics, will also wear a Homewood suit. Manager Hans Daly is reported to be dickering with him.

The Pirates Club, of the Central League, will tangle with the N. S. Civics tomorrow afternoon at Washington Park. Jones is scheduled to work for the Pirates aggregation.

Pop Geer had to cancel the game with the Homestead Grays, scheduled for this evening. Stowe field is not ready for use as yet. The Civics will tangle with the [illegible] team of the Commercial and Industrial Circuit instead. The game will be called at 6:30 sharp.

D. J. Brodericks would like to book games abroad with teams in the 16-year-old class. For games call Grant 2748, and ask for Bill.

CEMENT NINE, VERONA WIN

The Verona Community and Universal Cement nines scored impressive triumphs in sandlot contests yesterday. Verona defeated the Etna Furniture team, 6 to 2, with Tom Gettings pitching fine ball, limiting the Etna hitters to five safe drives.

Universal downed the Lincoln Civics by a 5 to 1 count in five innings. Belin, hurling for Universal gave up four hits, and although his team got only six, they came at opportune moments. The box scores:

KREMER READY FOR BRAVES

high over the barrier. The earlier four-sacker made by the big recruit was a liner over the leftfield fence. Neun's round-tripper went into the rightfield stands.

Remy Kremer and Ben Cantwell will mix this afternoon in the second game of the series. The latter is a young righthander of promise. Kremer has won two games this season and has yet to be defeated, although he has been taken out for relief pitchers.

BUCS UNIMPRESSIVE

The Freebooters were anything but impressive in the early stages of yesterday's game. Ira Flagstead and Paul Waner combined a double and a single to make a quick run, but Bartell flivvered with the bases filled and one out. Dick went out on a little foul in this clinch. Engle also was retired, but the emergency third baseman has been driving in runs at a rapid clip.

Larry French and Harry Seibold tangled in the opener. The youthful Pirate lefthander looked like a champ for six rounds, but Berger and Neun teed off on him for homers in quick succession in the seventh round. The inning produced three runs. Berger's second homer gave the invaders a three-run lead in the eighth, but the Buccos came back with two tallies in their half, and they had runners on third and first when Earl Clark made a clever catch of Engle's short liner.

Glenn Spencer pitched the last two rounds for the Pirates. The young righthander got in the fray in time to be the victim of Berger's second homer.

HIGGINS LAUDS REAL HERO OF GREAT PLAY

By JESS CARVER.

A football player who should have had the hero's laurels of a now famous gridiron play draped about his brow 10 years ago, according to none other than the accepted hero of the play himself, has come into his own. Bob Higgins, new coach at Penn State, speaking before the Pittsburgh Club of the Penn State Alumni Association last night, told the true story of that justly famed forward pass for a touchdown play that started Penn State off to a 20-0 victory over Pitt Thanksgiving Day of 1919.

The play is so well known that it is needless to go into detail. Higgins, you'll recall, took a pass tossed by Bill Hess from behind the goal line and raced the length of the field for a score.

"It was a little shaver of a 125-pound end who raced down the field and blocked off Andy Hastings, Pitt halfback, that enabled me to get that touchdown. All I did was catch the pass and run. This kid, little Georgie Brown, was the guy who cleared the way. Up, Georgie, and take your bow!"

BROWN REAL HERO

That was Bob's story, and as he wound up with the exhortation to the long unsung hero, a blushing chap stumbled to his feet, and with cheeks the shade of a beet, acknowledged the acclaim of the 200 banqueteers. Georgie Brown, like a good alumnus, was present to honor the new State coach, and the new State coach turned the tables.

Last night's affair was very well attended, and all in all, was a rousing affair. Decked out in their boiled shirts, Coach Higgins; Assistant Coach Joe Bedenk, the handsomest in the game; Larry Conover, blonde associate coach, and Leo Houck, boxing mentor, were honor guests.

DEIKE TOASTMASTER

George H. Deike served in the capacity of toastmaster, and introduced E. K. Hibshman, executive secretary of the Alumni Council, along with Higgins, the principal speaker of the evening. Others who spoke included Judge H. Walton Mitchell, ex-Senator Weller, Dr. William H. Walker, noted chemical engineer and winner of the D. S. C. during the war and Dr. John Bain Sutherland, head coach of football at Pitt. A silent tribute was paid to Leo Murphy, Pitt back, who recently was fatally injured during spring practice.

William Fuhs was elected president of the Pittsburgh Chapter. Alex Chambers was selected for the vice presidency and Robert Cochrane made secretary.

The erudite Casey Jones, not the famous engineer, was general chairman of the affair. And what a chairman!

PERRY LOSES

BELLEVUE HIGH School's track and field team scored a decisive 57½-to-19½ victory over Perry High yesterday.

Long's Sport Comment

team is quite an unusual experience, even for a ball player who has been shifted around as often as Earl Webb.

But that's what has happened to Webb since the season opened. The Reds, after drafting him from Los Angeles, took him on the spring training trip, but sold him to Washington when the pennant fighting began without giving him a trial. The Senators also failed to use him, after claiming him by the waiver route, and a few days ago they traded him to the Red Sox for Outfielder Bill Barrett.

Earl Webb

SINCE HE WAS transferred to Boston Webb has been used regularly in right field, but whether he will hang on there for any length of time is another question. He has been picked up and dropped as often as Dewitt Lebourveau by big league clubs during the last few years and seems unable to get a foothold in the big show before he is given new marching orders. The Giants brought him up from Toledo first in 1925, introducing him as a pinch-hitter at Forbes Field, but let him go to Louisville after using him in only four games. The Cubs obtained him in 1927, thought so well of him that they refused to let him come to Pittsburgh in the Hazen Cuyler deal when Donie Bush asked that Webb, instead of Pete Scott, be thrown in with Sparky Adams, but a year later they railroaded him to Los Angeles, from which club the Reds drafted him last October. Now he is with his fifth big league club and his third in less than three weeks.*

Plebes, Shady Side Net Teams Tie

Shady Side Academy's tennis team battled to an even break with the Carnegie Tech Plebes on the Tech courts yesterday afternoon. Three singles victories gave the Academy team a tie. The summary:

Singles: Herman, Shadyside, defeated Wright, Tech, 6-4, 6-1; Amsberg, Shadyside, defeated Fingman, Tech, 5-7, 6-1, 6-2; Aaron, Shadyside, defeated Will, Tech, 6-4, 6-4; Groves, Tech, defeated Crawford, Shadyside, 6-4, 6-2.

Doubles: Groves and Fingman, Tech, defeated Amsberg and Herrmann, Shadyside, 7-5, 6-0; Wright and Dickson, Tech, defeated Crawford and Stillman, Shadyside, 6-2, 6-4.

2 NEW FAST TRAINS to Washington and Baltimore

For the greater convenience of Pittsburgh travelers, the Baltimore & Ohio inaugurated on April 27 two new fast trains to Washington and Baltimore. (All time shown is Standard Time.)

"The BLUE RIDGE LIMITED"
Lv. Pittsburgh . . . . . . 12.30 p. m.
Ar. Washington . . . . . . 7.50 p. m.
Ar. Baltimore (Camden Station) . . . 8.45 p. m.

This train makes the run from Pittsburgh to Washington in seven hours and twenty minutes, faster by more than an hour than any other railroad and over the shortest route by sixty-six miles.

"The BLUE RIDGE LIMITED" carries the latest type of equipment, including individual seat coaches, Colonial dining cars and parlor cars.

"The WILLIAM PENN"
All-Pullman
Lv. Pittsburgh . . . . . . 11.50 p. m.
Ar. Washington . . . . . . 7.15 a. m.
Ar. Baltimore (Camden Station) . . 8.40 a. m.

The equipment of "The WILLIAM PENN" includes standard Pullman sleepers and club car to Washington and Baltimore, also sleeper to Philadelphia, arriving 10.29 a. m. The club car (with newspapers and magazines) and sleepers are parked in Pittsburgh for occupancy at 9.00 p. m. Dining car serves breakfast from Washington to Philadelphia.

In addition to the convenient schedules and comfortable equipment of these fine trains, when you travel on the Baltimore & Ohio we try to make you feel at home—to render the extra courtesies and attentive service that will make your trip more enjoyable.

Try one of these new trains on your next trip to Washington or the East.

The Brownings.

The story of two lovers who disproved the accepted theory that men and women of genius should never marry each other, will be dramatized. Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett, famous in England's poesy, are the characters to be portrayed.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor,

UNDER THE GLARE of 40,000,000 candlepower the Des Moines and Wichita baseball teams will clash at Des Moines tonight in the first after-dark game. Starting at midnight Sen Kaney will describe the play for KDKA listeners.

The Andrew Jackson who fought duels, who defied the troops that had defeated Napoleon and who stepped into the presidency to whip his enemies into submission, will be portrayed in the Freedom Sketch on KDKA at 8. Frederick G. Rodgers is in general charge of the production.

"'S Wonderful," the musical success from "Funny Face," will be revived in a duet by Jessica Dragonette and Leo O'Rourke during Cities Service, WCAE at 8. Jessica will also sing "Mother" from "My Maryland."

Program department of KDKA, searching for material to use in Beckwith Caterpillar broadcast, Fridays at 6:45 p. m., learn novel facts. In far north caterpillars are called "Ik-nu-gu-nut-pol-ok-tuk." The Japanese call them "Motor Kia-Bang," which means motor centipede.

R. V., Mt. Lebanon—Columbia System has no "Chief Announcer." Regular announcers are Ted Husing, David Ross, Frank Knight, Don Ball, Franklin Scott, Hugh Walton, Ernest Naftzger, Mark Hawley and George Beuchler.

Well wishes to the staff of the Schenley Triangle who contemplate a "Radio Column" for theirreaders.

"TRY KDKA."

A letter addressed to the Sponsor of Sacred Songs, Pittsburg., Pa., was returned to the postoffice which immediately made the notation, "try KDKA." The letter was delivered to the Sponsor without delay.

RADIO REX says: The best practical test for tube sensitivity is to put one in the first socket and see what can be done on weak signals.

Sir Hubert Wilkins is to tell of his plans for exploring the Arctic by submarine, over WJAS and the Columbia System, at 3 today.

Two announcers on the WLW All-Night Party think they are really clever. And they are! In less than five hours they received 459 telegrams from 42 states and six Canadian provinces.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

KREUGER & TOLL

The Grangesberg Company, the Swedish iron mining unit which is rated as the largest producer of ore in Europe and in which the Kreuger & Toll Company holds a substantial interest, shipped 674,000 tons of ore in March. This compares with 449,000 tons in the like month of 1929, and represents an increase of about 50 per cent. For the first quarter of 1930 shipments totaled 2,028,000 tons, compared with 1,351,000 tons in the first quarter of 1929, an increase of 50 per cent. The record for this period was 2,083,000 tons in 1927.

EQUIPMENT ORDERS

According to the American Railway Association, new locomotives placed in service during the first three months of this year totaled 189, compared with 118 installed in service in the opening 1929 quarter. New freight car installations came to 24,739, against 8,544 last year. On April 1, 1930, the railroads had more locomotives on order than on any corresponding date since 1926, the number being 442. Freight cars on order totaled 37,117.

RCA RADIOTRON CO.

The RCA Radiotron Company, Inc., whose main plant and executive offices are located in Harrison, N. J., is the largest producer of vacuum tubes in the world. At present the company is making 22 different types of radio tubes. Last year was by far the best experienced by the radio industry and over 55,000,000 radio tubes were sold. Present indication is that a greater number will be disposed of in 1930.

ELECTRIC OUTPUT UP

The electric output of the North American Company's subsidiaries for the year ending March 31 approximated 6,810,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of about 8½ per cent over the output for the preceding year.

C. I. T. TO REDEEM NOTES

Commercial Investment Trust Corporation has paid off the $2,000,000 final maturity of its issue of $10,000,000 5 per cent serial notes issued in 1925, meeting the maturity out of current cash.

STARRETT PROFITS

Starrett Corporation reports for the year ended March 31, 1930, net income of $2,124,318 after charges and taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $3.51 a share on 380,000 common shares.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Sales Swamp Ticker

Local Market Steady

STOCK MARKET SWAMPED BY SELLING

Support Appears Early in Afternoon for Pivotal Issues and List Rallies

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—The stock market was swamped with another flood of selling today, paradoxical as such action may seem after a reduction in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate to as low a level as it has ever reached, and President Hoover's encouraging report of nationwide progress in industrial and financial readjustment since the autumn crash. Powerful support appeared for pivotal shares by early afternoon, however, and substantial rallies appeared.

Selling was in large volume during the morning, the ticker falling considerably in arrears. Wall Street is now inclined to the belief that important banking interests have been willing to see the recent speculative enthusiasm for stocks squelched by a good reaction, to prepare the bond market for an international reparations loan, but if this is true, a reaction too severe would defeat their purposes. Successful flotation of the reparations loan would hold promise of helping to revive world-wide trade conditions.

FAVORABLE AUGURY

While the lower rediscount rate is a favorable augury for business generally, so far as the long-range view is concerned, bankers point out that it is in a measure a reflection of the scant demand for commercial loans, which reflects slow business generally, and there is a feeling in some quarters that bidding up stocks on rediscount rate reductions, a traditional procedure in the past, amounts to putting the cart before the horse. If it was the purpose of the Federal Reserve to lower its rate at a time when it would not inspire a new orgy of speculation, it appears to have chosen a proper time.

Credit conditions immediately responded to the lower rediscount rate, call money getting down to 3 per cent for the first time in more than a month. Corporate news was varied. American Steel and Wire, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, cut prices of certain products $2 to $3 a ton, as had been forecast. U. S. Steel was under pressure for a time, breaking through yesterday's low level, but soon rallied. Fox Film directors declared the regular cash dividend, indicating the reorganization of the company's finances has progressed rapidly. The stock sold up substantially.

RAILS IMPROVE

The rail shares, yesterday's vulnerable group, gave a somewhat better account of themselves, a few issues rallying substantially, although others penetrated further into new low ground for the movement. High priced industrials, the more erratic specialties, and some of the utilities broke sharply for a time. J. I. Case sold up nearly 10 points, then reacted about 15.

Such shares as Eastman Kodak, Columbian Carbon, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric A, A. M. Byers, Electric Power and Light, American Power and Light, and International Harvester sold off from 4 to nearly 10 points before the afternoon rally set in. American Tobacco was an isolated buoyant feature, rising several points to new high record levels.

U.S. STEEL CUTS WIRE PRICES

CHICAGO, May 2.—The American Steel and Wire Company, subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, announced reductions of $2 to $3 a ton in prices of wire rods, wire nails and plain wire.

New prices are $36 a ton for wire rods, 2.15 cents per pound for wire nails and 2.30 cents per pound for plain wire f. o. b. Pittsburgh and Cleveland. At Chicago the base is $1 a ton above these figures, while prices at Worcester are $2 a ton higher than those quoted.

J. S. Keefe, president of American Steel and Wire Company stated the reduction was made to conform with trade paper quotations, which represent prices being generally made by other manufacturers.

Chicago Bank Rate Remains Unchanged

CHICAGO, May 2.—Following a meeting of directors of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, no announcement was made regarding the re-discount rate, which is 4 per cent.

DUBLIN, May 2.—The Bank of Ireland has reduced its discount rate to 4 per cent from 4½ per cent.

COPENHAGEN, May 2.—Danish National Bank has reduced its discount rate to 4 per cent from 4½ per cent.

Fox to Continue Cash Payments

NEW YORK, May 2.—President Clarke, of Fox Film Corporation, states the policy of the company will be to continue quarterly dividends of $1 on the class A and class B stocks in cash.

Directors will meet in a few days for dividend action and to redeem the scrip issued in payment of the January dividend.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 2.—Cotton opened barely steady at a decline of 4 to 9 points under further liquidation and scattered selling of new crop months, promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of further rain in the Southwest.

Covering by near months shorts caused bulges of a point or two right after the call, but the selling continued with July easing off to [illegible] or 14 points net lower, while the new October contract sold down to [illegible], making a net decline of 8 points by the end of the first half hour. Prices were within 3 or 4 points of these figures at the end of the first hour.

Cable advices received in the trade here from Liverpool reported local liquidation of near months in the market there and continental selling of distant months. They also reported further cloth buying for home consumption with moderate sales to South America.

Realizing or liquidation continued later in the morning, while there was some selling of the late months on a favorable view of the weather and present crop prospects. July was relatively easy, selling off to [illegible] or 20 points net lower, while new crop positions showed net declines of about 10 to 15 points with October declining to [illegible]. Offerings tapered off around these figures and the market at midday was comparatively quiet and steady at rallies of 5 or 10 points from the lowest.

LIVERPOOL, May 2.—Cotton: Spot dull; prices lower. American strict good middling, [illegible]; good middling, [illegible]; strict middling, [illegible]; middling, [illegible]; strict low middling, [illegible]; low middling, [illegible]; strict good ordinary, [illegible]; good ordinary, [illegible]. Sales 5,000 bales, including [illegible] American. Receipts 11,000, American [illegible]. Futures closed barely steady: May, [illegible]; July, [illegible]; October, [illegible]; December, [illegible]; January, [illegible]; March, [illegible]; May, [illegible].

LONE STAR GAS CONTINUES RALLY

Further Improvement in Fuel Leader; Shamrock Oil Loses More Ground

Lone Star Gas made further moderate progress on its recovery in the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Rallying tendencies in the issue yesterday were followed today by an initial advance to around 52¼, up two points from the low at the start of the week.

There was no news to account for the improvement other than that selling induced by the recent unsettlement in all markets had been cleaned up and supplies of trading stock were being diminished. Shamrock Oil which enjoyed a spurt in the early trading yesterday, and subsequently lost most of the gain, sold back a point on the opening and this loss was extended in later transactions.

The general last was narrow and trading was quiet. Armstrong Cork, Screw and Bolt, Forgings and other industrials were handled at figures showing little, if any, change from the prices prevailing at the finish last night. Pittsburgh Plate Glass shipped back in the face of small offerings, while Leonard Oil offerings found takers scarce and dropped below $4 on a few sales.

FORD MOTOR PRODUCTION

DETROIT, May 2.—The Ford Motor Company states that the correct figure for world production of assembled units for the first quarter of this year for the company, was 399,321 units. This compares with 439,956 in similar 1929 period.

The 399,321 figure for quarter just past, does not include units produced in knock-down form. Although no actual check is available on this end of the company's production, it is stated that these would run somewhere between 50,000 and 100,000 units for the period. The current rate of production at Ford plants is around 9,200 units daily.

South Penn Oil Co. Advances Corning

South Penn Oil Company advanced the price of Corning grade crude oil in Buckeye pipe line 10 cents to $1.75 a barrel.

Major pipe line companies in the Pennsylvania fields have reported an increase in stocks of Pennsylvania crude since last November, according to the Oil City Derrick, with the amount of that grade oil in storage and on hand having increased from 3,270,041 barrels in November to 3,896,655 barrels at the end of March. The April report is expected to show a still further increase.

Curtailment Aids Textile Industry

The textile world reports that the 50 per cent curtailment, indicated by reports from a high percentage of the print cloth and sheeting producers, materially strengthened the gray goods market in the past week. Sales in some centers showed improvement, but as a rule buyers tended to withhold orders until convinced the mills were sincere. Carded broadcloths were active, which cleared up the stock situation to some extent.

Wabash Application Dismissed by I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The Wabash Railroad consolidation application was formally dismissed by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The action was taken on request by the carrier that the application be withdrawn following an order by the commission requiring it to show cause within 30 days why the petition should not be dismissed as it did not conform with commission's consolidation plan.

Delegates of the Netherlands-American Chamber of Commerce were touring Pittsburgh today in a stop-over before attending the International Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington. Twenty delegates compose the party that made a tour of the steel mills and industrial sections of the city today.

Portugal Seeking Loan of $12,000,000

LISBON, Portugal, May 2.—The government has opened negotiations with the Swedish American Match Company for a loan of $12,000,000. The announced object of the loan is the stabilization of the escudo. In return, in addition to the current rate of interest, the match company will receive a partial monopoly.

Raise Big Fund to Rejuvenate Philadelphia

By B. C. FORBES

PHILADELPHIA is launching a $1,000,000 campaign to shake off the shackles of tradition and develop a population of 3,500,000 by 1940.

A visit to the city this week discovered a new spirit of aggressiveness, ambition, forward-looking confidence animating her citizens.

Philadelphia is determined not to be classified among smugly satisfied cities content to let well enough alone—and to let other places pass them by.

LIKE FAMILIES, cities having a glorious past are sometimes disposed to rest on their laurels and to find more pride in contemplating the past than in energetically planning and working for a still greater future. Philadelphia, of course, has had an enviable past.

It was the first capital of the United States. The first Continental Congress met there. The Declaration of Independence was signed there. It had the first United States mint, the first navy yard, the first medical school and hospital, the first art school, the first astronomical observatory. It made the first American flag. It printed the first American book, magazine, newspaper. It held the first international exhibition in America—the Centennial. It made the first steam automobile. The first insurance companies, banks and savings funds were established there. Even the first motion picture was shown there.

NOW, HOWEVER, the Philadelphia Business Progress Association is raising $1,350,000 to enrich Philadelphia's future, to make it a better place in which to work, to play, to live. That veteran Philadelphian, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, the youngest 80-year-old in America, is enthusiastically behind the movement, as are such other dynamic citizens as Ernest T. Trigg, chairman; Edward G. Budd, William H. Taylor, Elisha Lee, Alba B. Johnson, Dr. Herbert J. Tily, Albert M. Greenfield, J. S. W. Holten, Edward P. Simon, George W. B. Hicks, W. Hancock Payne.

Mr. Payne explains that the association, in addition to arousing enthusiasm at home in the city's increasing opportunities and emphasizing the need for the fullest co-operation among all factions so as to "excell rather than merely survive," aspires to:

Sell more goods for individual Philadelphia manufacturers and retailers.

Bring new factories to the city.

Develop the port through new shipping from all points of the compass.

Contribute to the business of their three great railroads—the Pennsylvania, Reading and Baltimore & Ohio.

Increase the call for more electric current, more gas, more transportation by trolley, bus and taxi.

Increase the demand for more telephones and other things indicative of a community's prosperity.

Bring a still greater share of the nation's buying dollars to the textile, leather, shoe, iron, coal and all other local industries.

Aid city planning and hasten action on many projects.

Improve retail business and increase sales through bringing new population to the metropolitan area.

Bring out Philadelphia's exact rank in industry with relation to other cities.

Show where Philadelphia stands as a manufacturing center of electrical goods, appliances, machinery; as leading leather producing and manufacturing center, as a leader in the manufacture of men's and women's clothing, in the manufacture of shoes, carpets and rugs, textiles, hosiery, hats, hardware, saws, ships, gloves, automobiles, use of gas and electrical current, value of real estate, etc.

THE OTHER DAY the city concluded arrangements to acquire from the government Hog Island, the greatest of all wartime shipping centers, for the purpose of developing the most elaborate airport facilities in the country—another illustration of the city's rejuvenation, its foresight, its determination to make economic history.

ONE THING that has always appealed to me when visiting Philadelphia is the extraordinarily large number of workers and other folks in moderate circumstances who live in individual homes. Philadelphians don't like to be crowded together like sardines. Hence it is an attractive city in which to raise new generations of American citizens.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, with purest senna and laxative herbs, is effective in a gentle and helpful way. Its action is thorough, but it never weakens the bowels. It stimulates their muscular action and is thus actually good for the system. Remember Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin when coated tongue, fetid breath, headaches, nausea, jaded appetite or biliousness tells the need of a thorough cleansing. Druggists keep it in big bottles, or write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., for a free trial bottle.

TRADE LEADERS GET DOWN TO BRASS TACKS

Genuine Controversy and Candor of Expression Mark Commerce Meeting

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The eighteenth annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which closed here last night with an address by President Hoover, was marked by an unusually serious attempt to get down to brass tacks.

Instead of the traditional routine and perfunctory meetings there were a variety of sessions marked by genuine controversy and candor of expression. Moreover, for the second year, the chamber broke up into groups where concrete topics were informally discussed by specialists.

NOT OVER-OPTIMISTIC

In the corridors, the delegates, talking privately, were not over-optimistic about the immediate trend in business. Evidently the reaction in the stock market has generated a momentary revival of the spirit of caution.

Willard Kiplinger, able commentator on the low down in Washington, told me that clients frequently write him to ask how much of the economic opinion given out in press releases by the administration is hooey. Incidentally, Secretary Mellon has a reputation among the sophisticated for speaking privately very candidly on business prospects. Secretary Lamont, of the Department of Commerce, is gradually enhancing his prestige in Washington and now feels at home in his political job after 40 years in business.

WOULD SAVE BUILDER

Mr. Lamont is very much interested in working out more scientific methods for financing the building of individual homes, being eager to save the home owner from the second mortgage racket, which in the past has made him pay through the nose. Perhaps the solution lies in the application of the installment plan to home ownership along the lines of the Johns Mansville experiments with roofing.

Getting down to the outstanding human problem in business, Howard Cooley, president of the Walworth Company, Boston, told the delegates that executives can stabilize employment by long term planning of business operations. Referring to the system used by his company, Mr. Cooley pointed out:

"It is a fact that during the last four years we have never missed our estimates of sales for a year in advance by more than 5 per cent. Naturally our quarterly estimates have been less accurate; but when the movement during a quarter has failed to meet the figures which we have set, inevitably within the period of the following two quarters this discrepancy has been adjusted. Of course, the result of our operations and employment have been beneficial. We have found in each one of our factories a very definite percentage trend of efficiency. In the two plants which we have operated since 1920 there has been an average increase in efficiency of 67½ per cent. In other words, the output per man is 167½ of the 1920 figure. In the plants more recently acquired, the year to year increase has been almost identical. I believe that the reason is largely due to the balancing of the load on the plants, the steadier jobs to our employes, and the increased opportunity for careful planning of operating details.

RESPONSIBILITY GREAT

"Certainly the responsibility of the executive of today is great. To his employes he owes steady, remunerative and congenial work; to his stockholders, consistent and reasonable profits; to the public, good service, better quality and decreasing costs. To discharge this responsibility is surely a master task."

Felix M. McWhirter, president, the People's State Bank of Indianapolis, in diagnosing the nation's tax muddle, said:

"I am inclined to believe that our taxation muddle is a combination of many tax muddles, the muddle produced by taxes being too high, reflecting an imprudent level of public expenditures; the muddle of taxes being inequitable, reflecting unfair distribution among various taxpayers; the muddle of taxes being too numerous, reflecting the lack of a constant policy in revenue matters; and the muddle of taxes being too complicated, reflecting an annoying lack of consideration for the taxpayer in his determination, let alone payment, of his taxes. Eminent tax thinkers insist that our present condition has all of these elements—taxes that are inequitable, too high, too numerous and too complicated—and I am inclined to agree with all of them."

FURTHER GAIN IN BROKERS' LOANS

Upturn of $57,000,000 for Week Surprise to Street; New '30 High Established

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting federal reserve member banks in New York city increased $57,000,000 the week ended April 30 to $4,274,000,000. This is a new high for 1930 and compares with $4,217,000,000 in the preceding week and with the high record of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929.

The low for 1930 was $3,341,000,000 on January 22, while the low record was $2,408,596,000 on May 19, 1926.

STREET SURPRISED

The increase last week came as a distinct surprise to the financial community as there had been free prediction that the heavy selling and wide stock declines during the period would bring about a sharp reduction in the loan total.

Member bank borrowings from the New York Federal Reserve Bank on April 30, 1930, totaled $12,000,000 against $10,000,000 the preceding week and $157,000,000 a year ago.

HUMBLE RAISES GAS OUTPUT

HOUSTON, May 1.—In order to bring its supplies of crude oil more in line with consumption demand, Humble Oil and Refining Company has put into effect a modification of its curtailment.

Following the suggestion of the federal oil conservation board made March 4, the company reduced its operations one-seventh not only at refineries but also at its drilling, producing and transportation departments. It states, however, that other companies have not generally adopted curtailment in other departments than refining and that it now finds a modification of its curtailment necessary. The company declares, however, that it will not let its stock of gasoline exceed stocks on hand the same date a year ago.

W. S. Farish, president of Humble, states that the gasoline situation has been improved by curtailment of refinery operations, which had for its purpose the preventing of further accumulation of stocks of gasoline. Operations of Humble, he says, have been in balance for many months.

BIG REDUCTION IN U. S. DEBT

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS)—The public debt at the end of April amounted to $16,393,734,000, a reduction of $802,000,000 during the year and a drop of more than $10,000,000,000 since August 31, 1919, when the debt was at its peak, the Treasury Department announced today.

On June 15 the Treasury must meet the maturing issue of government certificates totaling $549,707,500, which includes a block of 4⅞ per cent certificates, the last of the high interest rate issues. During the remainder of the year other securities amounting to $1,384,680,000 must be paid by the Treasury.

Montgomery Ward Sales for April Gain Over 1929 Month.

Montgomery Ward sales for April make a much better showing than those of Sears, Roebuck for the four weeks covering the period of Easter business. Montgomery Ward reported total sales of $23,776,430, which was an increase of 10.21 per cent compared with the April figures of a year ago. This increase was reflected in the figures for the four months which, totaling $81,125,499, stood two-tenths of 1 per cent above the total for the corresponding period in 1929.

Persistent weakness in Southern Railway, which sold down close to par, the lowest reached since 1925, brought a good deal of unsettlement in the rails as a group yesterday. Southern was off 3 points on top of a 4-point decline Wednesday, and showed a drop of some 36 points from the high of the year. Weakness gave rise to reports that a reduction in the present $8 dividend is likely when the next payment is declared. Leading rails, including New York Central, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Rock Island, Atlantic Coast Line and Atchison, were off 2 to more than 5 points, with Atchison at approximately the year's lowest levels.

Operations of Foster Wheeler Corporation in the current year have been on a record basis, and substantial gains have been noted in orders booked, sales billed and net income compared with the like period of 1929. Unfilled orders currently exceed $10,000,000, a new high, and an increase of about 75 per cent over a year ago. With earnings of more than $6 a common share last year and good outlook for current year, it is reasonable to assume that additional consideration may be given to common stockholders in the not distant future.

Air Reduction has been one of the best acting stocks on the board during the recent market unsettlement, and from its buoyant performance of Wednesday, indications point to a new high record for the year being established in the near future. Practically every investment trust of importance has a block of this company's stock in its portfolio holdings, and in view of its small capitalization the floating supply for market purposes is limited. First quarter earnings show an increase of more than 23 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, with net per share equal to $1.94, as against $1.67 in 1929.

The resting spell in the amusement group has apparently run its course, and it is very likely that constructive forces in the market will again center a good deal of their attention upon these issues. Paramount is looked upon as one of the more favorably situated stocks in this list. The company has made notable progress, with the net earnings per share in 1929 of $6.34, representing a gain of 78 per cent over results of the preceding year. For the first quarter of this year earnings were up sharply, with per share earnings of $1.79 contrasting with $1.16 in the like period of a year ago. The annual dividend was recently increased to a $4 basis.

Close students of the market are pointing out the possibilities of Kimberly-Clark on the big board list. The company is the leading producer of rotogravure paper, supplying about 90 per cent of the total requirements of the country. For the first quarter of this year it reported a 20 per cent gain in net income over last year, equal to $1.39 per common share. Net earnings for the full year 1929 were equal to $6.55 per common share, and the outlook indicates results in excess of $7 per share in 1930. Its current market valuation at approximately eight times indicated earnings, places it in an attractive buying zone.

Standard Plate Glass In Receivership

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVERS for the Standard Plate Glass Company yesterday marked the failure of plans for keeping the company in operation and paying off the funded debt by the sale of warehouses and other properties not necessary for the production of glass.

Officials have several times stated that, on the basis of appraisals after making allowances for shrinkage in value, sufficient cash can be realized from the sale of properties to meet the $750,000 of notes remaining unpaid and other debts of the company which are small.

The plant has not been operated for the past 10 days. No attempt will be made to keep the organization in operation as a going concern during the receivership. S. B. Congdon, chairman of the noteholders' protective committee, director of the company and vice president of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., stated yesterday that no plans had as yet been made which might lead to the reorganization of the company after the liquidation of properties to meet debts.

Notes Extended

THE COMPANY OPERATED at a loss for the greater part of the time following drastic price cuts in glass in 1925. It fell into financial difficulties when it was unable to arrange for the refunding of $3,000,000 of 6 per cent notes which matured on March 1, 1930.

Sufficient cash was found available to meet 75 per cent of the amount of notes. Deposit of enough of the notes was secured to put a plan into effect for the extension of the payment of 25 per cent of the notes for a period of six months. It was hoped by that time enough money could be realized from the sale of properties to pay the balance of the notes and to leave the company ample working capital.

Receivership Friendly

THE RECEIVERSHIP ACTION, which was brought by the Keystone Traffic Bureau, was a friendly suit to protect the interests of creditors, noteholders and stockholders. Judge James R. Macfarlane in the Common Pleas Court named as temporary receivers Frank E. Troutman, president of the company, John R. Eckler, secretary, and D. Gregg McKee, vice president of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company. A hearing will be held on May 19 at which time the appointment of permanent receivers is expected.

The company's plants are appraised at $4,400,000 and it has been estimated that there will be an equity of $2,500,000 to pay the balance of the notes due. The extent to which realization will come up to this figure will depend largely on whether the glass plant at Butler can be sold or again operated on a commercial basis. If this cannot be done its value would be reduced to the worth of the real estate and the resale value of the equipment. In addition to the Butler plant the company owns an abandoned plant at Springdale and a warehouse at Cambridge, Mass.

Junior Securities

DUE TO UNCERTAINTY regarding the amounts to be realized from the sale of properties it is difficult to determine the standing of the junior securities. The company has $1,858,000 of 7 per cent prior preference stock, $5,003,400 of 7 per cent preferred stock and 191,970 shares of common stock outstanding.

Unpaid cumulative dividends on the prior preference amount to 14 per cent and on the preferred to 26¼ per cent.

APRIL TONNAGE SHOWS GAIN

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 2.—The month of April was the busiest in many months for the Monongahela Railway Company, in both coal and coke shipments, official figures showed. Coal shipments aggregated 1,638,420 tons, or 103,260 tons higher than loadings in March, and coke handled totaled 153,060 tons, an increase of 112,960 tons over March.

The railroad coal shipments were 492,330 tons larger than river cargoes passing through Lock No. 5 for down-river destinations.

CITY OF PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the City Controller of the City of Pittsburgh until the 14th day of May, 1930, at 10:00 a. m., eastern standard time, for the purchase of the following issues of bonds of said city:

$501,000.00 Airport Bonds, 1929.

$2,850,000.00 Funding Bonds, 1930.

$2,100,000.00 Street Bond, 1930, Series "B."

Said bonds will be dated September 1st, 1929; March 1st, 1930 and April 1st, 1930, respectively, and each issue thereof will mature in thirty (30) equal annual installments, respectively, on September 1st, March 1st and April 1st, of each year. Said bonds will bear interest at the rate of four and one quarter per centum (4¼%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of March and September, April and October, in each year, without deduction for any taxes which may be levied thereon by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pursuant to any present or future law.

Said $501,000.00 Airport Bonds, 1929, are issued to provide funds for the city's share of the cost of the improvement of a joint City-County Airdrome and Aviation Field; $2,850,000.00 Funding Bonds, 1930, to pay contractors' claims and damages awarded, arising from the opening, widening and improvement of streets and the construction of sewers, are issued by Councilmanic authority; $2,100,000.00 Street Bonds, 1930, Series "B," are the remaining unsold portion of $4,200,000.00 Street Bonds authorized by the Electors at a special election held April 24th, 1928, for the purpose of paying the city's share of the cost of opening and improving new streets.

Said bonds will be coupon bonds of the denomination of One Thousand ($1,000) dollars, Five Hundred ($500) dollars and One Hundred ($100) dollars, exchangeable at the option of the holder at any time for a registered bond or bonds of the same maturity and of the denomination of One Hundred ($100) dollars or a multiple thereof not exceeding the aggregate principal amount of the coupon bond or bonds surrendered in exchange therefor.

Unless all bids are rejected the said bonds will be sold to the highest responsible bidder complying with the terms of sale. No bid for such bonds at less than par and accrued interest from the date of said bonds to the date of delivery will be accepted. The right is reserved to reject all bids and any bid not complying with the provisions hereof will be rejected. Any bidder may condition his bid upon the award to him of all or none of the bonds for which he bids.

All bidders are required to deposit a certified check drawn to the order of the City of Pittsburgh, on a National Bank or Trust Company for two per centum (2%) of the principal amount of bonds bid for. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be allowed upon the amount of the check of the successful bidder and such check will be retained and applied in part payment for the bonds or to secure the city against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid.

The City of Pittsburgh reserves the right to deliver to the successful bidder temporary typewritten or printed bonds, in the form of one temporary bond for each issue or one bond for each maturity of each issue, which shall be substantially in the same form as the definitive bonds, with such appropriate omissions, insertions and variations as may be required. Until their exchange for definitive coupon bonds, the temporary bonds shall be in full force and effect according to their terms, and shall bear interest from March 1st and April 1st, respectively.

Proposals should be addressed to Daniel Winters, City Controller, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and enclosed in a sealed envelope, marked on the outside, "Proposal for Bonds." Bids must be made upon blank forms which may be obtained from the City Controller.

The successful bidder will be furnished with the opinion of Messrs. Reed, Smith, Shaw and McClay, of Pittsburgh, that the bonds are binding and legal obligations of the City of Pittsburgh.

DANIEL WINTERS,
City Controller.

Dated, Pittsburgh, Pa., April 24, 1930.

Daily True Story

'A Pick-Up'

"WHY IS IT," grumbled Mortimer Higgins to his wife, "that girls always take to artists?"

"I suppose they think there is something romantic about them, Mortimer, why do you ask?"

"Edna," he said, looking significantly at his wife.

"Edna?" She seemed disturbed all at once.

He nodded.

"Is it serious?"

"We don't want it to be, do we? That painter chap who has the funny cottage out there on the point, built like the pilothouse of a ship, was painting Edna."

"And you're afraid she'll fall in love with him?"

"Aren't you? They were doing more holding hands than anything else!"

"Goodness!" Mrs. Higgins seemed almost frightened. "Last night she was at the hop and she danced a lot with him."

"I'll keep my eyes open," Higgins promised.

There was no reason, in a way, for Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Higgins to worry. Mrs. Higgins was the stepmother, or had been, of Edna Merrill. When Mr. Merrill died his affairs seemed to be hopeless. His life insurance went to Edna, but it wasn't so very much. So Edna's stepmother married Mortimer Higgins, a local real estate man who wasn't wealthy, nor was he poor, and Mrs. Merrill didn't see any better opportunity.

The things happened in a few years.

To do Mrs. Higgins credit, she had been good to Edna and taken care of her after her father died, although she did it on the insurance money left to the 16-year-old girl.

But when Edna was nearly 19, things happened. Nice things for Edna. Her father's seemingly involved estate blossomed forth into a mass of gilt-edged securities. The lawyers who had tried to straighten out the estate found suddenly that little Edna Merrill was something very like an heiress to a couple millions.

Clever Guardians

Edna, at the advice of Mortimer Higgins, bought the old Folsom estate and fixed it up. Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Higgins moved in and lived the life of Reilly.

Edna was not unmindful of her stepmother's kindness to her and was glad to do what she could.

However, Edna was very pretty now, unusually so. She was going on 20 and a great many young men were after her.

Mrs. Higgins explained all about fortune hunters to Edna.

More than that, she traveled about a great deal, not only because they enjoyed it, but it prevented Edna from meeting young men for any great length of time.

They wanted to prevent Edna from getting married for as long as possible. When Edna married they would lose their great home and all the luxuries and have to go back to the little Higgins cottage, while Mortimer picked up his real estate business again.

Naturally when Edna seemed to become unusually interested in any young man, they used to go to some other place.

Finally Edna objected a little.

Mrs. Higgins then had a new scheme. She would be taken suddenly ill, and a doctor would tell her to go South, if she were North, or to go North if she were South, and they'd jump on and get Edna away from the young man who might lead her to the altar.

Hence when Higgins noted that Edna and this artist chap, Hugh Adams, seemed to be very much interested in each other, he told his wife about it.

If it went on much more Mrs. Higgins would have a sudden "attack" and have to go to some other place. As they were on Cape Cod right then, Mrs. Higgins would probably select Thousand Islands or some such distant place.

Even while Higgins was telling his wife of his suspicious, Edna was posing for Adams.

"This is going to be a wow of a picture, Edna," he said.

"It's wonderful to be able to do that, Hugh—wonderful!"

"It's more wonderful to be a beautiful girl like yourself, so beautiful that no artist could do justice to you, my dear girl."

Sketch Completed

"Pass over that box of fudge, Hugh, I prefer it to applesauce!"

"But I mean it—I'm wild about you, dear!"

"You're a nice boy—the nicest boy I know, Hugh," Edna confessed.

The little sketch was done two days later. Mortimer Higgins saw Edna sitting on the queer little porch of Hugh Adams' queer little cottage. Edna was having tea and cakes and called him over. He had already met Adams.

"Isn't that a gorgeous picture of me?" Edna cried.

Higgins squinted at it.

"Pretty good," he admitted. He knew better than to oppose them right away.

"Isn't it wonderful that Hugh can paint like that?"

"Not a bad trade—lots of competition, though."

"There are more real estate dealers than artists," Edna said, spiritedly.

That was what Higgins wanted to know, that she thought enough of him to defend him.

Hugh laughed.

"Some real estate men are great artists at their game," he said as he turned to Edna with a plate of cakes.

"Have another, dear," he said.

That word "dear" falling so naturally from Adams' lips frightened Higgins.

When he got back to the hotel he told his wife.

"She's falling in love with that good looking artist chap, sure as shooting," he said and went into details.

"If only Edna would decide to be an old maid, how nice it would be for us," said his wife, sighing.

"A pretty girl like her? Not a chance, but I'd like to stave it off for a year or so, anyway, and invest more of the expense money."

They understood that. They saved from the expense money and invested it here and there against such time as Edna would marry.

When Edna got back that afternoon Mrs. Higgins was in bed and a doctor was coming.

Discontented

Mr. and Mrs. Higgins had talked and planned very thoroughly. If this artist chap had got to the point where Edna raved over him and he called her "dear" they had better get her away before she could have a "sad sweet parting" and exchange promises of writing.

And so Edna was frightened to hear that they must go at once to where it was mountainous, or else her stepmother would be in dire danger of a relapse from which she couldn't recover. Edna went along in the sleeper and they arrived at a town high up in Vermont, near Willoughby Lake.

Mrs. Higgins got better remarkably quick.

For weeks she moped about. None of the young men up there interested her, she didn't like the cold water for swimming and she didn't care for canoeing and she was somewhat afraid of saddle horses.

"Get yourself a nice little roadster, dear," her stepmother advised her. "Don't bother to send home for the big car."

Edna wasn't interested much. But the sporty little yellow and chocolate-colored roadster was delivered and Edna went driving.

Berries were ripe. Edna loved to pick berries. They were living in a lake cottage with one servant and Edna liked to bring the berries home. She drove up the Bluff Mountain highway one day and parked her car, to go up the trail after high-bush blueberries.

She went a long distance along the ridge, perhaps a mile from where she parked the car.

Before she had picked a pint of the berries she saw a young man come down through the old woodshed. He stopped and examined her car. He looked all around as if wondering where the owner was. Then he climbed in.

Edna hated to have anything put over on her. She had a hunch right then and, dropping the pail, she scampered down the narrow path to the road below.

The automobile thief had headed that way and she could head him off.

Plan Works

But what good would that do? He would only laugh and step on the gas. She would have to get out of the way or be run over.

But there was another way. She could stand there and smile at him and wave and perhaps he would pick her up. Then at the next farm house or village she could scream and make a scene and get the nervy crook arrested.

So Edna stood there in the road, and the car came into view going slowly around the hairpin curve through necessity.

Edna smiled and waved at him.

"Hop in, Miss," he said, slowing up.

"Oh, thank you, I walked too far and got lost," she told him, wondering why such a nice boy, no more than sixteen, would steal cars.

"Only take you to the next house, Dr. Thurber's—his telephone is out of order and my brother has broken his leg," the boy said.

Edna didn't believe it. But the next house bore the sign of Dr. Thurber. However, Edna said sharply, "I warn you, doctor, it's some trick—this is a stolen car—my car—"

"Tut—tut—this boy's no thief—might have borrowed it in emergency—step on it, Willy, is his leg bust bad?"

"Only the small bone above the ankle—"

The car was turned on two wheels and shot back, then through a cross road and out to a handsome big farm beside a pretty pond.

On the way the boy explained about stealing the car.

"You wait and take me home, young lady. I'm too old to walk," the doctor said. "Your car ain't hurt none and my son has gone in my car to get men to fix my telephone because—"

He rushed in without finishing. The boy came right down and said, "My brother saw you from the window. He knows you, he wants you."

Edna was frightened and shook her head.

"He's Hugh Adams and he—"

"Oh," cried Edna, and she went up to see Hugh.

This was Hugh's home.

"What a wonderful pick-up that turned out to be," Edna said.

And as soon as Hugh could throw away his crutches Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Higgins were surprised to learn that Edna had become Mrs. Hugh Adams.

A rubber lifeboat has been designed for passenger steamers. It ought to be all right—if it will stretch enough to hold all the passengers that usually want to get into the first boat.

THORNS AND ROSES

Filipino Author Spins Web Of Superb Love Interest

Synopsis—A Didertolo's swift moving romance yesterday left Albert on the bridge as he noted the flutter of a handkerchief in the hand of a poised beauty at the edge of the stream.

CHAPTER III

If Albert speak truth he cannot deny feeling of love as he view beautiful form on bank of stream and so he turn aside to look again into brightness of face. Albert decide not to resist his large blue eyes peering in here, so he wade across stream and climb hillock, crying "Heloo! There!"

She bowed with courtesy very polite and toss him red rose which he catch saying "I am Miss Happiness of nearby village which everybody say" and her voice make musical accent which to him was like sweet siren on lonely isle.

For moment all was silent while each look at other until Albert say, "Let us take walk and pick flower and shell in brook."

Juries, If Good, Better For People, Judge Says

Despite its failures, such as that in the Forney case, the jury system is the best safeguard of justice, according to Judge Frank P. Patterson, whose sentiments on the subject were expressed in an address by him at a dinner. He holds it is better that trials be decided by 12 fair minded jurors than a judge "who might be unwittingly swayed by the legal tenets involved."

Of course, Judge Patterson is right. Trial by jury is one of the "bulwarks of liberty." Trial by judge is associated historically with tyranny. It would be ideal were the judge extremely upright, extremely wise and extremely human. On the other hand, juries, especially in Allegheny County, fall short of these ideal qualifications, too. Yet, bad as some juries have been, it is certain that the jury system is the strong arm of justice despite its failures.

However, it needs some correction, in the opinion of Judge Patterson, who suggests that a verdict on a less than unanimous vote of the jury in unimportant misdemeanor cases might be one remedy.

The best remedy will be the adoption of some plan to get sensible persons of intelligence on juries and to keep the morons off.

Prison Relief Bills Should Be Passed Without Delay

Instead of being an example to the several states in the treatment of prisoners the federal government is today a warning.

While 320 inmates of the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus were burning to death, locked in their cells by their brutal and cowardly keepers, the federal government held in its penitentiaries 11,985 men and women, crowded into cells whose normal capacity is only 6,945.

No wonder President Hoover announces from the White House that the over-crowding in federal penitentiaries today has created "A DESPERATE CONDITION."

No wonder Attorney General Mitchell publicly admits that the prison officials of the Department of Justice are "frantic."

The House of Representatives showed its realization of the seriousness of this situation when it passed some time ago seven bills for the relief of congestion and idleness and other ills in federal penitentiaries.

The Senate Committee on the Judiciary showed its realization of the seriousness of this situation when it instructed Senator Norris, of Nebraska, to report these House bills to the Senate with a recommendation that they pass.

Now the President and the attorney general reinforce the example of the House and the recommendation of the Senate committee with a public appeal to the Senate to put these bills on their passage in time for the Congress to make the necessary appropriation to carry out the prison relief program for which these bills provide.

There is no doubt about the urgency of this legislation. There was no division in the Judiciary Committee of the Senate regarding soundness of these bills. Its favorable report was unanimous.

Now is the time for the United States Senate to raise a standard to which every state in the Union can repair—to set an example in the treatment and rehabilitation of prisoners which every state in the Union can emulate.

And the way to do that is for the Senate TO PASS THESE HOUSE BILLS WITHOUT ANY MORE DELAY and prove to the world that the warning of the awful holocaust at Ohio's capital city did not fall upon deaf ears in the federal city.

The Moron

He Has His Uses.

Interesting information from Dr. H. H. Goddard, Ohio psychologist, who says that 45 per cent of the people of the United States are morons. As scientists are usually conservative in their statements, the news is most distressful.

"This class," according to the learned doctor, "is abnormally open to crime and disease, and constitutes our gravest social problem. Nearly one-half of our population is incompetent, and it is the duty of the other half to take care of it."

Dr. Goddard, like many other savants, bases his statement on the army intelligence tests given during the war to 1,500,000 men. These tests, much discussed since, tended to show that half of us are between 8 and 12 years old MENTALLY, and that only 4½ per cent have really mature brains.

From the cold, scientific standpoint you might ask: "Why should the intelligent half of the population take care of the moron half? Why not let them die off, of crime and disease, and spend the millions that they cost us on something useful?"

A hard question to answer—scientifically. It might be more humane, and certainly more economical, to chloroform the morons at once and be done with them.

Such a remedy, however, would have its inconveniences. And the world would be a dismal place to live in if all its inhabitants were as intellectual as, let us say, Dr. Goddard.

There is much to be said for the moron. His chief value, perhaps, is that he contributes to the feeling of superiority of the normal man. He is a measuring rod by which the average person can gauge his own greatness. He unconsciously flatters the self-esteem of the more fortunate part of the population, and flattery is essential to happiness.

Prohibition seems to be chewing up temperance like a worm snipes an apple.

"Bugs" Baer

Every man who thinks with his own mind must concede that the Eighteenth Amendment is on the toboggan with its brakes gone.

When Bill Roper of Princeton states that college men drink fluidly he isn't sewing buttons on rainbows.

He knows what he is talking about. He is a college man, an athlete and a developer of athletes. There will be a lot of hinged-necked agitators who will yodel for Roper's scalp.

There are quite a few people who put on smoked glasses on nice days and deny that the sun is shining. But no ostrich ever protected its tail feathers by burying its nose in the ground.

Mr. Roper says that the flop of prohibition has inculcated disrespect for the law among the nation's youth.

We will not claim that booze is responsible for all the flouting and disregard of authority.

We know plenty of people who drink tea and knock the government.

Mr. Roper is correct when he says there always was drinking in colleges. Today it is more vicious and has settled down to steady production.

Nobody wants to see the corner saloon again. The most lasting impression we ever got in life was engraved 30 years ago.

We got a glimpse through the swinging doors of the famous silver floor Smith's.

And we will never forget the sight of a red-nosed derelict standing on a floor of silver dollars and spending his last dime.

It was red noses that paved that floor. And it's red noses that are macadamizing the paths of today. We will not give you a list of the famous men we used to meet in Harvey's, Hancock's and Shoomaker's in Washington because all of them are drys now.

Mr. Roper's testimony shouldn't frighten parents. You cannot blame the incubator for the contents of the eggs.

When a boy learns bad habits he is his own professor.

Henry Ford has the best solution to the problem. He says if you drink you cannot work for him. He has a perfect right to do so. Any employer has and they have been exercising that privilege for centuries.

Mr. Ford wants the best that is in a man. Not the best that is in a bottle.

FORMATION OF THE UNIVERSE

By Archibald Henderson

When Einstein enunciated his theory of Generalized Relativity he did not destroy Newton's law of universal gravitation. He confirmed it, by putting forward the law in a more general form. One of the great problems of astronomy is to determine how the law of universal gravitation, operating in the original cosmos of nebulous or gaseous matter of uniform distribution created the sort of cosmos we see and know today.

Only five years after Newton enunciated the law of universal gravitation, Bentley, the Master of Trinity College, inquired of Newton if this force of gravitation would not account for the aggregation of matter into stars. In a letter of date December 10, 1692, Newton made the following interesting reply:

"It seems to me that if the matter of our sun and planets and all the matter of the universe, were evenly scattered throughout all the heavens and every particle had an innate gravity toward all the rest, the whole space throughout which this matter was scattered was finite, the matter on the outside of this space would, by its gravity, tend toward all the matter on the inside, and by consequence fall down into the middle of the whole space, and there compose one great spherical mass.

"But if the matter were evenly disposed throughout an infinite space, it could never convene into one mass; but some of it would convene into one mass and some into another, so as to make an infinite number of great masses, scattered great distances from one to another throughout all that infinite space. And thus might the fixed stars be formed, supposing the matter were of a lucid nature."

Recent investigations of Sir James Jeans, carried out with mathematical rigor, throw much light upon the accuracy of Newton's shrewd "hunches."

Consider a series of molecules flying through space say with the speed of sound—370 yards a second. At a given point, with a normal number of molecules in its vicinity, there is a concentration of molecules, when the moving molecules arrive there. As each molecule exerts a gravitational pull on all its neighbors, an excess of molecules at some point indicates an excess of gravitational force at that point.

Now Jeans has shown that a condensation 2,000,000 miles in diameter will exert twice the gravitational force of a condensation 1,000,000 miles in diameter. The greater the extent in space of a condensation, the more favorable are conditions for its continued growth. Jeans showed that the condensations must have taken place originally, not in stars, as Newton supposed, but in bodies having the weight of millions of stars. These bodies must have been immense nebulae, such as M.31, which is 3,500 million times the weight of the sun.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

Get a swelled head sometimes, don't you? And then, at other times, you're so discouraged you haven't the spunk of a fish-worm—yes?

There's a cure for both conditions in the Natural History Museum in New York. They call him the Dinosaur Tyrannosaurus, and he was even worse than he sounds.

Up and up and up through the gray, dusty light of the vast hall, towers a mountain of bone—a mountain that was once an animal, the most frightful animal the world has ever seen. Eighteen feet above the ground that hideous head was reared and its small, fierce eyes beheld a strange world—very different from our world of today. A quaking new world, inhabited by giant reptiles that wallowed and clawed and flew through the steamy darkness. The skeletons of those other reptiles stand around old Tyrannosaurus, but even with that evidence we cannot realize that distant world, for it happened 30,000,000 years ago!

Try to think what it means. There before you are the leg bones that thrashed their way through primeval swamps—there are the very teeth that crunched and tore the monsters of his day—there is that 47-foot spinal column, with the ones almost as fresh as those you threw away from Sunday's roast. Yet that beast lived 30,000,000 years ago—millions and millions of years before man was even thought of.

Bit by bit we've dug up that old world from its burial place under the rock and silt of centuries. One by one the skeletons have come to light—the mark of the footprints—the record of the trees and plants — the record even of the climate. Even a child can now read the story of the world which the Dinosaurs inhabited and see that it wasn't a man's world. Men couldn't have lived with beasts like that, nor found food or breath in climate like that. The earth had to come a long way before it was ready for man's frail body.

How does that make you feel? Mighty small? Mighty new? It should. It's the greatest cure on earth for a swelled head, partner. But it's also a grand boost for an inferiority complex.

For that mighty beast and his terrible world have passed and you are here. You are here, Bill Jones, little and soft and stupid and new—yet heir to all that world which the dinosaur tyrannosaurus once commanded and smarter than all those huge, thirty-ton brutes put together. His head would hold a young house and yours will hardly hold a baseball and yet something burns in you that he never felt in all his titanic carcass.

Mind burns in you. Not very brightly—yet. But brightly enough to have made you king of sea and earth and air. When it burns brightly enough to make you king of your own self then even heaven can't stop you.

Be humble, Bill Jones, when you look at that Big Boy and think how long the show went on before you were even considered.

But be proud when you think of what you've done in the short time since you arrived!

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

THERE IS A story about a guy that wanted to quit drinking, even if it cost him his standing at the Country Club. He went to a doctor, and the doc says, "Why, I ain't sure that I know how to cure you, because I ain't ever had a complaint like this before. But I've heard that you can make grub do instead of booze. When you feel like taking a big shot of liquor, take something to eat instead. Whenever you want booze, eat. Try it, and see if it works, but don't come back and tell me. Nobody else will ever want to be cured."

So the guy tried it, and sure enough, it worked. He got so he was an awful eater, and he would ask for food at terrible times of the day and night, and embarrass everybody he was with. He might be riding along the road in his car and the couple in the back seat making whoopee, and he'd stop at a house and run in and ask the lady to please give him a sandwich.

Well, one time he happened to see a man fall out of a window and get killed. He turned to a cop and yelled, "Ain't it awful! Get me a porterhouse steak right quick!"

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

When Dusk Comes On

WHEN DUSK comes on so many hopes
Pass, too, with setting of the sun,
They fade, as light from mountain slopes
When day is done.

At twilight's hour splendid plans
May end as dies the sunset glow,
Joy's richly-freighted caravans
Down dark ways go.

We lose the courage which, with dawn,
Wells up anew through every vein;
And fortitude, when light is gone
Sometimes must wane.

But with the rising evening star
Comes once again the smile of Peace,
That pallid orb, through mists afar,
Bring blest release.

With night's sweet magic touched again
False bondage ends, false fears are gone;
And tranquil grows Earth's wide domain
When dusk comes on.

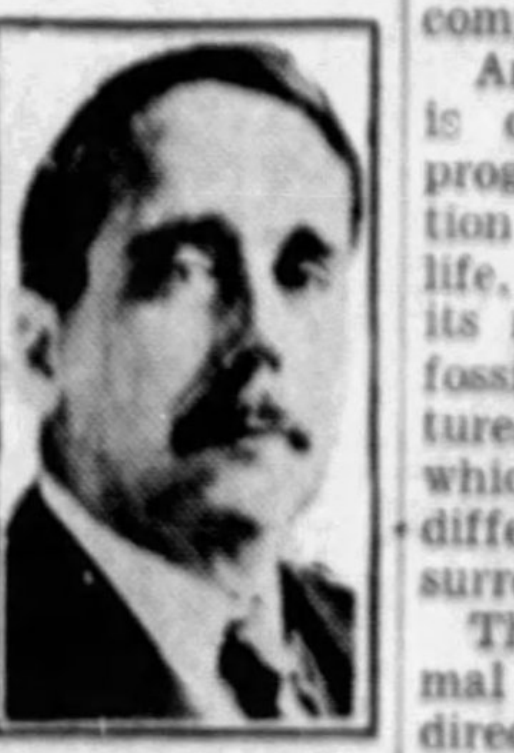
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

Discontinuous distribution, the predominance of different groups of animals in different continents; the existence of unique species on remote islands; the total absence of many creatures from countries where they are able to thrive and multiply when introduced—these and many other facts of distribution are concordant.



H. G. Wells

If the assignment of different kinds and groups of animals to different regions of the earth's surface was made by a Creator, one is forced to admit not merely that these facts are unintelligible and even meaningless, but that the assignment was often definitely unfortunate.

But if we are evolutionists, the chaos becomes order, the mob of facts becomes a marshaled army, held together in complete consistency by that dominating idea.

The perplexities and apparent paradoxes of geographical distribution attenuate and vanish in the light of two chief principles of interpretation, the principle that connects isolation with divergence of type, and the principle of looking in the past for the explanation of the present.

Both principles rest upon the concept of evolution as their basis.

Without that basis we should have to relinquish all hopes of rationalizing animal and plant distribution, just as we should have to give up all hopes of rationalizing recapitulation, or vestigial organs, and abandon the possibility of a science of comparative anatomy.

4. The Evidence Summarized.

We have now passed in brief review a small fraction of each of the main kinds of evidence for Evolution.

We have found that the rocks of earth's crust make a book where our planetary history can be read, and that they contain fossil remains which, when deciphered with the same care which an antiquary bestows upon his inscriptions, yield knowledge as definite as any which he obtains, though it refers to epochs a hundred thousand times as remote.

The fossils, dated by the rocks, reveal the actual story of life's past changes. The story does not go back to life's first beginnings, nor does it cover all kinds of living things; but for the latter half of life's existence, and for the most elaborate and interesting of life's children, it is reasonably complete.

And the story the fossils reveal is one of steady evolution, of progressive change, of multiplication and divergence of forms of life, of extinction of one type and its replacement by another. The fossils are the remains of creatures other than those of today, which once were alive, living a different kind of life in different surroundings.

They testify to the past of animal and plant life in the same direct way as do the mummies of the Pharaohs, or the baked-clay bills and receipts of prehistoric Babylon, or the slaughtered retinue of the King of Ur, to the past existence of human beings who lived very different lives from ours; they testify to the evolution of life as directly as do the discoveries of archaeology to the evolution of human culture.

Then there are indirect evidences. There are the similarities of general plan which are not to be accounted for save by the descent from a common ancestor of all the animals showing the plan.

The similarity of plan implies common descent; the differences in detail imply descent with modification.

There are the useless vestiges which yet correspond rigorously with organs that are indispensable in other animals, inexplicable if their possessor be not descended from some ancestor in which the now useless organ had its use.

There are the extraordinary phases of the individual's development in which it passes from one strange likeness to another—likenesses to other creatures, often remote and primitive, to which the adult animal no longer betrays any resemblance, whether in plan or in mode of life.

These resemblances are meaningless and indeed deceptive if they are not recapitulations of ancestral phases in which the race once continued for long periods of past time, though our modern creature hurries through them on its way to its own new life and different adult life.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 2.—Thoughts while strolling: What became of cistern cleaners? Sherry candy on sale at Child's. Talbot Mundy, the author—and an authority on East Indian mystics. The window candy puller on Sixth avenue who sings arias from "Tosco." Adelaide Hall, reputed successor of Florence Mills.

Walter P. Chrysler, an Ellis (Kan.) boy, who made good in the city. An expressman calls himself a "tructor." Jack Baragwanath, Neysa McMein's husband. The newer drug stores are restoring the red and green window bottles. Sign: "Obesity Obliterated." Earl Benham, the tailor.

Seven midgets squirm out of a taxi in front of a theater. William Anthony McGuire, the playwright. Those well-dressed people who salvage discarded newspapers out of rubbage cans. Glance about furtively—and hurry on. Long-faced men with luminous eyes who sell atheistic tracts.

Always a sale at luggage shops. An electrically lighted flag over a cafe with a German name. You can usually tell a cowpuncher by his small feet. He rarely walks save when he comes to the city. The imperiously beautiful saleswomen in high-priced candy stores. Wilton Lackeye looks like a tired blood hound.

A drunk pushing a wheelbarrow and talking to himself. Idlers who spend their time watching the unloading of ships. Whiffs of oil, rope, pepper and fish. Water front boarding houses with squawking parrots. And big-hipped women with hair coiled in top-knots lounging in doorways.

Husky stevedores in undershirts with tattoed arms and rolling gaits, Chinese cooks with flip-flapping sandals and mewing talk. Tankers freighted to the gunwales. Dingy lunch stands clouded with crinkly-blue tobacco smoke. Tugs nosing a liner into dock. And tooting away merrily.

The honking rush of taxis to the pier. Strained faces peering through steerage portholes. A captain in a cape coat on the bridge. The whirr of winches. Fluttering handkerchiefs and medley of cries. The gangplank lowers. And another ship is in.

Tailors, in calling measurements to their assistants, often cry: "B. L." It means the bird being measured has bow legs. And never mind how I found out.

Horse-drawn carriages making their last stand about the Plaza are dwindling. Only about a half dozen are left, the rest having driven on into the endless night. The venerable cabbies sit hopefully awaiting fares amid the incessant cry of "Taxi" all about them. One tells me he is rarely able to realize more than $2 a day profit, and his comrades fare as badly.

Add metropolitan mysteries: In a block on East Fifty-eighth street an elderly man with a white goatee sits at a street window before a small blackboard. He remains almost motionless, peering at the street save at intervals when he chalks up something on the board. We hope it isn't a dirty word.

Then on Avenue A there is a block where a shawled woman appears shortly before midnight. She places a candle on a fire plug, lights it, crosses herself, blows out the flame and goes away.

The Rialto has about six ultra theatrical openings a season. A new play with Mrs. Fiske, Fred Stone, Otis Skinner or a Ziegfeld musical show are among those to attract the exclusive.

"You," postcards One of the Bunch, "have been cracking smart about rat-faced gangsters being cowards. Keep it up and I'm going to drop in and clip you on the jaw."

Don't bother to call. I'll see you around. But I'll likely be out of town most of the time until Christmas.

A financial writer says Wall street often suffers because "the public will not come in"—thereby talking like a theatrical producer.

Get out and in line with the spirit of Spring.

More real joy is possible in the bright days that usher in the budding time of year than at any other time.

But if you can look at nature's rebirth as a mere matter of course in the general run of things, you have no idea of the real pleasure of Spring.

Spring is the evidence of life given out by vegetation of all kinds.

If the warmer sunshine of Spring lifts your soul to greater appreciation of this world, you will find a Spring-time spirit in your heart.

You should have a desire to be up and doing.

You should want to get out and breathe the fresh air and enjoy the changing landscape as nature develops her colors.

Tasks that Winter made irksome should take on new interest.

Attune yourself to the spirit of awakening and watch the wonders that are transpiring about you little by little each succeeding day.

Open your eyes to the glories at hand.

Do your bit to make some flower grow larger, some shrub more luxuriant, to make your own homesite smile in the sunshine of Spring.
